DEATH LIST FOR 2 DAYS ABOVE 100

TEMPERATURES HIGH

BULLETIN

CHICAGO, July 21.—(UP)—Prayers for relief from the scarching heat and withering winds of the last four days were partly answered in the middle west today, but the rest of the nation sweltered in record-breaking temperatures.

The number of deaths during the heat wave shot upward to a total of 150 today as cooling north winds lowered the mercury in the near northwest and in the northern tier of northwest states.

By UNITED PRESS

PROMISES OF relief from a blistering heat wave brought faint cheers today to a nation from which was exacted a devastating toll of death and suffering over the week end.

Heat records of a quarter century were broken yesterday as hot winds and a searing sun ran up new high temperatures from the Atlantic seaboard to the Rockies. Temperatures of 100 were recorded in several states and readings of above 90 were common.

Death from heat prostrations and by drownings were expected to exceed 100. Livestock perished by the hundreds and crops throughout the midwest were scorched by the sun and withered from the lack of rain.

Relief Promised

Forecaster C. A. Connel of the Chicago district predicted a general drop in temperatures, accompanied by rain in many sections, for today, however, he said indications were that temperatures would recede from 20 to 30 degrees.

Among the new record heat marks established yesterday was that of Columbus, O., where the mercury mounted to 112—the highest reported reading in the nation. Washington, D. C., had a new record of 105.6.

Chicago, typical of a dozen other large cities throughout the nation, suffered Sunday for the second successive day under a temperature of 100 degrees. Nearly 1,000,000 persons were driven to Lake Michigan beaches, but they found scant relief on the hot sand or in the tepid water.

Heat Returns

Temperature drops of 30 degrees within a few hours made the heat even more unbearable. The heat wave had smothered the midwest Saturday, but cool breezes sent the mercury downward shortly after midnight Saturday. The heat returned with renewed vigor yesterday and reached its greatest intensity between noon and dusk.

Samples of the death toll taken were seen in Chicago, where one person died of the heat and seven others were drowned, and Milwaukee, Wis., where two persons fell dead under a temperature of 100 degrees. Scores of prostrations were reported in both cities.

Five men, almost driven insane by the heat, were removed from a raft on a lake near Lake Forrest, Ill. They had set out for a cruise, lost their oars and had drifted unprotected from the blazing sun for several hours.

Hundreds of Kansas residents gathered in churches throughout the state to pray for rain which would save their crops.

ENGINEERS START SURVEY IN COUNTY

The board of consulting engineers making special investigation of the flood control project in Orange county arrived here this morning and immediately went out into the field with Murray Thompson, local flood control engineer.

The board, composed of Prof. B. A. Etcheverry, Thomas Means and G. A. Elliott, probably will remain here all week making investigations.

It is not definitely known when the engineers will be in position to file a report of their findings with the board of supervisors.

TWO FLIERS ESCAPE DEATH IN LAGUNA AIRPLANE CRASH

Aviators on Way From Colton to San Diego When Accident Occurs

TWO MEN NARROWLY escaped death at 10 o'clock this morning when the biplane in which they were riding, went into a nose dive and crashed in a field near the Laguna Beach grammar school. The men were Edward Dutcher, well known Los Angeles pilot, and Edgar Kaiser, of Los Angeles, his passenger.

Both men were slightly cut and bruised but were able to return to Los Angeles after being given medical treatment at the home of a friend at Laguna.

The plane started from Colton on a trip to San Diego early this morning and Dutcher expected to stop at Laguna Beach to visit friends. He circled the plane over the Barnes private airport for several minutes, and apparently decided not to try to land there. Later he attempted to bring the ship down in the field near the school house.

Witnesses to the crash claimed that the landing was being made when the plane suddenly seemed to turn upside down in the air and then fall to the ground. The plane was badly damaged.

Information also received here was to the effect that Kaiser had chartered the plane from the Grand Central Airport at Los Angeles Sunday.

The plane is a Curtis-Robin, sister ship to the St. Louis Robin, which at one time set the world's endurance flight record. It was a cabin model.

WESTOVER IN SPEECH SAYS SHULER HONEST

Says He Would Prefer Pastor for Political Boss Than Those of Past

DECLARING HE would rather have Bob Shuler for a political boss than any of those who have controlled Los Angeles in the last 20 years, Harry Westover, candidate for district attorney, spoke on law enforcement before the Community Bible class at Orange on Sunday morning.

"As far as years go I am a young man," said Westover. "I have not had as much experience as you have had. I am not as old as many of you. I have not seen as many changes take place. However, times have changed, and I have noted changes even during my short life.

"When I was a little chap I lived in Arizona. It seems to me that I can recall the discussion that took place when that state legislated women out of the saloons. In the olden days there were plenty of saloons in Arizona. I also remember the time when every community had its "red light" district. The women in the saloons, the "red light" district and the saloons all went. Who were responsible for their going? The saloon man? The gambler? The politician? No. The women and the church people. The politician, the gambler, the saloon keeper were never responsible for the curing of any social ills.

Lauds Shuler

"Last week in Los Angeles there occurred an incident which I believe is a commentary on changed conditions. You probably read in the papers the charge which was made to the effect that Bob Shuler was the political boss of Los Angeles. I don't know whether Bob Shuler is the political boss of Los Angeles or not, but I do say that if he is the political boss of Los Angeles that this is the first time in the history of our nation that a preacher was the political boss of a large city. We have had saloon men who were political bosses; we have had gangsters, racketeers and multimillionaires, but we have never before had a preacher. If I was a citizen of Los Angeles today, I would rather have Bob Shuler as political boss than any of the political bosses

DERBY FLIERS END SECOND LEG TODAY

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 21.—(UP)—The All American air derby completed the second leg of the flight shortly after 2:30 p. m. today. The first plane across the finish line was piloted by Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock, Ark.

Wreck Kills Five On Circus Train

MONCTON, N. B., July 21.—(UP)—A broken rail was believed today to have caused the deaths of five persons and injuries to 18 others when nine flat cars of the Al G. Barnes circus train were derailed near here yesterday.

Four of the dead were circus workers and the other a hobo who was thought to have "hooked" a ride from Newcastle to Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, where the show was scheduled to appear tonight.

Although the 29 car train was traveling 50 miles an hour and carried more than 700 persons, none of the performers were injured.

Calvin Coolidge Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 21. — "The rapidity with which the old South is emerging is not generally appreciated. It has attracted new blood and new capital. From a region of plantations it is becoming also a region of industry and commerce. But its economic development is not so great as its change in thought. It is less local and more national.

There are three important influences that are removing its inertia of mind and body. The public schools have been much improved both in housing and courses of instruction. Their power has become very great. The radio has done for people of mature years what the school house has done for the youth in the way of lifting them out of themselves and giving them new ideas. This is changing the tone and the influence of the local press. And the system of good roads which is already extensive and rapidly increasing whereby the automobile has enlarged the circumference of mental vision ranks very high in the progress of the new South. It has made the country accessible not only to itself but to the outside world. We behold a people of high spirit and great natural endowments under the inspiration of a new hope coming into their own."

COUPLE STARTS NEW REFUELING PLANE FLIGHT

Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine Hope to Stay Up For 30 Days

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 21.—(UP)—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, former holders of the refueling endurance record took off from Lambert St. Louis field in a Curtiss Robin monoplane at 7:11 a. m. (C.S.T.) today hopeful of staying in the air 30 days (720 hours) thus decisively beating the Hunter Brothers mark of 553 hours made in Chicago recently.

The plane the two went aloft in, "The Greater St. Louis" is similar to the St. Louis Robin in which they spent 420 consecutive hours in the air just a year ago, and was presented to them as a reward for that feat.

Such comforts as two air mattresses, an air cushion for the pilot, and a small radio were in the plane. The cabin is larger than that of the St. Louis "Robin" and "will give us more leg and elbow room," Jackson said.

The monoplane is powered by a six-cylinder Challenger motor and has dual carburetors and oil lines.

The flyers expected to fly at a cruising speed of around 65 miles an hour. The refueling plane is a ship of the same type, and P. V. Chaffee and William Brewster comprise its crew. Chaffee helped refuel last year but Brewster, a member of the Canadian flying force in the World war, takes the place of Major W. C. Wassell.

Jackson and O'Brine took only 50 gallons of gas in the 110 gallon capacity tank and a refueling contact was arranged for mid-afternoon.

A crowd of 500 cheered the flyers as they took off. Nearly 100 of the group had spent the night at the field.

O'Brine said that a month in the air was the goal, but if the motor still "sounded good then, we'll stay up a couple of weeks longer."

Just before entering the cockpit, the flyers kissed their wives good-bye, Jackson refusing to pose for the domestic incident before the camera.

Key Witness in Billings and Mooney Case Will Relate His Story

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—The California supreme court voted unanimously today to grant Warren K. Billings, convicted of complicity in the 1916 preparedness day bombing, a new hearing on his application for a pardon.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—Gov. C. C. Young declared today he was ready and anxious to see John MacDonald, recanting witness of the Tom Mooney-Warren Billings case.

MacDonald arrived here last night from Baltimore to reverse the testimony that sent two men to prison, Mooney and Billings, convicted largely on the statement of MacDonald, are now serving life terms in prison for the 1916 preparedness day bombing here that killed 10 men and wounded 40.

MacDonald, on the advice of his two attorneys, Hilary Gans and Charles Ruzicka, who arrived with him, refused to talk about his plans. The two lawyers, however, declared he was steadfast in his desire to "perjure himself" and was eagerly awaiting an interview with Governor Young.

The executive planned today to make a quick trip to Stockton but said he could see MacDonald immediately after his return, which probably will be Tuesday. It was thought that the meeting would take place tomorrow and at that time a date would be set for the official hearing of MacDonald's retraction.

It was not known whether the event, so eagerly awaited by followers of Mooney and Billings, would be held before the governor or the supreme court, which now is in receipt of a second pardon petition from Billings.

AIRPLANE CRASH KILLS SIX

LONDON, July 21.—(UP)—Six persons were reported killed today when an airplane crashed near Gravesend.

The scene of the disaster was Meopham Green, between Gravesend and Chatham on the Thames. The dead included the two pilots and four passengers of a Junkers type commercial taxi plane operating between Croydon and Letouquet, France.

Use Guns, Knives In Bloody Election

EL PASO, Tex., July 21.—(UP)—Andres Ortiz, national revolutionist, carried every precinct of Juarez for governor of the state of Chihuahua in the city's bloodiest election, Sunday, when two men were killed and 75 wounded.

Ortiz defeated Manuel Prieto, Socialist, whose supporters charged today that mounted police charged their adherents at the polls and slashed them with sabers, and fired on them. They also charged prisoners were released from the jail to join the political trickery.

Those killed in the election day violence were Juan Zaldiver, 38, who was shot to death and Encarnacion Ponce, 18, who died of stab wounds.

BASEBALL RESULTS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 21.—(UP)—Babe Ruth hit his 36th home run of the season in the third inning of today's game against the Cleveland Indians. The drive, over the right field screen, scored Lary and put the Yanks in the lead, 3 to 1. Walter Miller was pitching. The Babe is now 20 days and six home runs ahead of his record established in 1927.

MRS. JAS. M'FADDEN, PIONEER OF SANTA ANA, PASSES AWAY

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., Wednesday, at the funeral parlors of Ives and Warren company, 100 North Hill avenue, Pasadena. The services will be conducted by the Rev. G. E. Raitt, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at South Pasadena, and a cousin of Mrs. McFadden.

Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery, Santa Ana, the funeral cortege being scheduled to arrive at the cemetery at 12:15 p. m.

Mrs. McFadden was a pioneer of Santa Ana, but had been residing in Altadena for the past 14 years. She was the widow of James McFadden, political leader and big farm operator in Santa Ana and vicinity for many years prior to his death. Her husband was credited with promoting the political arrangement necessary for the creation of Orange county out of a portion of Los Angeles and he initiated many developments that are reflected in the growth of this community. He and his brothers organized the Newport Wharf and Lumber company which built the wharf at Newport Beach proper and the railroad line between Santa Ana and Newport Beach. The rail line was conspicuous in the southland by reason of the fact that it was known as the "Sunday observance railroad," the owners declining to operate trains on Sunday.

Following her marriage to Mr. McFadden in New York in 1872, Mrs. McFadden came to Santa Ana, and with Mr. McFadden located at what is now the corner of South Main street and McFadden street, living for many years in the adobe house that was razed only a few years ago to make way for progressive development of the old McFadden ranch property.

Mrs. McFadden is survived by one daughter, Miss Jennie McFadden, of the home, and numerous other relatives residing in this immediate vicinity.

LAST MAN'S CLUB HOLDS ITS FINAL REUNION WHEN LONE SURVIVOR TOASTS COMRADES

STILLWATER, Minn., July 21.—(UP)—The faint scent of garden flowers diffused from boquets at the backs of 33 crepe-draped chairs today as Charles Lockwood said goodbye to his companions of battle.

Lockwood kept a promise made 45 years ago. He sipped a toast of vinegar—once choice Burgundy—to the memory of his dead comrades.

A draped chair and a spray of flowers told of the 33 who had died.

"The camp fire smoulders—ashes fall;
"The clouds are black against the sky;
"No tap of drums, no bugle call;
"My comrades, all, goodbye."

While the lone survivor made his toast to the dead, talking picture cameras recorded for all time the termination of the only club of its kind in the world. Spectators crowded the hall just as they had that day in 1861 when Stillwater lads had marched gaily to battle after a farewell dance.

Recites Poem

Shortly after 11 a. m. Lockwood recited the poem to his comrades before a talking picture camera. His voice was steady and even as he called the rolls of 34 club members. He paused after each name except his own when he answered present.

The official banquet with the final closing of the last man's club was held at the Lowell inn this afternoon. It was on the site of Lowell inn, then the Sawyer House, that the young men had danced through to the early hours of Sunday morning, April 21, 1861.

They went to Fort Snelling in response to President Lincoln's call to save the union. There they formed Company B, First Minnesota Volunteer infantry.

The company went from battle to battle. Bull Run took its toll of lives. Gettysburg saw more die. The war ended with 89 living of the men who had marched away that Sunday morning.

Then came reunions and celebrations of victories won. On September 17, 1885, 34 veterans were still alive. That night they held a celebration. The party was breaking up. One lone bottle of the wine that Louis Hospes had presented for the reunion remained on the table.

SOMERSAULT SAVES LIFE OF ACROBAT

SAN JOSE, Calif., July 21.—(UP)—M. T. Moran, 62, who has made his living for many years on the stage by turning somersaults today owes his life to the same gyrations.

When his car was struck yesterday by the Southern Pacific Daylight Limited near here, Moran saved himself from almost certain death by somersaulting over the back of the car to safety.

FINAL VOTE TAKEN AFTER LONG DEBATE

VOTE IS 58 TO 9

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(UP)—The senate adjourned sine die at 5 p. m. today shortly after ratification of the London naval treaty.

Three nominations for the federal power commission went unconfirmed and must wait until the next session.

The nomination of William M. Jardine of Kansas to be minister to Egypt was confirmed.

The vote was 58 to 9.

Two-thirds were required for ratification.

The senate, weary and fretful with the intense tropical heat of Washington, rushed through the final stages.

Debate had dragged for days, but today the senate determined to end its agony.

First it adopted the Norris reservation stipulating that no secret understandings were to bind the United States. Then it mowed down within an hour a dozen other reservations opposed by the administration.

The roll call:

Senators voting against:

Republicans — Bingham, Connecticutt; Hale, Maine; Johnson, California; Moses, New Hampshire; Oddie, Nevada; Pine, Oklahoma; Robinson, Indiana.

Democrats — McKellar, Tennessee; Walsh, Massachusetts, 9.

MOTHER SLAYS SON, HUSBAND; THEN SUICIDES

Overcome With Heat, Illinois Woman Kills Two With Use of Ax

GENEVA, Ill., July 21.—(UP)—Heat that drove the mercury above 100 drove Mrs. Charles S. Anderson to murder her husband and 18-year-old son with an ax, set fire to their heavily mortgaged farm home and then take her own life, Sheriff L. L. Urch said today as he reconstructed the rural tragedy.

John Larson, Mrs. Anderson's brother, who was routed from his bed in an upstairs room by the fire, discovered the three bodies early today.

Anderson's body, battered with an ax, was on the bed where he and his wife slept. The body of the son, Willis, was on a flaming bed in his room. He, too, had been battered with the ax and died a few minutes after being taken from the house.

Mrs. Anderson's body lay in the living room of the modest farm home three miles west of here, a knife at the side. Apparently she had slashed her own throat and wrists after wiping out the family.

Sheriff Urch, said after a preliminary examination of the home which was damaged only slightly by the fire, that he believed the Anderson's were hard pressed for money. The 40-acre farm was heavily mortgaged and the sheriff said he had called several times recently to collect old debts. He advanced the theory that worry coupled with the excessive heat of the last few days drove Mrs. Anderson insane.

Neighbors said the Andersons seldom took part in community affairs. They bought the farm in 1920 when land was on the boom.

Typhoon Cause Of Enormous Losses

LONDON, July 21.—(UP)—Original estimates of $10,000,000 damage done by a typhoon on Kysushu island may be exceeded when more complete details of the destruction are received, an exchange telegraph dispatch from Tokio said.

Heavy damage was done in the seaport of Nagasaki, while crops, which had promised unusual returns this season, sustained enormous losses.

Roof Collapses; 20 Boys Buried

RED WING, Minn., July 21.—Twenty boys of the Red Wing reformatory were buried when the roof of an old reservoir in which they were working collapsed late today, killing at least two of them.

Nearly all of the two crews of lads were bruised or injured.

The dead boys were:

William Passe, 16, International Falls, Minn.

Irving Dalby, 16, Minneapolis.

Deputy Warden Irving Martinson, who was supervising the crews, was injured seriously. He was rushed to the Red Wing hospital.

the city has had during the past 20 years. At least I know that Bob Shuler is honest and is not political boss because of the money that can be made out of the job.

"Church people and churches are becoming interested in politics. They are becoming interested in the running of our government and about the people who hold office. It is about time. The church people and the women can dictate politics in Orange county. They can say who shall hold offices and what policies shall be carried out. The church people are being aroused to present day conditions. They are awakening to the fact that they must take part in public affairs. No longer will they be content to sit back and allow a small group of so-called politicians run county affairs. They are realizing the danger of non-participating in general affairs and will play a bigger part in our coming election than ever before.

Law Enforcement

"The biggest question before the voters of the state and county today is the question of Law Enforcement. Not the enforcement of certain laws, but the enforcement of all laws which include the prohibition law. Office holders who are sympathetic with the liquor traffic; who drink liquor; who close their eyes to liquor violations will not enforce the liquor laws as well as those who are dry in acts as well as words. The dry voters of Orange county must see to it that actual drys are elected to office.

"A majority of the people of Orange County believe in Law Enforcement. Liquor laws should be enforced as well as any other law and it should not be enforced against the Mexicans while others are allowed to violate the law at will.

"If a change is to be made from present day conditions the change will be brought about because of the work of the Church People the women and such organizations as the W. C. T. U. and the Law Enforcement League of Orange county."

STUDY AIR BARRIER

LONDON, July 21.—A party of scientists is now enroute to Greenland from England to survey the enormous ice cap that covers Greenland. It is said that this cap influences flying conditions to such an extent that it makes impossible a regular air service between Europe and America. It is hoped that this obstacle can be overcome and that a regular airline will be established as a consequence.

It would seem that I had lost faith in humanity if I felt it necessary to ask the support, at the coming election, of my friends and associates of the past ten years.

Feeling that I am well qualified to serve as Constable I have urged an earnest investigation of all candidates for public office for it is only by past performance that future possibilities are measured.

My hopes for the future is to be of Honorable service.

Yours Sincerely,

Candidate for Constable S. A. Township.

Asserted Check Artist In Jail

Wanted here on a charge of issuing several alleged forged checks, Forrest Conklin, 20, who claims his home is in Battle Creek, Mich., was returned to the county jail last night from Santa Barbara, where he was arrested on information furnished officers there by Sheriff Sam Jernigan.

The man is asserted to have passed eight checks here for small amounts. All were said to have been signed with the name of his former landlady here, Mrs. C. H. Walker, of 514 East Second street. Officers claim all of the signatures were forged.

Conklin resided here several weeks ago, at which time he was a boarder at the home of Mrs. Walker, it was reported.

The prisoner was lodged in the county jail last night by Sheriff Jernigan and Deputy Sheriff Jess Buckles, who returned him from Santa Barbara.

ENDURANCE CONTEST OPENS AT Y.M.C.A.

Among the endurance contests now being carried on all over the land, let there be included a really original one which is in progress at the Y. M. C. A.

This is a ping pong batting contest, and in the eyes of the boys, it has great advantages over tree-sitting and hobby horse riding.

The idea struck them Saturday when Joe Ortega and Brooks Wright kept a ping pong ball in motion for four minutes, registering 212 hits. That record stood only a few minutes until Brooks Wright, with Harry Terwilliger as his partner, kept it up for 457 counts in seven minutes.

Later on a new team entered the lists, and Joe Ortega and "Mutt" Duffie set a mark of 650 in 10 minutes.

This morning, the partners shifted again, and "Mutt" and Brooks Wright took the lead with 881 in 11 minutes.

"When do we get our names in the paper?" asked Brooks Wright this morning. "We ought to get in along with these other guys that sit around in trees. And who is going to feed us while we bat the ball?"

Meantime, Ed Gaebe, assistant boys' work secretary, is promising a candy bar to the first team that puts the score over a thousand.

TWO INJURED WHEN MOTORCYCLE SKIDS

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bass, of 1111 South Gage street, Los Angeles, were badly shaken up and cut and bruised at 11 o'clock this morning near Orana, when the motorcycle on which both were riding skidded and overturned on the concrete pavement.

They were taken to the Orange county hospital, where medical aid was given. Neither was able to tell much about the accident and at first were unable to state whether they had been hit by an automobile or not. Later they stated that their motor had skidded.

Mystery Accident Is Investigated By Laguna Officers

An investigation was started by sheriff's officers and Laguna Beach police today, following a report to the effect that a man, severely burned about the legs, had been given medical treatment by a Laguna Beach doctor at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mystery enveloped the case when the man is said to have stated that he was accidentally burned by gasoline. A later report to the effect that the burns looked like powder burns was in the hands of police.

The injured man received medical treatment and disappeared before his name was learned. He was accompanied to the doctor's home by a woman and two other men, it was reported.

The four persons were riding in a car with a Nebraska license plate.

The idea was agreed. Lockwood, who was not at the reunion joined the group later in his pledge of fidelity.

The years passed. Only three comrades were living in 1927. They met in the Auditorium theater here. The seal on the bottle was broken. A toast from the trio to their comrades was drunk, they found the wine had turned to vinegar. The bottle was resealed and returned to its place in the First National bank vault.

Today Lockwood alone held the last meeting of the club. The records will be closed. Records and bottle will be turned over to the Stillwater library, where already the tattered company flag rests.

ATTORNEY ASKS JEWELRY OWNED BY ADELE POST

Declaring that as administrator of the estate of Adele Ritchie Post, prominent Laguna Beach resident, who shot and killed her friend, Doris Murray Palmer, then committed suicide, he suspected W. R. Coy of having concealed in his possession certain rings belonging to the deceased, Moresby White, Laguna Beach attorney today filed in superior court a complaint for a citation from the court requiring a person to be examined as to property under provisions of the code of civil procedure.

Two rings, a diamond set ring and a sapphire ring, "possibly both and perhaps other jewelry," are alleged to be in the possession of Coy, according to the complaint. White bases his allegation on certain papers in the writing of Mrs. Post indicating that Coy had the rings in his possession and also upon information he has received from other sources. He sets forth the fact that Coy has failed to answer letters relating to the matter and asks that he be cited to be examined under oath.

HIT, RUN DRIVER SOUGHT BY POLICE

Sheriff Sam Jernigan today started a search for a big black sedan driven by a man in a dark suit of clothes, which is alleged to have failed to stop, after running down P. C. Paulson, of 1346 East Forty-sixth street, Los Angeles, near San Clemente shortly after midnight.

Paulson was taken to the Orange County hospital, where it was reported that he was severely injured about the legs and ankles.

Paulson had stopped his machine at the side of the road to repair a puncture, when he was struck by the car. The machine did not slow down after the accident, according to reports.

Cupid Victor In Another Victory

D. Cupid wins again.

A volley of blows to the heart resulted in a victory today for that chubby fighter, who has won so many decisions in the past. Principals were Richard F. Burns, 24, native of Canada, clerk, and Florence L. Green, 18, Californian, also a clerk, of Long Beach.

They were issued a marriage license today through the office of County Clerk J. M. Backs, where attendants stated that there had been a veritable barrage of telephone calls from relatives of the girl who were seeking to bar the marriage. There were no objections offered, however, that were legal.

CROWD EXPECTED AT SESSION OF LODGE

Charter member night, to be celebrated tomorrow night by Santa Ana lodge, No. 794, B.P.O.E., is being anticipated by members old and new, as one of the high lights of the year in local Elkdom. All of the charter members of the lodge now residing in the Southland have been invited to dinner as guests of the secretary, E. R. Majors, preceding the regular lodge session beginning at 8 o'clock.

While the dinner party will be confined to charter members alone, the lodge session is expected to draw an unusually large number of members, who will have the pleasure of seeing the manner in which the "old timers" conduct the business, as chairs will be filled by those who held office in the past. Some unique vaudeville has been promised for the entertainment following the session, with refreshments to complete the evening.

The whole affair has been arranged in commemoration of the founding of the local lodge.

Bids On Willard Junior High Will Be Requested Soon

Plans and specifications for the new Frances Willard junior high school plant will not be ready for advertising for another week, it was learned today. The supervising architects, Allison and Allison, of Los Angeles, had previously announced that they expected to have them ready by the 21st. The date now set, according to Elizabeth Phillips, secretary of the Santa Ana board of education, is July 29.

Bids for new work and changes at the Julia Lathrop junior high school, which includes a new cafeteria, new class room unit and remodeling the present cafeteria to provide a music room, are scheduled to be opened by the board at its meeting tomorrow night.

Suit Against Oil Firm Scheduled to Open Tomorrow

The trial of a long list of Costa Mesa property owners who are seeking quiet title to property that had been leased to the Interstate Oil company, and which was scheduled to be heard in superior court today, will be tried before Judge James L. Allen tomorrow. it was announced today by Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel.

Judge Scovel disqualified himself as trial judge for the case, as his office had handled some proceedings in connection with the matter before he was appointed to the bench. The land was leased to the oil company by the property owners for an oil development, and the plaintiffs now claim that provisions of the lease have not been fulfilled.

DRIVE AGAINST AGE LIMIT FOR JOBS LAUNCHED

CHICAGO, July 21.—(INS)—The disquieting tendency recently evident in certain industrial fields to junk the man of forty on the theory that he is ready for the scrapheap was sharply rebuked by business and professional men in a canvass of opinions here.

They denied unanimously that man should be considered fossilized at 40, or as one writer put it "that some magic power converts one on the fortieth birthday into a doddering, antiquated, irascible biped ready for the junk pile."

H. A. Wagner of Chicago, president of the American Association of Engineers, said:

The professional man and the engineer feel fit as a fiddle at 40. Physically he is healthy and strong, his training has been tested, his education broadened, his judgment improved, his vision enlarged. Such a person has a right to believe he is at the threshold of real accomplishment."

Available facts, however, vouch for a far less encouraging view. They show that among many leading industrial and business men of the country, the man of forty is not considered adaptable, amiable, even-tempered or progressive. His request for a job will be met with cold stares.

Statistics on the subject bring these facts to the forefront:

Out of 5800 persons above 35 who applied for work within eighteen months in a New York employment office only 200 were employed.

Age, not ability, determined hiring and firing in numerous cases.

Fire at 40 but do not hire is the increasing slogan of big business.

America is the only country which makes age discrimination.

Firing rate is greater than the hiring rate.

Chronological age is an inadequate measure of ability.

Wage gain in the last two years is counteracted by unemployment increase.

Mergers and machinery are reducing professional, executive, clerical and industrial workers.

Group insurance and pensions militate against the older worker.

Commenting on the above facts, Mr. Wagner said that the employer who holds that young employes are most stylish also knows they are cheaper.

"But he might add," he asserted, "that they are also inexperienced and immature, undisciplined, changeable and impatient. Young employes are frequently conceited, prejudiced, indifferent, unreasonable, tactless and wasteful."

It was argued that if persons at 40 are not amiable, adaptable and the like, then all diplomats in history should have been young men. The public, according to opinions, relies on age for the fulfillment of weightier tasks, and certainly in many of the professions, such as law, medicine, construction projects and others.

"If this vicious practice is not stopped," it was stated, "and the work span is to be shortened, why spend good billions to increase the life span? If a man cannot get or hold a job after he is forty, why should scientists seek to prolong life? The reverse would be more humane if the last half of life is to be spent in uselessness, idleness and often penury."

Meanwhile, a movement has been put afoot here to put an old-age pension law on the statute books of the state. Efforts are being made to interest the American Federation of Labor in the project.

140,000 ACRES IN LIMAS THIS YEAR

Four out of the five most important varieties of California beans show lighter than average July stocks, according to a bulletin of the California department of agriculture. The bulletin contains also the July crop reports for California beans issued by the California Co-operative Crop Reporting service, as follows:

"The estimated area planted to lima beans this year is about 140,000 acres, of which 95,000 acres are large limas and 45,000 small or baby limas. There is no change in the acreage of large limas from last year, but a 10,000 acre increase in the acreage of baby limas. The condition of all limas at the present time is 81 per cent of normal, the same as one year ago, while the 10-year average is 84.9.

"The area planted to beans other than limas is about 224,000 acres, or 10 per cent greater than the average harvested last year. It is impossible to give an estimate of the area planted to the varieties of beans other than limas, but it appears as though there is a larger acreage of blackeyes and pinks than last year with the acreage of small whites about the same. The condition of beans other than limas was 84 per cent of normal compared with the 10-year average of 84.4."

$43,300 BEING EXPENDED FOR PHONE SERVICE

The Southern California Telephone company is expending approximately $43,300 in adding new switchboard equipment to the Santa Ana office to care for the transfer of the Tustin telephones to the Santa Ana exchange on August 1, and to provide for telephone growth in the exchange for the next 18 months, according to E. S. Morrow, district manager.

The company already has completed at a cost of $25,300 a portion of the project, providing facilities for 1150 additional telephones.

Pointing out that the local switchboard had a capacity of 7050 telephones, Morrow said that the completed equipment makes it possible to care for 8200 phones.

"The Tustin exchange has 384 connections and when the transfer is made on the first of the month subscribers there will be given local service at the regular Santa Ana exchange service rates," Morrow said.

"Plans are now being completed by the telephone company for the installation of another section of switchboard in the Santa Ana office, work on which will commence during the late summer. This equipment will provide facilities for 500 telephones and will be installed at another estimated expenditure of $18,000. It is planned to have the switchboard in service about April 1, 1931.

"Another Orange county telephone project now under way is at Dana Point. Dial equipment which will provide facilities for 125 additional telephones will be installed in the central office there during the late fall. The present Dana Point office has a capacity of 115 telephones and when the new equipment is placed in service the office will be able to care for 240 telephones. The exchange now has more than 56 telephones and the additional equipment will meet the demands of telephone growth for approximately three years."

Council Expected To Order Sign On Boulevard Tonight

It is expected the city council tonight will direct installation at the north end of Santa Ana boulevard of a large sign to identify the new entrance from the north.

The members have been divided to some extent in opinion as to whether a large sign should be strung across the street or a small marker placed on one side of the highway.

Discussions at the last meeting of the city body indicated that a majority of the council would favor the larger sign, and it is anticipated that action tonight will be favorable to the latter.

An arch is not contemplated, it is understood. Investigations since last Monday have revealed that it will be possible to extend lamp standards at each side of the entrance to sufficient height to make it possible for a suspended sign to be placed at the entrance. This will not cost as much as the arch type, the cost for the latter being estimated at approximately $1500.

Search Under Way For Missing Girl

Sheriff Sam Jernigan today started a search for Jeanette Piepenbrink, of 510 South Ross street, Anaheim, who according to a report filed at the sheriff's office, disappeared from her home Saturday afternoon.

Search for the girl was started by members of the family but she was not located and officers were notified yesterday.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

The youth envisions a career for which his schooling is preparing him. The value and significance of much that he has he does his best with it since to study is obscure to him, but his education and experience in the early and middle years determine his fitness for the great tasks ahead. In this sense the school days are a part of the career he dreams of.

The days of a soul on earth are the kindergarten of his life. They are important as fitting him for his later career and as the preliminary part of it.

The great mission you are to fulfill in the larger life is not yet revealed, but you want to be ready for the glorious tasks ahead. Make the most of each day, learning from its sorrow as well as from its joy.

NIEVES—In Santa Ana, July 20, 1930, Encion Nieves, age 56 years. Funeral services were held at 9 o'clock today at the Guadalupe Catholic church, under the direction of Harrell & Brown. Interment was in Santa Ana cemetery.

CAR OPERATED BY POMONA MAN HITS BICYCLE

Jess Truesheim, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Truesheim, of Laguna avenue, near Nineteenth street, Costa Mesa, was almost instantly killed at 9:35 p. m. Sunday, when he was knocked from the bicycle he was riding by an automobile driven by W. E. Davis of Pomona.

The accident occurred on Newport boulevard near the Harbor Poultry store. The youth suffered a fractured skull and died before he could be taken to the Newport Beach hospital.

According to witnesses, the accident was unavoidable. They reported that young Truesheim was riding along the outer edge of the highway when his bicycle was seen to suddenly turn in towards the traffic and dart in front of the Davis machine. David stopped as soon as possible and rendered aid.

The body was taken to the Grooms and Riesenberg funeral parlors at Costa Mesa, where Coroner Charles D. Brown has called an inquest for 10 a. m. tomorrow. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BOARD TO HEAR LAST PROTESTS ON TAXES TODAY

The activities of the county board of equalization, which is composed of the members of the board of supervisors, comes to a close today. The board has been in session for the past two weeks, meeting daily, as required by law, to hear the protests of any citizens of the county who feel that their tax assessment valuations have not been fair and equitable.

Action is scheduled to be taken by the board before it adjourns this afternoon on the petitions that have been filed during the past two weeks by various taxpayers who feel that the assessments placed on their property should, for one reason or another, be less than the amount set through the office of Assessor James Sleeper. Some 24 petitions had been filed with the board as it undertook its last day's duties.

The number of complaints is regarded by county officials as about the same as in former years. The board does not contemplate any action with reference to Chairman Willard Smith, who stated that such a move would have to be inaugurated by the board in its supervisorial capacity.

Among those who filed petitions with the board were Mrs. F. J. Hawthorn, Costa Mesa; John C. Miles and Lewis B. Joralmon, G. B. Darnell; Consolidated Trading company, limited, owners of Lido isle; Daniel P. Jackson, E. F. Wickersheim, Santa Ana Gardens: John J. Shirley, Fullerton, and Wintersburg Methodist church.

The board also received several matters from Tax Collector J. C. Lamb, concerning properties that had been delinquent for five years and were subject to sale or deed to the state and properties on which penalties had been applied for various reasons not the fault of the taxpayer.

The board is expected to approve the tax assessment roll with but few changes.

R. C. Best Seriously Injured as Machine Hits Phone Pole

Ralph C. Best, Garden Grove man, was seriously injured at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, when the automobile he was driving ran off the road and crashed into a telephone pole near Fifth street and Buaro road.

He was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where it was said today that his condition was serious, but that he would live. Best was riding alone and details of the crash have not been learned. He has been unconscious since the crash.

Best suffered a similar accident several months ago in San Bernardino. His car ran off the road at that time and crashed into a tree.

He was in a San Bernardino hospital for several weeks.

JUST POLITICS

(Brea Progress)

If the present political campaign accomplishes nothing else, it will still have afforded some of the puerile daily newspapers of Northern Orange county an opportunity to take an occasional broadside at the Santa Ana Register. The Progress holds no brief for the Register, nor do we agree with the Register in many things, but honesty compels us to admit that as a newspaper, the Register is in a class by itself so far as Orange county is concerned and carries more prestige than all other Orange County Dailies combined. In their zeal to provide the smaller communities with a newspaper and overshadow their smaller weekly contemporaries, these dailies that do so much complaining about the Register, have neglected their opportunities at home and have registered a loss of prestige because of the outstanding superiority of the only real Orange County daily.

Some day these skeleton dailies will awaken to the fact that in their endeavor to put the weekly papers of Orange county out of business they are playing directly into the hands of the Register and permitting it to invade their local territory to the extent that there is really little use for the existence of such papers as some of the woozy, wobbly dailies than to print the three-line personals from the smaller cities out in the sticks, as it were.

LAW REVISION DECLARED NEED BY CANDIDATE

Pointing out that he is a graduate of a medical school and that he has been a resident of this vicinity for 37 years, Dr. J. G. Berneike today made his first newspaper announcement of his candidacy for nomination for the office of coroner and public administrator of Orange county at the August primaries.

Dr. Berneike came to Santa Ana in 1893 and practiced for 13 years, when he took up agriculture as a grower of apricots on a ranch at Tustin. In 1917 he moved to a 10-acre ranch located between Garden Grove and Anaheim, where he set out an orange orchard and engaged also in the commercial poultry business. His higher education was obtained at Vermont and Long Island college hospital, Brooklyn.

The candidate commented on the point that in the larger cities men with medical knowledge are chosen for coroner.

Dr. Berneike declares that if he is elected he will work for revision of laws which he believes unjust to heirs.

Pointing out that he at one time served Santa Ana for two years as health officer, and that by reason of his direction of health matters saved the city considerable money in the operation of smallpox camps, the candidate said that old timers would recall that he started and led a campaign for the lowering of high electric and gas rates in this city. He said one company owned both utilities, charging 12 cents per kilowatt hour for electricity and $2.00 per 1000 cubic feet for gas. As a result of the campaign the electric rate was cut to 8 cents, with a promise by the company that it would build a new and modern gas plant and reduce the price to $1.25 per cubic feet, with a further reduction later to $1.00. The gas plant on East First street is the outgrowth of the campaign, he asserted.

"Public office for public service, not for private graft," is the slogan of this candidate.

With six girls and five boys bunched at the top in the Santa Ana Register-Fox West Coast theaters popularity contest, the battle for votes goes into its fourth week today.

The biggest gain since the last counting of votes was made by Miss Corinne Pennington, who jumped from fourth place in the girls' list to second place, just a few votes behind the leader. Miss Pennington now has a total of 341,400, almost double the vote she had at the mid-week count.

In the boys' division, Mario Mercurio continues to lead with the largest number of votes in the contest. Norman Paul continues to run second, making a big gain since the last count, while Everett Conkright made the biggest improvement, moving into third place. Robert Naylon and Ted Newcomb also are very much in the race.

With the anouncement made Saturday that extra votes would be given for the sale of scrip books by the Fox theaters, a $10 book bringing the contestants 25,000 votes and a $5 book a total of 10,000 votes, spirited voting was expected this week and from now until the end of the contest on August 24.

Contestants can procure votes by selling tickets to the theater in the form of scrip and the scrip can be counted again when it is presented as tickets at the door of the theater.

A $10 book will sell for $9.50 and a $5 book will sell for $4.50, Norman Sprowl, Fox theaters manager said.

MYSTERY BLAZE DESTROYS LACY ST. APARTMENTS

A mysterious fire completely destroyed the four-apartment dwelling at 801 Lacy street at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The property is owned by William E. Murphy, of Artesia, according to firemen.

The fire started in the south front room on the lower floor and quickly spread to all parts of the house. When firemen arrived the blaze was completely out of control, and by the time several streams of water had been thrown on it and the fire checked, the apartment house was a mass of ruins.

There were no families living in any of the apartments and firemen therefore are anxious to know how the fire started.

The apartment house had been condemned for the past 30 days, it was reported. The health department closed the building, forcing one family to leave it and it has not been occupied since that time, according to Boyd Sleeper, fire marshal. The health department condemned the building because of sanitary conditions, Sleeper said.

The total loss will not exceed $3000, according to Sleeper.

The apartment house is the same one which caught fire five years ago and was almost destroyed. At that time police and firemen found 26 sticks of dynamite, several guns and cartridges in one of the apartments and at that time there was some mystery regarding the origin of the blaze. As in the fire of yesterday morning, the blaze started in an unoccupied apartment. The dynamite was confiscated by officers but no one ever called for it.

Asserted Threats Result In Arrest Of Riverside Man

Elbert Hennessee, 34, a soldier from March field, Riverside, was arrested by Officers Perry and Dean yesterday and is being held in the county jail on suspicion of a felony.

Officers said that the man threatened some of his relatives after an argument at their house yesterday. He was lodged in the jail at 6:45 p. m.

Police News

One man was charged with possession of liquor and another with being drunk, following their arrest at La Habra yesterday by Constable William Tremaine. C. Ramériz, of La Habra, had a small amount of liquor on his person, it was reported, and Ben Luma, also of La Habra, was drunk. Both were brought to the county jail here.

Manuel Avalos, 29, of El Modena, was arrested by George Bartley, Orange constable, yesterday. The prisoner was lodged in the county jail on a drunk charge.

An automobile, owned by J. R. Stitchman, of 415 South Lemon street, Anaheim, was reported stolen from an Anaheim street early last night.

Police were called to the home of F. R. Jordan, 1620 West Third street, last night to search for a prowler, reported seen in the neighborhood. The man was not found.

Police made a search in the vicinity of 1106 Fruit street last night for an automobile, reported to contain three Mexicans, who were asserted to have bothered two Santa Ana girls. The car was not found.

Expecting to find a battle in progress at Lincoln avenue and Washington avenues at 6:20 o'clock last night, following a riot call, police officers found the intersection deserted. They learned, however that several Mexicans were at the place earlier and that one of them had flourished a pistol.

T. Kodana, 51, of 293 Sullivan street, Santa Ana, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter near Talbert last night on a drunk charge. Carter reported that he found Kodana asleep in a field.

Three men were arrested at 7 o'clock this morning on drunk charges. William Boldt, 21, Fred Robinson, 21 and Harry Willer, 21, all of Long Beach, were those arrested. They were found in a machine at Seventeenth and Flower streets by City Motorcycle Officer Ed Lentz.

HOLD INQUEST FOR DROWNING VICTIM

An inquest will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Grooms and Riesenberg chapel for Fred W. Schultz, who was drowned early Friday morning in Newport harbor, where he was employed as a dredger.

Schultz is believed to have been the victim of an epileptic fit and an autopsy held Saturday revealed that death was caused by drowning. Schultz had lived on a fishing boat in Newport for the past several months and his body was recovered two hours from the time he was missed from his place on the dredger.

The dredger was owned by the Newport Beach Boat Builders and was operated by A. R. Sparks and R. W. McClellan.

Funeral arrangements will be made on the arrival of the dead man's brother, who resides in South Dakota.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, July 21.—England's smokiest city is said to be Newcastle-on-Tyne. More than 900 tons of dust, ash and tar settle on a square mile of this city every year. Burnley and Rochdale rank second and third, while the big city of London ranks fourth.

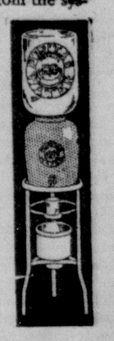
His Doctor's Verdict...at 40

"You have an 'after 40' ailment that 6 out of 10 are afflicted with. Too bad you must leave business just as success comes to you. But you must...forget work for a year."

THE peak of success in business begins at 40, with the average man. So too comes the turning point in health, the age when wear and tear of life begins to take its toll. Over half of men equipped to reach the top, fail because of breakdown in health, statistics show.

Doctors now trace the cause, in many cases, to kidney breakdown. Over half of men and women are affected. Many without knowledge, for there are no warning symptoms.

The cause they give is this: 75% of poisonous waste from the system is excreted by kidneys, much in too concentrated form. Overburdened, delicate kidney cells break down. Congestion occurs, throwing poisons back into the system...the beginning of many serious ills.



Doctors now prescribe 6 glasses daily of Puritas distilled drinking water (mineral-free) to flush kidneys in the most efficient way. Puritas dilutes and carries off concentrated waste matter, without leaving congestion-forming mineral deposits.

Puritas is scientifically distilled and aerated, water in its purest state. Though its taste seems different at first, each drink you'll increasingly enjoy.

Guard against the prevalent after 40 health breakdown. Drink Puritas each day.

Phone Santa Ana 1898 and Puritas will be delivered to your home anywhere in Southern California. A Puritas iceless cooler furnished free.

HUMAN TRAITS ARE DISCUSSED BY INSTRUCTOR

(Note Mr. E. M. Nealley, in response to a wish the editor expressed in an editorial the other day to know more about the abandonment of instincts by psychologists, with an especial reference to the so-called "pugnacious instinct," has written an illuminating and interesting article on the subject which many others will doubtless find as interesting as the editor.—The Editor.)

Santa Ana, July 18, 1930.

Editor of The Register:

In an editorial in last evening's Register you comment on the President Walter F. Dexter, of Whittier college, in an address at the annual convention of the Lions club at Denver, to the effect that "during the past ten years some of the best minds of the country have come to the conclusion that there is no fighting or pugnacious instinct in the human race."

This "new doctrine" seems to have taken you by surprise, and you say, "One would like to know more about this line of thought." Very well, will you allow me as a teacher of psychology, to say a word.

Doctrine Not New

In the first place, the doctrine is not so new as you seem to think for we find the beginnings of it about 1910. And Dr. Dexter is very correctly presenting the general trend of theory today in the field of psychological investigation. The general doctrine is far more comprehensive than merely in relation to the fighting instinct. It goes to the extent of questioning the existence of any human traits that can properly be called "instincts," that is, any rigid, preformed patterns of behavior or definite tendencies that do not have to be learned. "There just ain't no sech animal" according to an overwhelming majority of competent psychologists today, and I do not think I am guilty of exaggerating when I say that the word "instinct" is fast becoming obsolete in current psychological literature.

New Term Adopted

In a word, what used to be called "instincts" are now regarded as acquired habits built up out of original "squirmings," or in technical language "Unconditioned response or reflexes." From the moment of birth these "squirmings" become directed and modified into learned reactions. Now in order to avoid all the misleading connotations of the old psychology, a distinctly new term has been quite generally adopted, among the younger generation at least, namely, "Conditioned reflexes or responses." This term is displacing the older terms of instinct, association, habit.

The significance of the departure, which practically has the backing of most psychologists today, is indeed almost revolutionary in its influence upon our traditional conceptions of "Human Nature." It is particularly disconcerting to reactionary minds who assert that "you can't change human nature"! Human Nature is not something to be reckoned with as fatalistically fixed. It can be built into a shack or a temple, if you have a normal biological organism to start with and begin at birth. You are quite right in the concluding sentence of your editorial: "Dr. Dexter suggests in his address that the tendency to fight is merely a legal, social and spiritual custom." That is precisely the social significance of it all.

Detailed Lists

I could quote to you by the yard if you wish them, excerpts from recent psychological literature of the best authorities in the profession, backing up this point of view. Instinct psychology reached its peak with Prof. James and Prof. William McDougall in the decades from 1890 to 1910. Both of these men prepared detailed lists of "primary instincts," and the new science of Sociology which was born in that period, proceeded to build up a body of theory on the basis of this instinct psychology. Let me quote a few leading authorities to show the present drift of thinking:

Dr. Max Schoen, who is professor of psychology at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, in a book entitled "Human Nature," published this year, says:

"This brings us to the heart of the instinct problem. All that an infant is capable of at birth is to engage in a mass of random, unorganized movements or squirmings, which have no resemblance whatever to any particular instincts. If instincts appear after birth, as is claimed by many, what reason is there for calling them instincts rather than habits, since the education of the human organism begins on the very day of birth, and, for all we know, even before it's birth."

Prof. Charles A. Ellwood, acknowledged universally to be one of the leading American social psychologists, has this to say in his book "The Psychology of Human Society," published in 1925:

Popular Opinion

"he most common, crude use of the conception of instinct is to be found, however, in the popular opinion that whatever man does is the result of an original human nature, with which he is endowed by heredity; that human culture, therefore, is like the spider's web, a structure whose pattern is inherited in the nervous systems of the individuals producing it. According to this false social philosophy, if men fight or make war, if they lie, cheat or steal, if they are kindly or cooperative, it is all the result of the inherited action patterns in their nervous systems."

Let me close with a quotation from an authority nearer home, Dr. Bernard C. Ewer, head of the department of psychology at Pomona college. In a book published last year, on "Social Psychology," he says:

"There are two principal criticisms of the instinct theory. The first is that in human beings the traits in question are so loosely integrated and variable that they cannot properly be called instincts, if we use the term to indicate a specific type of behevious. Reflex responses to a stimuli are indubitably inborn, but the more complicated motor co-ordination of the sort termed instincts are obviously products of learning. * * * * Alleged instincts are merely convenient terms of classification by which we group together, for our own logical purposes, reactions of various kind. They are helpful descriptive labels, not explanatory principles of nature."

Probably the majority of psychologists today will not seriously disagree with Watson, the extreme behaviorists, when he says:

"There are then for us no instincts—we no longer need the term. Everything we have been in the habit of calling an "instinct" is a result of training—belongs to man's learned behaviour."

And so, Mr. Editor, this "new doctrine" is not so new as the general public may think. It began 20 years ago, and is backed up by 20 years of monumental research in the psychological laboratory. To be sure, the most important work has been done in the last five years.

Of course, it is too bad to knock out the main prop from under the militarist, and a certain type of conservative theology, and other cherished traditions, resting on a "Hunman Nature" fatalistically beyond the control of the human mind. Men have always looked at the bird and wished they could fly. And then they learned how. And now a great big idea has got into the mind of the scientist—If he studies the facts and forces of biology and psychology as painstakingly as he studies the art of flying like the bird, perhaps he can learn HOW TO LIVE!

Yours very truly,
E. M. NEALLEY.

LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—The Rev. W. H. White and wife of East Brawley, California, are spending three months in their new home on High drive.

Miss Bertha F. Gordan of Chicago, who is a niece of Daniel Chester French, the sculptor, visited the art gallery last week.

Mrs. H. H. Peabody and Miss Ida G. Galloway are spending the summer in the Peabody summer home.

Mrs. M. M. McMillan was hostess to a card party given at the Women's club Thursday night, about 35 guests were present.

Mrs. Abe Johnson, wife of the police chief, received a painful injury to her arm and wrist Thursday morning while using an electric wringer in her home here. She was unable to cut off the power when her arm got caught in some manner, and it required the aid of several neighbors to extricate her.

George Frederich Gleich or "Smoke tree George" as he is known in and around Palm Springs, is spending his vacation in Laguna, bringing with him a wonderful collection of desert pictures.

BOLSA

BOLSA, July 21.—Eight tables of cards were played at an evening card party given in the Bolsa club house by members of the Woman's auxiliary, with Mrs. Dora Ward, hostess. Cake and coffee were the refreshments served during the evening and prize winners were George Annin, first for men; Mr. Adams, second for men; Mrs. Henry Luther first for women, and Mrs. Adams second for women.

Mrs. Clara Sparks entertained as her guests for the day, Friday, Mrs. Luther Johnson, of Newport Beach and Mrs. Franklin of Santa Ana.

YACHTING NEWS

By Stuart H. Lucas

The second of the July series for Star boats was sailed Saturday afternoon around the little triangle off Balboa and Newport. The wind was light and from the west. The time was two hours and twenty minutes, which gave good sailing but no wet decks.

C. Temple Murphy, Jack Keith and Rice, crossed the line before the starting gun was fired, and had to return.

Hubbard Takes Lead

Hubbard took the lead about three quarters of the way to the first (weather) mark, by a great performance of pinching. The most of the fleet stood too far down the coast trying to get the benefit of the drift, and badly overstood the mark, for shortly after they had come about on the starboard tack, the wind shifted to the northward a couple of points, Hubbard in the meantime had taken a leg off shore, and pinch in along the edge of the shift, thus saving a minute and a half. Batholmae passed the first mark in sixth place, but had gained third position at the next mark, and second at the end of the first round. The Van Landingham midgets in the Betty Lou, sailing with the old rig, held second place at the end of the first beat, but as she came into the dock at the end of the race with a board sticking to her bottom, her falling back later on is natural.

The third race in the elimination series produced many individual brushes, and thrills galore. The wind was westerly and fresher than on Saturday, although not strong enough to wet the boys. There has been no race sailed in a strong enough breeze to test out the new rig in the conditions that seemed to be the ones under which the softer after leach would show a decided advantage over the old sail plan. Last season practically all of the races were sailed in weather that would put the lee rail awash, while this year soft and pleasant going has been experienced in all the starts.

The Betty Lou with the old rig, carried second position yesterday, all the way around for the first lap, showing that in light to fair weather the loftier canvas has not so much advantage. After sailing the new rig in a blow one afternoon, the writer was satisfied that the rig would recover from a knock down and get away much more quickly, as the boat does not gripe and wallow and fight her helm as was the case with the longer boom and the harder after leach.

Hubbard Wins

Hubbard got another first with almost five minutes to the good and so far in this series has a clean sweep. Of course with Plumb and Merril out of the competition this season, it is easier going for him, but the margin of his wins show that the Tempe IV is either a wonder craft or that Hubbard has something on the brothers as skipper.

Webster, closely followed by Keith and Van Landingham had the best of the start, but Hubbard found himself under Keith's lee. Being covered by Keith for several tacks, Hubbard talked himself out of his predicament, and got away on a split tack and as usual pinched his boat up into a commanding position, which he not only held to the end but improved on. Bartholmae on arriving at the first mark on his second round in eighth place, stood on out to sea and on reaching on second mark at the same time as Murphy and Keith. The run home between these three boats was a battle royal, as it was a blanket on one or the other all time. First one was in the lead, and the rear boat wouldb lanket that one, and then other would gain a few feet,, and so on and vise versa, one leading now and then the other, neither being able to get away, until the finish line was reached with Murphy leading by two seconds, Bartholmae next three seconds ahead of Keith. Webster and Beardslee had a private scrap of their own at the finish, Webster gaining the decision by one second.

Hubbard Far Ahead

Hubbard now leads by a comfortable margin with Keith second and Webster and Bartholmae tied for third place in the series.

Rev. McAuley Speaks At Union Church Service

SUPREMACY OF SPIRITUAL IS SERMON TOPIC

ORANGE, July 21.—The third of the series of Union Services was held last night at the First Christian church with the Rev. Robert Burns McAuley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, as the speaker.

The subject of the sermon was the "Supremacy of the Spiritual." The text was part of Mark 9:45 "to enter into life." "In the course of his talk the speaker said, Jesus was talking very seriously. He must have been. He said it was better for a man to be one-eyed, one-armed, crippled, and maimed and to enter into life than to be whole bodied and fail in life. 'I am come,' he said, 'that ye may have life and that ye may have abundantly.' We all listen when one is telling us how to live. Especiallly is this true if the person who is speaking is successful. What did Jesus have in mind? How can we enter into life? What does he mean? 'The gate is strait, the way is narrow and few there are who find it!"

"We shall find something of the meaning of Jesus as we look at other passages of scripture. In the first place Paul said II Cor. 5:7 'We walk by faith and not by sight. This words seems so contrary to our experience. We walk by sight. We are very much aware of the material. Yet even in the material word scientific men are telling us that the ultimate reality is not matter, the things we can see, but electrical energy, things we cannot see. Here the invisible is the important and these men are walking by faith and not by sight. The atoms with their electron are receiving a great amount of attention although no one ever saw one.

"We just hear of a professor of Columbia university who says that it will not be long before the scientist will be saying that the ultimate reality is not electrical energy but spiritual energy.

"Evidently the more we learn to live in the physical world the more we find out that we walk by faith and not by sight.

Depend on Spiritual Help

"In the second place we read in John 1:7 'If we walk in the light as he is in the light we have fellowship one with another.' We are to walk in the light and not in darkness; in the open and not under cover. We are to depend on spiritual help of friendship, good will, co-operation and not on the material security of secret counsels and alliances.

"H. G. Wells says that race prejudice is the most devilish idea destroying human well-being today. We all know the dangers of class hatred and national misunderstanding. Resort to material means does not remedy the situation in the same way the use of the spiritual does. We may apply the appeal of John and walk in the light, the light of truth, honesty and good will. We witness Lindbergh's ship to Paris and its effect on the attitude of the French people toward America. China says she will never forget the effect the way the United States handled the Boxer indemnity. These were spiritual means and we were walking in the light.

Must Walk in Light

"Personally no one can worship God unless he is walking in the light with his fellowmen. Christ said, 'If thou art offering thy gift at the altar and there rememberest that thy brother hath naught against thee, leave there thy gift at the altar and go thy way first to be reconciled to thy brother and then come! To live a happy life to enter into real life we must walk in the light.

"In the third place are are 'to walk in love,' Ephesians 5:2. Jesus used a lash but once and that was to drive the animals out of the temple of God. The traffickers that were there quailed before the flaming purity of his divine personality. Compulsion Christ never adopted to achieve his great end that men might enter into life. He always respected personality. He never coerced. He loved, he served, he helped, he suffered, he died but he never forced. He walked in love. He was unarmed against all the forces of evil yet he was not weak. He was strong with the strength of purity and power of God.

"Christ came to show us how to live in these three ways and in each case the spiritual was superior to the material.

Looked Like Failure.

"Physically speaking, of course, it looked as though he was really a failure at one time. He was very much aware of the material side of life as we are when we are having a hard time making both ends meet or when life seems to tumble in. I think of the hero of the story books of our youth. The enemies are crowding on all sides. All the avenues of action and escape are closed. The trap door is just about to close when lo! a secret door opens and to our thrilling satisfaction our hero escapes. From the standpoint of the material world so often we are at our wits end and then we open the door of the spirit. We live. Blindness may come but with the dimmness of eyesight we have the deepness of insight. We have entered into life.

"So through life the supreme place of a triumphant personality belongs to the realm of the spirit."

Music for the evening service was furnished by the Presbyterian church choir with Percy J. Green at the organ. The solo was sung by Mrs. William Blaikie and was "The Lord Is My Light," by Allitsen.

ORANGE WOMAN MARRIED WITH QUIET SERVICE

ORANGE, July 21—A quiet wedding of last night was that of Mrs. Lula B. Sparks of this city, and Dewey D. Planchon, 500 South Sullivan street, Santa Ana, the ceremony taking place in the Church of the Nazarene at Santa Ana, after the church service.

The service was read by the Rev. L. Milton Williams of Ventura, and the church was beautifully decorated in pink and white, pink and white roses predominating. Baskets of these blossoms were placed on each side of the altar.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Harby Hart of Santa Ana, sang "I Love You Truly," Mrs. N. Davis playing her accompaniment. Mrs. Davis played Lohengrin's wedding march as the young couple entered the church.

The bride was very attractive in a gown of white flat crepe and she wore a close fitting white hat wit haccessories in white. She carried a lovely arm bouquet of pink and white roses and wore a string of crystals. After the ceremony an informal reception was held in the church parlors.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph McDaniels, of Cypress street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Planchon of Santa Ana. After their return from a honeymoon which they will spend at Catalina, the newly weds will live on Mr. Planchon's ranch, east of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Grace Cleveland, 445 North Tustin street, entertained Mrs. Ida Putnam Sunday.

ORANGE PEOPLE LEARN ART OF SURFBOARDING

ORANGE, July 21.—Kellar Watson, of this city, one of the best known surf board riders in the United States, is perfecting himself in double surfboard riding at Corona del Mar this summer. Watson learned the art of bringing in a passenger on a surfboard while in the Hawaiian island the past year.

According to the young athlete Corona del Mar is as good a place for surf riding as may be found in the world. The bar a quarter of a mile from the entrance to the shore makes the waves break at this distance and come in with long swells, Watson says. The beach, he declares, is very similar to that of Waikiki, on which he rode last year, the water being shallow for nearly a a half mile out.

The ideal conditions for surfboard riding at the Orange county beach were discovered by Duke Kahanamoko who at one time held the world's championship for this sport, Watson says.

Tom Blake, now champion of the Hawaiian Islands, learned to ride at Corona del Mar. Blake now lives in the Islands and Watson renewed his acquaintance with him while visiting there.

According to the local surf rider about 20 persons from this city ride every Sunday at Corona del Mar: Many young couples are now enjoying the sport as the passenger is usually a girl.

IRVINE

IRVINE, July 21.—Barney Clinard, of Santa Ana r,eturned this week from an enjoyable trip to Warner's Hot Springs, San Diego county.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Wells and baby, Barbara, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Newton enjoyed a picnic supper at Laguna Beach Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransler Baker and children, Lyle, Barbara, Beverly and Betty Jean, left Thursday morning for Forest Home, where they will spend two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Adams and daughters, Arthena and Myrna, were among a family group who enjoyed a picnic supper at Irvine park Wednesday evening. The occasion was in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Chester Stearns, of Orange, who received some very nice gifts from those present. Others who enjoyed the evening were, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stearns and daughter, Pauline, of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Lancelot Vinson and daughter Hazel, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Stearns and two sons, Chester and Willard, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Partridge and son, Rollin, all of Santa Ana.

Among the local people who recently joined the El Rodeo Riding Club are, Gene Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Mitchell and Lecil Boosey.

Harold and Howard Spangler, Lecil and Elwood Boosey, and Jack and Billy Cook, spent Friday afternoon at Laguna Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Newton, of the Clinard place, spent Sunday at Wilmington and San Pedro. While in Wilmington they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Gahan, and were dinner guests in San Pedro at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Newton. Other guests at the home were, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crisp, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Newton, of Owensmouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, of Culver City.

Pile Sufferers

You can only get quick and permanent relief by removing the cause—congestion of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Nothing but an internal medicine can do this—that's why cutting and slaves fail. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Druggists everywhere now sell it, and Schramm-Johnson guarantees money-back if HEM-ROID does not end Piles in any form.—Adv.

Orange Residents Enjoy Steak Bake At Mountain Park

ORANGE, July 21.—A number of residents of this city and Santa Ana enjoyed a steak bake at Irvine park the latter part of the week. The delectable supper was served on the long table at the park and afterward the group enjoyed dancing in the pavilion.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Evans of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hight, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cavett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Batchelor, Mr. and Mrs. Perl Shell, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Gulledge.

The affair was one of a number of pleasant summer events to have been shared by the group.

CHILDREN PLAY IN SAFETY ON GROUNDS

FULLERTON, July 21. — Approximately 500 children a week is the average attendance at Fullerton's supervised playgrounds, operated during summer vacation season at the high school, Ford avenue and Maple avenue schools, according to Arthur Johnson, Fullerton director.

This attendance is running a close parallel with Pomona and Long Beach playgrounds. A supervisor is in charge of the groups at each school from 1 to 5 p. m. daily.

"This is the safest and healthiest places for children, under supervision and in the open air, playing outdoor games," Johnson said today.

"There is less danger of contagion from any of the prevalent maladies for children under these conditions than in neighboring gangs out behind the garage, lounging around with nothing to keep them busy and worrying mother and parents with the problems of vacation occupations," Johnson declared.

FORMER TEACHER HERE

TALBERT, July 19.—Miss Jilson former teacher in the Fountain Valley elementary school, and her mother of Glendale, were calling on friends in Talbert Thursday. Miss Jilson is to teach in the schools of Carpenteria the coming term.

REBEKAH LODGE HOLDS SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION

ORANGE, July 21.—The school of instruction for members of Ruby Rebekah lodge was a pleasant event of Saturday evening. After instruction had been given by Mrs. Charles Barker, the district deputy, a party was enjoyed.

The social portion of the program was in charge of Mrs. Barker and the vice grand of the lodge, Mrs. Meta Kuechel. Hearts were the diversion of the evening and the first prize went to Mrs. Ida Davis.

Decorations for the refreshment course were carried out in yellow and the tables were attractively arranged in the shape of a star. Tall yellow tapers lighted the tables.

ENJOY WIENIE BAKE

LA HABRA, July 21.—A wienie bake and swimming party was enjoyed by a group of friends Friday evening at Anaheim Landing. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Campbell and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Vaughn and daughters Estle and Lucille, G. Toby of Los Angeles, Miss Ether Bingle, Mrs. Ida Austin and sons Earl and Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Austin and Mr. and Mrs. U. R. Phillips and their houseguest, Miss Florence Freuhling of Iowa.

TILDEN TO PLAY AGAINST FRANCE

Stars Meet Fullerton, Anaheim This Week

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Charley Whiteside, Harvard's rowing coach, says all this talk about the stroke winning races is the bunk. . . . The only winning stroke or system in crew racing, says Charley, is the crew. . . . Victorio Campolo wants to fight Jack Sharkey in Boston in September. . . . Trees grow in some of the bunkers at Pebble Beach. . . Walter Hagen is near the bottom of the starting sheets in the National Open. The witties of the golfing legion are said to be Jock Hutchinson and Alec Campbell. George Von Elm is one of the richest of the amateur golfers. . . . Among the pros, Leo Diegel and Harry Cooper are the fastest walkers. . . . Clarence De Mar, the Boston marathoner, has covered 2323 miles in his 179 races. . . . And he aims to run that many more.

HURRAH! I WAS RIGHT!

I was all wrong about Whichone being the horse that would beat Gallant Fox, and I erred just a trifle in expressing publicly the belief that Jack Sharkey would beat Max Schmeling very quickly. But I was right about the New York Yankees and that's something.

Last spring I gained the impression at St. Petersburg that the Yanks had changed for the better, somehow, and would be a fighting ball club. They did take their baseball a bit laconically last year, if you remember. The daily workouts in the spring suggested that the boys had just begun to find out they were being beaten and were going to do something about it. The something they were going to do was fight.

They have justified that opinion. Every game they play these days is a battle. They are positively hostile.

THE GREAT MAN

The Babe is leading the attack. Up to the day when he tore off his fingernail in trying to snag a drive out of the stands, he played the game as he never played before. He already has earned his $80,000 for this year, I think, in the quality of aggressiveness he has helped to build up in the team.

The day after his injury, he went right back in there again. You can't scoff at this as an effort to do a Frank Merriwell. When the Babe is sincere he is simply great.

And he demonstrated his sincerity a day or so later when his injury kept him on the bench. For the first time since 1923 when he cast aspersions into Tommy Connolly's ears and dirt into the umpire's eyes, the Babe broke loose with a tirade at an umpire. Fiercely he objected to Brick Owens' judgment of balls and strikes. The Brick had to order him to scram from the premises to save his eardrums. A 3-day suspension was meted out as punishment.

THANKS FOR THE LIFT

It was called a punishment but in reality it was a reward. Those Yankees are fighting mad now and deadly dangerous. The Babe's suspension didn't mean a great deal as a penalty to Ruth because he would have been out anyway with that torn finger. But it did mean a great deal in that it aroused the Yankees to a fury.

Washington may win the American league pennant this year, as the Senators appear right now to be a better ball club than the Athletics. But both of those teams are going to have to fight right down the home stretch. The power in the Yankee bats has been augmented by what the college yell leaders call "fight, fight, fight!"

Washington or Philadelphia may win the American league pennant. But not without some unpleasantness, my dear people, not without a brawl.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

SALVESON CLUB TO TRAVEL FOR BOTH CONTESTS

One of the irritating things about being ahead of anything, whether the bill collector or merely an opponent in baseball, is the necessity of staying that way and for that reason the Santa Ana Stars were still troubled today, despite their full two-game lead in the National Night league.

Herb Salveson's curfew buddies cavort on foreign fields twice this week and one of their assignments sends them against the Valencias of Anaheim, a chief championship contender and the keenest rival in the Stars' firmament.

Santa Ana goes to the Anaheim playground Friday night for what will just about bring the second half title here if the Stars win.

Sometimes Dangerous

This might be considered a "touch" were it not for an annoying habit of "Bus" Callan's cohorts in playing inspired baseball every so often, and fairly breaking the hearts of near-champions.

That is just what Fullerton did against Whittier.

The Nite Hawks actually beat the first half titleholders the opening night of the second round. Last Friday, Callan's gang played their heads off against Whittier again but a home run in the eighth inning by Pitcher Lloyd Johnson nosed them out, 1 to 0.

Santa Ana knows the Anaheim scuffle will be tough. It fears the Fullerton fracas will be that way, too.

Price May Pitch

Salveson probably will use his slow ball wizard, Ray Price, against Fullerton in order to give the iron man of his staff, Joe Cornelius, a week's rest before the Anaheim brush. If Price gets the nod it will be his first start since the Long Beach game of June 13. Price opposed Fullerton once this season and had an easy time breezing through to victory as his mates pounded out a lot of runs for him in the early innings.

There will be a lot of shooting all over the Peterkin chain this week.

Poets Play Acorns

La Habra, the other contender, should have no trouble with Huntington Beach.

La Habra and Whittier, old rivals, clash Friday night. This is a toss-up but local fandom will be pulling for a Whittier victory. Other games Friday are Garden Grove at Olive; Long Beach at Fullerton; Huntington Beach at Orange.

SANTA ANA "BEES" TO PLAY THREE TIMES

Kenneth Sturzenger's Santa Ana Shell Bees will play three games this week and what happens in two of them will decide the championship status in the Orange County "B" league, now rapidly drawing to a close.

The Shells go to Olive tonight, with Gene Hitt scheduled to take the firing line. Olive gave the Santa Anans a terrific battle the last time the teams met. Orange and Westminster meet at Westminster in another "B" league tussle.

Friday they meet Newport Harbor here.

The following Friday Santa Ana meets Westminster in the Bowl.

RACING DOGS USED

"Scotty" Allen's famous team of Alaskan huskies, dogs that won the difficult Nome sweepstakes two years in succession, are being used by Paramount in "The Spoilers."

City League Tied Champs Plan Playoff

A three-game series between the two teams that tied for first place will determine the disputed championship of the first half of the Santa Ana City Night Baseball league, President Kenneth Morrison announced today.

Carlyle Dennis, skipper of the Dennis Printers, and Franklin Nickey, leader of the Orange County Builders' exchange, have agreed to play their first game as the second half of a double-header Thursday, July 31.

The second set-to will be played a week later, Thursday, August 7, also the second game.

If a third contest is necessary to decide the title it will be conducted Thursday, August 14.

The Printers and Builders completed the first half of their schedule with seven victories as against two defeats.

CHAVEZ, REESE PAIRED TO BOX HERE THURSDAY

Zenaydo Chavez and "Fighting Joe" Reese, rivol Santa Ana Mexican welterweights, signed articles to box a 10-round main event at the Orange County Athletic club Thursday night, according to announcement by Promoter-Matchmaker H. T. Foust.

District fistic followers have long wanted the youngsters paired and since both have large and loyal followings about the city their first meeting promises to do a land office business.

Chavez is in fine condition again after an extended layoff because of eye trouble. He fought a special event at the Olympic Tuesday night and the fight stole the whole show which featured Les Kennedy and Max Baer.

Reese has just returned home here from Las Vegas, Nev., where he beat Indian Johnny Smith in a main event Wednesday, one night after winning a bout at San Bernardino. Reese motored all night to keep the Las Vegas appointment.

Frankie Bolt and Urban Hernandez will appear in chief support of the Santa Ana main-eventers. They are lightweights. Hennandez is a Placentia Mexican of more than ordinary ability. In Boldt he is facing a cagy veteran, one of the front flight Southern California 135-pounders. Boldt and Hernandez will travel six rounds.

"Spike" Harvey and Mickey Thomas, welters, clash in the special event, another six-rounder. Thomas, a Seal Beach boy, was pulled off last week's card at the last minute.

Curtis Williams New Junior Champ

Williams played a uniform game throughout, having a score of 76 for each of the 18 holes, while Sangster, the medalist, cracked badly in the second 18.

BROOKLYN, CUBS BOTH LOSE; A'S INCREASE AMERICAN LEAD

NEW YORK, July 21.—The New York Giants have narrowed the gap between their third place position in the National league and the leading Brooklyn Robins and the Chicago Cubs. The Giants beat the Cubs yesterday but the Robins also lost, dropping a sloppy game to the St. Louis Cards.

The Cubs, although losing, more than kept pace with the Robins, for Chicago is now three percentage points back of Brooklyn. The Cubs were four points behind after Saturday's games.

The Giants turned in a 13-5 victory over Chicago, collecting 17 hits off Bush, Shealy, Nelson and Moss.

Brooklyn's Robins fell under a 15-6 score in their game with the Cards. St. Louis scored seven runs in the second. It was the second successive on which the Robins lost before a home crowd.

Philadelphia's Athletics improved their hold on first place in the American league, winning over Detroit, 5-3.

The other American leaders, Washington and New York, were defeated. The Cleveland Indians topped the Yanks by 9-8, while the seventh place St. Louis Browns won by a 8-6 over the Senators.

Three New York homers, two by Lou Gehrig, and one by Babe Ruth, were wasted.

The Chicago White Sox soared upwards by winning twice over Boston. The first game was easy and the score was 16-4. The second game score was 5-4.

DON'T PITY THE GUYS IN THE 'BULLPEN'

"Bullpen" life isn't as monotonous for the reserve catcher as you may think. Chances are the fans who watch the games from grandstand seats never give them a thought, except possibly to catch the name of the pitcher warming up to relieve Whoozis, who has been bombarded all over the lot. You'd be surprised what goes on there. Read Claire Burcky's story below.

BY CLAIRE BURCKY
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

"Didja ever hear the one about the farmer's daughter at the band concert? You haven't? Well, you see this gal——."

Maybe you'd like to hear the story. If you would, I suggest that you get Benny Bengough or Grover Hartley or Roger Bresnahan or Cy Perkins to tell you. Any of those fellows now doing duty in the major league "bullpens" can tell it. They know a lot more good ones, too. They've got a better line of stories than the traveling salesman who used to make Springfield and stop at the Empire the first of every month.

The everyday life of a catcher who stands 'way out there in a corner of the field and lets pitcher after pitcher throw baseballs at him for half the afternoon seems to us like the most monotonous kind of toil.

Place For Rest, Meditation

You'd be surprised if you knew what goes on out there. Yes sir, the bullpen in a major league park is a most interesting spot. As Benny Bengough remarks, "It's a fine place for rest and meditation."

Rest and meditation aren't the only things the boys find in the "bullpen." Stories, laughs, ice cream, pop, card games and, in some instances sleep, keeps their minds off the ball game more than you'd suspect. They hear little and care less for the excitement, the howling and the cheers as the baseball bugs in the stands go nutty over this home run or that shoestring catch.

Bresnahan Smokes Cigars

Roger Bresnahan, the former Giant star and now "bullpen" catcher for Detroit, sits in a rocking chair in the Tigers' bullpen. He always takes a cigar out there with him and lights it up to smoke in contentment through the first inning or two. If it looks like a nice quiet game, he takes a nap.

Only a few days ago in Yankee stadium, Roger's little nap caused quite a furor in the Tiger dugout. "Bucky" Harris swore with emphasis for several minutes.

As it happened Roger began his nap after noting that all seemed well and quiet. Shortly things began to happen. Yankee hits exploded all over the pasture. The ringing of the "bullpen" telephone continued merrily. Finally the receiver came down.

Also Takes Naps

"Say, whatinell's the matter out there, Raj? Why don't you answer the phone?" came Harris' irate voice from the other end.

"I ain't Raj, I'm Benny," answered Bengough meekly.

"Well, where'd Raj go?"

"He's taking a nap. Shall I wake him?"

Bucky Harris hasn't cooled off yet.

"Dutch Henry, the White Sox pitcher, is a hound for pinochle and takes his pinochle deck to the "bullpen" with him every time. This was at the stadium, too.

An SOS from the Sox dugout came just as Ditch had made a 350 bid, melded his hand and started to play for the points needed.

Yank Pitcher Finishes Hand

"I'll finish the hand for you, Dutch," a Yankee pitcher remarked. "Go ahead. It's just a breeze anyhow. I can't lose," called

QUALIFYING IN WESTERN GOLF TOURNEY BEGUN

CHICAGO, July 21.—The greatest field of golfing stars the event ever has drawn teed off today in the Western amateur tournament, seeking to wrest from Don Moe the championship which the Portland, Ore., youth won last year.

The field included all of America's leading "non profit" players and two of England's best, besides a horde of dark horses and near stars who brought the number of players to 200.

Although there wasn't an outstanding favorite on the course, there were half a dozen names prominently mentioned.

Among these were the two Englishmen, Cyril Tolley and T. Philip Perkins, each of whom has won the amateur championship of his own country. Perkins also was once runner up to Bobby Jones in this country.

Foremost among American names mentioned were Moe, "Chick" Evans, Keefe Carter, former Western amateur champion; and Gibson Dunlap, colegiate sensation.

Moe, by virtue of his holding the title, is not required to qualify and will not play until he and 31 others, the qualifiers, tee off Wednesday morning.

Today and tomorrow will be devoted to qualifying rounds, 18 holes being played each day. The lowest 31 and Moe then will begin the match play, which will end next Saturday.

ENCINITAS IN DECISIVE WIN OVER ANAPAUMA

Shelling the offerings of Danny Velasquez and Al Encinas hither and yon in the Orange County Fair grounds baseball orchard, Encinitas, champion of the Inter-County league, scored a decisive 13 to 1 victory over Anapauma Rancho yesterday.

The visitors knocked Velasquez out of the box in the sixth and greeted Encinas most cordially, Gabranski propelling one of his first curves over the fence.

While the Anapauma pitchers were proving ineffective, Pierson, Encinitas' ace gunner, was holding D. Eyman Huff's crowd to five hits.

After the game, which was well attended, Spanish singing, dancing and music entertained the players during the dinner hour at Hewes park, the Anapauma playground.

SHAMROCK V BEGINS LONG TRIP TO U. S.

The racing yacht was in tow of the sea magnate's steam yacht Erin.

Unfavorable winds and threats of a gale last week caused Captain Ned Heard, skipper of the Shamrock V, to half the trip until conditions were more favorable. He declared he would not attempt to make a hurried trip, preferring to cross the ocean in comfortable time.

The trim little craft will unfurl her own sails as soon as the open ocean is reached, but the Erin will remain alongside during the entire trip. She expects to arrive at Newport fully a month before the races begin.

Alexander Is Released By Dallas Club

DALLAS, Tex., July 21.—The unconditional release of Grover Cleveland Alexander, pitcher, was announced today by Vice President Bob Tarleton of the Dallas Texas league club.

Alexander wrenched his knee in the game with Wichita Falls Sunday and will be incapacitated for several weeks.

Tarleton announced that "places on the club roster are too valuable to be taken up by players who are unable to help the team."

TWIN BILL ON CITY LEAGUE'S SKED TONIGHT

Three baseball clubs which survived all whole the first week of the second half of their split schedule will see action in a Santa Ana City league double-header at the Bowl tonight.

The first half of the twin bill, beginning at 6:45, pairs the Peek market with the Auto Club of Orange County. Although they finished in the second division of the first half race, the Butchers looked impressive mowing down the Builders' exchange last week. The Clubmen lost a close opener to the Richfield Oil company Wednesday.

Both organizations are considerably improved for the second half chase. Frank ("Red") Angell will pitch for the Butchers. Ed Perry or Everett Berry will get the call for the Auto Club.

Richfield Oil and the Excelsior Creamery company, both undefeated, collide in the afterpiece which gets under way at 8:15. Fred Miller is scheduled to hurl for the Oilers, "Tex" Bergman for the Excelsiors.

Other games this week follow:

Wednesday—Courthouse vs. Pacific Telephone company, 6:45 p. m.; American Legion vs. Dennis Printers, 8:15 p. m.

Thursday—Eastern Oil vs. Orange County Builders' exchange.

WEST'S PRIZE DOGS WIN NEW VICTORIES

District Attorney Z. B. West's collection of Scotch terriers triumphed again over the dogs benched by other breeders of the species in the big dog show held at Santa Barbara Saturday and Sunday.

Blue ribbons taken by the West dogs were:

First in American bred dogs, Peterkin of Malibu; first open dog, Heather Ambassador; best dog, Heather Ambassador; first open bitches, Miracle of Malibu; best bitch, Miracle of Malibu; best terrier, Miracle of Malibu. The latter dog also placed as best Scotch terrier in the show and as second best dog in show.

The best brace of dogs was also won by West with Miracle and Champion Lady Bug of Malibu, and the best terrier team ribbon was carried off by his team of Miracle, Lady Bug, Heather Ambassador and Peterkin. The latter team also took a special prize as the best team in the show.

Keen competition in the terrier show was put up against West by Mrs. S. H. Amigo of Berkeley, who has been one of the most serious contenders for honors in many previous shows.

Berry, Carter Tie At S. A. Sweet Club

Mel Morga, with 22, was second. Other scores were Charles Jackson, 21; Theo. Reuter, 20; Allen Mandy, 18; Carl Baker, 10, and Max Fulton, 10.

VETERAN WILL TAKE PLACE ON U. S. NET TEAM

BY L. S. CAMERON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 21.—Big Bill Tilden, whose cannon-ball service made its entry into Davis cup competition in 1920, will take his place among the United States' entries this week-end in the challenge round against France.

Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the Davis cup committee announced last night at Philadelphia, that Tilden had been released from his contact with two news syndicates which called for him to write current articles of the challenge round play and that he would play on the United States team.

Thus the long arm of the veteran Davis cup player has again been made available for competition which is hoped to bring the historic cup back from France. A tennis rule forbids a player to write "spot" news stories of a competition in which he is taking part, and it was this rule which had threatened to keep the lanky Philadelphian from this year's competition.

Wear said that at no time did the committee consider waiving the player-writer rule. However, the committee did waive another rule which will permit Tilden to write of the practice periods of the United States players.

U. S. CAPTAIN DECLINES TILDEN COMMENT

PARIS, July 21.—Fitz-Eugene Dixon, non-playing captain of the United States Davis cup team, declined to comment today on reports from the United States that William Tilden would play in the challenge round between France and the United States.

"You'll have to wait until 5:30 p. m. today when the draw will be made," Dixon said.

LOTT WINS BUT ALLISON LOSES TO ITALY

ani of Italy, and Baron Humpert De Morpurgo of Italy won over Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., in singles matches of the interzone Davis cup finals here Sunday.

The matches had no bearing on the outcome of the final which had been won Saturday with two singles and one double victory.

Lott won his match by 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, in the most one-sided contest of the finals. De Morpurgo won by 7-5, 6-2, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4.

The United States will play France in the challenge round this week.

Fathers and Sons Vie In Semi-Finals

Semi-final matches will be played at the Santa Ana Country club this week in the Father-and-Sons' golf tournament in which quarter-finals were completed yesterday.

Walter Vandermast and son, Newell, who defeated Norman Hoyle and son, Winton, will play L. R. Kennedy and Donald, who beat E. K. Gerhardt and Carl. In the other bracket, B. V. and Elmer Curry will meet J. L. Ainsworth and Milo. The Currys defeated W. F. and William Kistinger while the Ainsworths eliminated T. B. and Tim Talbert.

Medal play results yesterday follows: Class A—B. Z. Kinney, 75-10-65; E. T. Mateer, 85-12-73; C. R. Furr, 87-14-73. Class B—A. G. Flagg, 90-22-68; B. J. MacMullen, 88-18-70; M. B. Wellington, 91-20-71; Dr. E. H. Rowland, 94-22-72; Milburn Harvey, 92-20-72.

Match play results of Saturday follow: Class A—M. M. Thompson and C. R. Furr, one down; Jack Meiss, F. E. Farnsworth and G. B. Shattuck, two down. Class B—J. L. Wehrly, one down; Franklin G. West, A. G. Flagg and G. A. Oliver, two down.

Costa Mesa Land Changes Owners

COSTA MESA, July 21.—Robert Martin, a former resident of New Mexico, has purchased the F. O. Ross building on Newport boulevard through S. B. Vinson of North Costa Mesa.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson of Santa Monica bought three lots on El Modino avenue and Fourteenth street through Mrs. Belle Greschner of the Russell Realty firm. This property is near the new high school under construction. The Johnson's plan to build a little later.

Mrs. Greschner rented the Henry N. Miner property on Victoria street to Mr. and Mrs. Wickner of Santa Monica for a few months, while Mr. and Mrs. Minor and daughters accompanied by Alfred Minor, wife and family of Fullerton, tour the states of California, Oregon, Washington and possibly southern Canada.

The L. L. Elliott house and chicken ranch with all its equipment on Irvine street, has been rented by Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe of Balboa. Mr. and Mrs. H. Crandall of Newport Beach rented a house on Laguna street.

NEW RADIOS ARRIVE HERE

Four New Features of Philco Radio Win Public Favor

The eagerly awaited new Philco radios havs arrived in the Southland. Four brand new features, tone control, station recording dial, automatic volume control and screen grid plus, bring radio enthusiasts an entirely new thrill in radio performance. Philco radios are distributed in Santa Ana by the Luther Radio company at 323 West Fourth street.

After carefully inspecting these latest radio models, the public will enthusiastically agree, radio values are higher than at any other time in the history of the industry—more new desirable features at new greatly lowered prices.

Tone control, acclaimed radio's newest miracle by radio engineers, enables the operator to use his own personal touch to secure the finest reception from each radio program. Now through Philco's tone control, four positions of tone quality, brilliant, bright, mellow, deep, enable the user to instantly change the tonal pitch of the program to suit his individual taste and mood. Also stations which come in harshly in poor locations, or are marred by "interference," may be thoroughly enjoyed by simply turning the tone control to mellow or deep. Thus many additional fine programs are made available.

Philco's new illuminated station recording dial is designed so that favorite stations may be permanently logged and tuned in quickly and easily.

YOU WILL SAY... "A WOMAN PLANNED THESE" AND YOU WILL BE RIGHT

Not one woman, but 30,000 women, each experienced in Electrical Cookery, helped to plan these entirely new, Entirely Automatic Electric Ranges.

Westinghouse . . . Hotpoint—two of America's greatest groups of electrical engineers—designed them, to Edison specifications, to suit California kitchens.

Southern California Edison fixed the prices . . . far lower than ever before . . . that every home in Edison territory might enjoy one of these marvelous ranges.

In six short months more than three thousand homes have taken advantage of this opportunity. What of your home? Will you go through another summer cooking as mother did? At least you will want to know what this modern method offers you. Come in. You will be graciously received. You will be delighted with what you find. There will be absolutely no obligation.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

'BROKEN BOXES' DISCUSSED BY PASTOR SUNDAY

Kindness and good deeds were emphasized in the sermon, "Broken Boxes," preached by the Rev. R. W. Harlow, pastor of the First United Brethren church, yesterday. The sermon was based on the incident in the life of Christ when He was annointed with the contents of the alabaster box, broken by Mary.

"As Jesus was making His last journey to Jerusalem," the pastor said, "He stopped at the house of Simon, the leper, in Bethany. His ministry of service and sacrifice was fast drawing to a close and the shadow of the cross darkened His path.

"As He sat at meat in the house of Simon for the last time there came one to Him with a box of very costly ointment and poured it upon His head. The room was filled with perfume. Mary's alabaster box was in a very beautiful and wonderful way a box of kindness. There are many reasons why this is so. Was not Mary showing a great kindness when she poured the ointment on the Saviour's head? Did He not look upon the deed of that loving soul as an act of kindness? Did not the Savious say 'She hath wrought a good work on Me? She hath done done this for My burial.' Selfishness in the disciples said, 'Why this waste? For this ointment might have been sold for much and given to the poor.' But Jesus answered and said, 'Ye have the poor with you always; but Me ye have not always.'

"Selfishness always questions any worthwhile thing done for the Master. Let us break our alabaster boxes of deeds of kindness everywhere we go. President McKinley was a man who used his box of kindness in this way. During one of his congressional campaigns he was followed from place to place by an unfriendly newspaper reporter. One night he took a closed cab to a nearby town where he was to speak. While passing along he heard a cough that betrayed ill health and at once guessed that the reporter was riding wit hthe driver. He ordered the carriage stopped, got out and ordered the reporter to get down. Thinking that the day of vengence had come, the unfriendly scribe alighted, but he was somewhat surprised to hear Mr. McKinley say, as he took off his overcoat, 'Here, put this on and get into the carriage.' 'But,' protested the reporter, 'I guess you don't know who I am. I have been with you in this whole campaign, giving it to you every time you spoke, and I am going over tonight to rip you to pieces if I can.' 'I know,' said Mr. McKinley, 'but you put on this coat and get inside and get warm and you can do a better job.' It is doubtful if he did as good a job that night. Kind words and deeds never die.

"We should not wait for people to die before we pour our perfume of kindness on their heads. Flowers of kindness upon the casket are nice, but deeds of kindness count for much more."

HAVE RIFLE PRACTICE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—The Long Beach rifle company of the National Guard spent Saturday and Sunday at Huntington Beach, pitching camp at the municipal baseball park Saturday night. Rifle practice was enjoyed at a point on the Santa Ana river where a high bluff served as a natural block for the target range.

Hymn Service Is Staged By Church Group On Sunday

A departure from the usual church service featured the evening worship at the First Methodist church last evening. Instead of a sermon the congregation participated in the hour with a hymn service. Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor, told the stories of the hymns and the members of the congregation sang. The service was greatly enjoyed.

Baptismal service and reception of new members into the church constituted the program during the morning worship hour, with Dr. Warmer in charge.

FIVE DIVORCE PLEAS GRANTED IN COURT HERE

A man and four women were awarded interlocutory decrees of divorce Friday afternoon in superiro court after Judge James L. Allen had heard the stories of the plaintiffs in the five cases. Defendants in each instance failed to appear.

Desertion was the basis on which George M. Brown secured his decree from Elizabeth H. Brown. They had lived together almost four years before his wife deserted him in April, 1929, he said.

Marian Hackney told the court that Cameron Hackney, whom she married in May, 1929, failed to provide for her and that she was forced to live on the charity of friends and relatives. They separated some seven months after their marriage, she said. She was given a decree.

Desertion and cruelty were charges made by Noemie Romero in securing her decree from Sylvester Romero. They had been married six years when they separated in 1929.

Blanche McDonald, who married Frank R. McDonald on April 9, 1929, and separated from him on May 22, 1929, charged her mate with cruel and inhuman treatment, and was given a divorce.

After a marriage in September, 1902, Clara L. Crow was deserted by Bertram Crow in June, 1927, she told Judge Allen in placing evidence on the record that resulted in getting a divorce.

JONES SENTENCED ON THEFT CHARGE

Finding E. L. Jones, of Anaheim, guilty on a charge of petty theft and obtaining money under false pretenses, Judge Frank Tausch, of Anaheim, sentenced Jones to six months in the county jail yesterday.

Mrs. Hattie E. T. Warner, 506 East Broadway, Anaheim, who is an invalid, testified that Jones came to her home and sold her a lot in Lynwood for C. W. Rice. She stated that she was unable to make $200 in payments and that Jones took her note. Jones later discount the note at the Interstate Finance company in Santa Ana, telling George F. Munro, manager, that he got it as a real estate commission, according to the testimony.

Deputy District Attorney Leo J. Friis represented the people and pointed out the alleged discrepancies of Jones' story. After Judge Tausch found the defendant guilty, Jones waived time for pronouncement of sentence.

HAMMER IN GERMANY

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21. — Captain Haakon Hammer and his wife Adelheid are at present in Germany, according to word received in the Spanish village. Captain Hammer, called to Denmark to settle up his father's estate, went to Germany to attend a meeting of the Olympic committee as he is trying to land teams for the South Coast communities as training sites for the Los Angeles contest in 1932.

ACTIVITIES OF OFFICE TOLD IN CLASS ADDRESS

Speaking on the work of the district attorney's office and the difficulties that are encountered, Sam L. Collins, deputy district attorney spoke yesterday morning before the Men's Community Bible class at the Fox-West Coast theater. Collins was introduced to the members of the class by Col. M. B. Wellington, prominent Santa Ana attorney, who told of Collins' service during the World war, and of his interest in boys' work and veterans' welfare work.

Collins pointed out some matters of jurisprudence and procedure that he felt should be changed, and commented on some interesting cases that had come to his attention in the office. He said that under the law a person who has been damaged by another person can get damages totaling an amount that would literally confiscate the property of the person responsible for the injury with only a nine to three jury vote, but that to secure a conviction for speeding there must be a unanimous vote of all 12 jurors. He declared that the law should be changed to provide a majority vote binding in criminal cases and referred to the time an attempt was made in an election to have this change made, but it was defeated. Collins also asserted that under rules of procedure the district attorney is not permitted to tell a jury during a trial of the prior conviction of the man under trial.

"The prosecution of cases constitutes only about one-fourth of the activities of the district attorney's office," the deputy said. "He is also corporation attorney for the $19,000,000 corporation of Orange county. It is also his duty to act as attorney for all public corporations in the county, such as school and sanitary districts. He is also counsel for all public officials of the county and sits with the board of supervisors and board of equalization to see that their acts are in accordance with the law.

"Some attorneys stress the fact of the high percentage of convictions secured by a district attorney as being of first importance. This is very important, but I believe that office should be more concerned with a high percentage of justice. There are cases under the law, where a person in California as accessory is held equally guilty with the principal in a crime and where he could probably get a conviction but where in some cases it might result in an innocent man going to prison. The office has one investigator whose duty it is to secure information to aid the office in handling cases after they are started.

"There are many interesting cases that come before the office that require a large amount of work and there are many that reveal the grief of life. There is a large number of complaints resulting from domestic trouble. There are many things that can be done in the office of the district attorney that make it desirable for a young attorney to have. It provides experience that will aid him in law practice later.

"The men in the office do not get to do much work outside, but I have been out two nights at the beach watching to see if liquor was being brought into the county, but had only disappointment for a reward."

Music yesterday was furnished by S. L. Harrell and his daughter, LaVerne Harrell Milbrat, who sang a number of gospel duets that were warmly applauded by the class members.

W. B. Martin, class president, announced that the class was not in politics and would endorse no candidate, but that he was sure no candidate for office would receive the support of the class who does not stand for the enforcement of law and particularly of the 18th amendment. There were 130 present yesterday.

HERE FOR SUMMER

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21. — Mrs. Roy Strang and daughters, Edith, Eleanor, Geraldine, Marian and Barbara Lee have taken up their residence in the Spanish Village for the summer.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Understanding is a wellspring of life unto him that hath it." These words from Proverbs constituted the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Life" Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Bible texts, referring to Christ Jesus, stated: "And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on. The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment."

A correlative pasage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, presented this statement: "When understanding changes the standpoints of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of Life, the control of Soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle."

BEACH SERVICE STATION HELD UP BY BANDIT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—The Shell service station at Seventh and Ocean streets was held up by a lone, unmasked bandit at 10 o'clock Sunday night. About $10 was obtained by the bandit, a man 24 years old, five feet, six inches tall, wearing a tan suit and white cap, with white and black shoes. The bandit had a blue automatic pistol.

The youthful thief walked into the service station while traffic on the Coast highway, which is Ocean avenue in Huntington Beach, passed at the rate of a car a second. He pointed his pistol at George T. Ballard, service station attendant. He ordered Ballard into the rest room, and forced him to surrender the keys. Then the bandit locked the door of the rest room and took charge of the service station. He helped himself to the cash and Ballard a few seconds after being locked in the rest room, heard a car start up on Seventh street near the service station and speed away.

Door Not Locked

Ballard suspicioned the bandit was gone and prepared to crash the door of the rest room. The door was not locked, however. Ballard rushed out and called the police. The police officers searched the city but with no description of the car available, they were handicapped and the youthful bandit made his escape successfully.

This is the second time the Shell service station has been robbed this year. The former occasion resulted in the arrest and conviction of the bandit and he was sent to the penitentiary.

IMPROVE CHURCH GROUNDS

GARDEN GROVE, July 21.—Extensive improvements are being made at the Baptist church premises this week. The parsonage, three Sunday school buildings and garage are being improved by new coats of paint, new curbings have been added to the property, and the streets around the church put in good condition, new cement steps have replaced the old steps of the church and other inside improvements will be completed soon.

THESIS WALK

FORT WORTH, July 18.—To collect data for her master's thesis, Kathryn Williams of this city has set out on a 3000-mile journey to various parts of the country. She is a graduate student of Texas Christian University.

ALL LABORERS SERMON TOPIC OF REV. SEWELL

The Rev. James H. Sewell, pastor of the Broadway and Walnut Street Church of Christ, took for his text yesterday morning, I Corinthians 3:9: "For we are laborers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building." He said in part:

"We are laborers together with God. Everthing that is done must have a measure of labor connected with it, and in the work of the church we are co-laborers with God. We have our part to do; God has his part to do. We are laborers with Him, only when we are working in harmony with His will. He will not be a partner in any enterprise if which He does not approve.

"Paul tells us we are God's husbandry—that is, His crop. That being so, we should submit to God's will. If you should plant a crop of corn and, when it was grown, you should try to pass through the field and, if such a thing were possible, the stalks of corn should reach out and try to bar your way, you would think Satan had got into that crop. But we God's husbandry, often resist Him, by keeping our minds so filled with the things of this life that He cannot come into our hearts and influence our lives.

"We are also called God's building. Every studding in a building should be a support to the roof. We would not have much confidence in the strength of this building if some one should convince us that the roof is supported by only four small pillars. Every member in the church should be a supporting pillar—should be doing full duty, giving financial, moral and spiritual support to every work of the church. Otherwise, that church can never be a strong church, can never be what God wants it to be."

Men Injured As Truck Overturns

Two men were seriously hurt Friday night at 12 o'clock when a Weber Bread company truck ran off the road and overturned at the intersection of Placentia avenue and Anaheim road.

Armand Overlin, 20, of 944 West Camille street, Santa Ana, suffered severe lacerations about the head and cuts about the body, while Joseph Hale, of 1702 South Grand avenue, Los Angeles, was badly cut and bruised on the back. The two injured men were taken to the Orange County hospital, where their condition was reported satisfactory.

'WATCH, PRAY' SUNDAY TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

"Watch and Pray" was the subject of the sermon of J. W. Saunders, evangelist, at the Southside Church of Christ yesterday morning. The theme of the sermon was drawn from the words of Jesus to His disciples when they were with Him in the garden at Gethsemane. The Rev. Mr. Saunders began his sermon with the admonition of the Master to His friends, "Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak."

"These words of Jesus," the Rev. Mr. Saunders said, "were spoken to His disciples when they had fallen asleep during His hour of agony in the garden.

"We notice the eternal conflict between the flesh and the spirit. This conflict was experienced by the Apostle Paul and is the experience of all men. It is the battle between all that is noble in man and all that is base. Every man has his hour of temptation and emerges either victorious or defeated. Jesus recognized this. The fact that He did is a manifestation of His sympathy for the human race.

"We notice the conditions of victory. The first is watchfulness. We are tempted to sin with the tongue, with the eyes, with the thoughts; therefore, we must self." watch what we say, watch what we see, watch what we think. Anything said, thought or seen that will have a tendency to destroy us must be shunned. The second is prayer. The greatest men of all nations have not been ashamed to pray in an hour of crisis. We would do well to imitate them. 'More things are wrought by prayer, than this world dreams of.' 'Prayer without ceasing.' This is the way to victory over our bases

Special Services Start At Gospel Assembly Sunday

A two weeks program of special services was inaugurated yesterday at the Full Gospel assembly, located at the corner of Forest and Third streets, by Evangelist E. E. Fullerton, of Wilmington. The subject of the sermon yesterday morning was "God's Foundation." The text was "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." "Everyone is constructing a life and must have the building started on a good foundation. Those building properly according to the gospel on the foundation of Christ will bring forth the fruit of it, which is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, faith and temperance."

The evening sermon was based on the text "Let us make man in our image," from Genesis 1:26.

The services will continue throughout the week, commencing at 7:30 o'clock each evening. The subject tonight is "Baptism of the Holy Spirit." There will be special music, consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers.

OBEDIENCE OF ABRAHAM TOLD BY MINISTER

The pulpit at the Church of the Nazarene was filled yesterday during the absence of Rev. U. E. Harding, who is attending a camp meeting in Oregon, by the Rev. L. Milton Williams, of Ventura. His subject at the morning service was "Walking With God," and his text was Genesis 17:1, "'I am the almighty God. Walk before me and be thou perfect."

In the development of this theme the Rev. Mr. Williams showed the faith, obedience and trust of Abraham, who he said was known as the friend of God. In everyday life, he pointed out, we have a very few real friends we may trust absolutely, and it is even so with God.

At the evening service he preached on "God's Greatest Good and Men's Greatest Need." Special music at the service last night was provided by J. Ralph Hurst, of Oklahoma City, who sang "I Know a Name," and by Matt Carey, of Long Beach, who played a trombone solo, "The Holy City."

W. H. M. S. Convention Just Concluded in Los Angeles

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, the annual Woman's Home Missionary convention of the Southern California conference, was held in the beautiful new First Methodist church of Hollywood. Representatives were present from every Methodist Home Missionary society in Southern California and Arizona. The meeting was a source of great inspiration to every member, present.

Election of officers for the coming year, placed Mrs. Margaret Locke Coates once more in the president's chair. Reports of the work, in all its branches, were given during the session among them being Spanish work, Japanese work, Yuma Indian Mission, Esther Hall, Robincroft, Deaconess, David and Margaret home, Wesleyan Service guild, junior work, Mite box, literature, and supplies.

A reception in honor of the Jubilee anniversary of the founding of the society in the Methodist Episcopal denomination, was held Wednesday evening in the church parlors. Mrs. George Pierson led in the old time songs, after which light refreshments were served.

Thursday evening, an inspiring play was given, "A Daughter of Zion," portraying the conversion of a Jewish family.

Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mrs. W. C. Baker, Mrs. Sarah Hutchins, and Miss Marjorie Lusk were Santa Anans present for the entire session, while Miss Irma De Barr, Mrs. George Warmer, Mrs. J. C. Gardiner, and A. H. Theal were there Friday.

Post-Nuptial Shower Was Compliment to Mrs. Catherina

Coming as the delightful sequel to an evening of bridge, was the shower of miscellaneous gifts with which Mrs. Joseph Catherina (Myrtle Meyer) was complimented last Friday evening, at a pleasant party given in Rose Arbor inn on North Main street.

The affair had been planned by Mrs. Catherina's associates on the feminine staff of the Orange County Title company, all of whom joined with enthusiasm in presenting this pleasant courtesy in honor of her early July marriage.

A color harmony of yellow and orchid had been adopted and was unusually effective at the late supper hour following the bridge session. Especially attractive were the unique favors of wee French bouquets each centered with a diminutive bride.

In the bridge prize bestowal, Mrs. Lorene Hansen took first honors, with consolation awarded Mrs. Adelaide Cochran. At this time the guests took the opportunity to present their carefully selected gifts to Mrs. Catherina, who had the pleasure of unwrapping a bewildering array of orchid and yellow tied packages.

Sharing the enjoyable evening with the honor guest, were Mrs. Irene Tibbs, Mrs. Jennivieve B. Eckley, Mrs. Alice Board, Mrs. Dorothy Fink, Mrs. Calla Nevius, Mrs. Phyllis Welsh, Mrs. Elvera Todd, Mrs. Lucille Frazer, Mrs. Lorene Hansen, Mrs. Blanche Holloway, Mrs. Gladys Wahl, Mrs. Gertrude Green, Mrs. Milly Galbreth, Mrs. Phoebe Simpson, Mrs. Adelaide Cochran, Mrs. Minnie Harris, Mrs. Hannah Douglas, Miss Dorothy Beckman, Miss Marie Rudolph, Miss Sophie Ehlen, Miss Louise Bryant, Miss Vena Belle Bryant, Miss Mabel Witmer, Miss Hattie Whidden, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, Miss Amanda Thee, Miss Rue Suman, Miss Grace Puterbaugh and Miss Margaret Young.

Rainbow Luncheon Has Shower of Lingerie As Its Sequel

Among the summer bevy of brides, one of particular interest to Santa Ana friends of Dr. and Mrs. John Oliver, formerly of this city where Dr. Oliver was pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, is their charming young daughter, Miss Mary Oliver, whose engagement to Frank Nickel of Pasadena, was announced in June at a pretty luncheon given by Mrs. Oliver at the Breakers hotel, Long Beach.

Complimenting Miss Oliver, was one of last week's most attractively appointed parties, a rainbow luncheon and shower presented Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Carl Wiesseman in her home on West Seventeenth street. Mrs. Wiesseman, who is to serve as matron of honor at the wedding of Miss Oliver and Mr. Nickel on August 5, assembled 16 of the prospective bride's closest friends for the luncheon. Many of the guests were sorority sisters of hostess and honoree at University of Southern California.

Each table expressed some one of the chosen tints of orchid, rose, yellow and blue, in tarleton cover and rainbow hued flowers arranged in quaint Italian pottery bowls. The luncheon service of rose tinted glass completed an unusually lovely effect.

Bridge followed, with Mrs. Ralph De Lancy Matthews of Pasadena, scoring high, and Miss Arline Ellis of Whittier, second high. Each was attractively rewarded for her skill. The enjoyable afternoon reached its climax when tiny Jeanne Wiesseman, daughter of the home, appeared as a cunning Cupid drawing a small wagon laden with gaily wrapped and tied packages. She stopped before Miss Oliver who speedily discovered that each package held a dainty piece of lingerie for her trousseau.

Church Class Picnics At Irvine Park

The Young Married People's class of Spurgeon Memorial church had a most enjoyable time Thursday evening, when they met in Irvine park for a sumptuous pot-luck dinner, followed by interesting games and contests.

Those present were Messrs and Mesdames C. Clark, J. D. Mathews, A. L. Honer, Norman Herzeg, L. Elliott, Carl Du Rall, Thomas Oglesby, T. Kennedy, M. W. Travis, Jasper Farney, R. A. Schostag, H. Patterson, Elmer Everett, O. A. Sanders, and Miss Mirth Barnett.

GARDEN CEREMONY UNITES TWO POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE

One of the most charming settings that could be devised, was that given the marriage on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, of Miss Virginia Lowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jo. Lowell, and DeRoy Dickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dickson. For a garden ceremony was chosen, and the colorful flowers a-bloom in the spacious gardens of the home at 924 Lowell street, the romantic quality of the twilight hour, and the charming girls in their flower-tinted costumes, who assisted in countless ways, all added to the rarely beautiful effect.

Preceding the ceremony was a brief program of bridal airs played by Miss Georgia Belle Walton, violinist, with Miss Veda Mitchell at the piano. Miss Walton was gowned in apple-green taffeta and Miss Mitchell in ivory satin. Such numbers as "I Love You Truly," (Bond) and "Songs My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak) were played preliminary to the rhythms of Lohengrin's Wedding March.

Bridal Group Enters

At the appointed hour, the wedding party entered the candle-lighted garden from the court, passing down an aisle formed by a length of velvet carpet and outlined with tall standards of flowers in the chosen hues of pink, yellow, orchid and pink, to the big outdoor fireplace, which, banked with greenery and blossoms, had as its scenic background, the beds of orchid asters and bright-hued zinnias, growing in rich profusion.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Martha Adams, of Anaheim and Miss Lorene Porter of Los Angeles, entered first, gowned in frocks of airy net over satin foundations, quaintly charming with their extremely long, full skirts. Garden party hats of horsehair braid matched the gowns in color, and each attendant carried a flat sheaf of soft hued gladioluses tied with tulle to match her frock. Miss Adams was in orchid and Miss Porter in peach net.

Lovely Young Bride

Mr. Dickson was accompanied by his brother, James Dickson as best man, and as his bride joined him at the altar, they spoke their wedding vows before the Rev. F. T. Porter, former pastor of the First Christian church here, but now of Los Angeles.

At the reception which followed, Mrs. Lowell, wearing beige lace over orchid, with the latter color repeated in her smart hat, was assisted by a little group of close friends, Mrs. James Dickson, very charming in pale blue georgette; Mrs. Louise Ellsworth of Hollywood, wearing blue taffeta; and Mrs. Evan Nash of Hanford, in white and green silk. Mrs. Nash is the mother of Donald Nash, so soon to wed Miss Lorene Porter. Mrs. George Dickson, mother of the bridegroom wore orchid chiffon.

For the reception, the lights were turned on and the garden illuminated by countless bright Japanese lanterns, adding to the color and charm of the scene. All decorative details of the affair had been planned by Mrs. James Dickson, young sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Serving of the dainty refreshment course was accomplished by a group of charmingly gowned young girls, the Misses Elma McBride, Barbara Rurup, Louise Rurup and Marcile Dickson of this city, Mrs. Baxter Lowe of Hanford and Miss Caryl Ellsworth of Hollywood.

Bride's Bouquet

Before departing on the honeymoon trip to Lake Arrowhead, the new Mrs. Dickson tossed her bridal bouquet from an upper window into the patio, where fate ordained that Miss Lorene Porter should catch it. As her wedding to Mr. Nash is to be an early August event, this was considered most appropriate. The gardenias from the lovely cluster were retained as a corsage for the pretty yellow silk ensemble suit in which Mrs. Dickson traveled, and which was completed with hat and purse to match, with gloves and shoes in blonde kid.

Both young people are graduates of Santa Ana high school, each later attending Oregon State college where Mrs. Dickson, an alumna, was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Upon returning from Arrowhead they will make their home in this city where Mr. Dickson is with the Southern California Edison company.

The Walter Vieiras Return From An Eastern Trip

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Vieira, 324 East Bishop street, are glad to welcome them back from a six weeks' tour of the eastern states. Mr. and Mrs. Vieira returned to their home this week, reporting an enjoyable trip in every particular. Their chief destination was Jacksonville, Ill., their former home town, where they spent a large part of their time, visiting relatives and friends. A feature of the visit there, was the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Day, parents of Mrs. Vieira, at which time the Santa Anans had opportunity to see many more friends and relatives.

Although they made Jacksonville their destination, the couple motored on to Indianapolis, Ind., where they visited Mrs. P. R. Vass, a sister of Mrs. Vieira. Preceding their trip there, they had stopped at such points of interest as the Grand Canyon, Colorado Springs, and Pikes Peak.

The return trip was made by way of the Black Hills, where they stopped for a short time. The Big Horn mountains were also visited, while three days were spent enjoying those beauties that only Yellowstone park offers. They reported extremely cold nights in the Yellowstone, in contrast to their next stopping place, Salt Lake City, where they visited the Morman temple and other places of interest. The rest of the trip was made by the Southern route, where the warmest of weather was encountered.

Quiet Home Ceremony Unites Miss Eddy And Ray Peters

Choosing the home of an intimate friend, Mrs. George Crawford, at 1130 West Pine street, as the setting for her wedding, Miss Maxine Eddy, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ingraham of this city, was married Saturday morning at a quiet ceremony to Ray Peters of Fallbrook. The Rev. R. W. Harlow was the officiating minister.

In harmony with the charming simplicity of the service, were the floral decorations of pink roses from the home gardens, arranged throughout the rooms. The bride, who is a charming brunette, wore a graceful gown of blue chiffon, fashioned on long lines. There were no attendants, and only a few guests were present. They were Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham, Mrs. W. L. Getty, Miss Vera Getty, Mrs. Crawford, and her two daughters, the Misses Lorraine and Iris Crawford.

Immediately following the morning ceremony, the happy couple left for Fallbrook, where Mr. Peters has a new home all in readiness for his bride. It is located at a charming spot in the country, where the bridegroom will continue in his ranching duties. For the past year Mrs. Peters has lived near the little town, but previous to that was a resident of this city, having made her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ingraham, 1128 West Pine street, for about ten years.

During this time, Mrs. Peters has made many friends here, two of whom, Mrs. Ross McNeill and Mrs. Curtis Vaught, were hostesses at a delightful pre-nuptial courtesy for her Friday afternoon, when they entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham with a miscelloneous shower. The bride received many lovely gifts, and dish towels hemmed and embroidered by the guests during the afternoon. Delicious refreshments completed the pleasant occasion.

Those present other than the honoree, were Mrs. Harry Getty, of Seattle, Mrs. W. L. Getty, Mrs. Oscar Ingraham, Mrs. George Crawford and daughters, Lorraine and Iris, Miss Alice Brown, Miss Vera Getty, and the hostesses, Mrs. Curtis Vaught and Mrs. Ross McNeill.

Santa Anans Enjoy Tour of East

Having completed an extensive tour of 26 of the United States, and three different provinces, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Calhoun have returned to their home at 3105 West Fifth street, and are greeting their many friends who are eager to hear of their interesting experiences.

One of their most enjoyable visits was made in Boston, their former home, where they renewed many acquaintances. From there they went through the state of Maine, and on into Canada where Mr. Calhoun especially enjoyed the trout fishing in the mountains. That the scenery along the St. Johns river was the most beautiful of any encountered during their entire trip, was the firm belief of travelers. Tours along the St. Lawrence river and the Great Lakes also proved delightful.

Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun covered 9,000 miles while they were touring the country.

Wee Kirk o' Heather Provides Setting For Nuptials

A warm interest has been expressed by friends of Miss Myrtle Stein, former member of Polytechnic high school staff but now of Pasadena, in the marriage ceremony which on Saturday night, July 19, united her in marriage to Nelson Franklin Henke of Texas.

Several from this city motored over for the ceremony, held at 7:30 o'clock in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale, among them being Miss Ruth Rowland, closely associated with Miss Stein during her time in this city, and to whom was entrusted all details of the charming ceremony and the reception which followed.

Dr. James Leichmann, assistant pastor of Pasadena First Presbyterian church, and acting pastor during the absence of Dr. Robert Freeman, read the rites in the lovely setting afforded by this picturesque little chapel.

Mrs. William Ewing, sister of the bride, served as honor matron, and was gowned in delicate orchid chiffon with which her arm cluster of pale pink roses and orchid sweet peas harmonized beautifully. Her small daughter, little Miss Susan Ewing, made an adorable flower girl in bouffant pink organdy with flaring tulle bows in pale blue to continue the pastel color motif of the nuptials.

Mr. Henke was assisted by Harold Edwards as best man, while ushers were William Ewing and Victor McCullough. A program of organ music was a feature of the ceremony.

The bride's home on Herkimer street, Pasadena, was decked with flowers for the reception which followed, the prevailing color effect being maintained with quantities of asters, larkspur and dahlias. In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Henke were the latter's mother, Mrs. Stein; brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Ewing of Blue Island, Ill., who had come to California especially for the wedding, and Miss Ruth Rowland of this city. Miss Rowland wore a graceful frock of organdy in a delicate tone of blue.

After friends had been greeted and the dainty refreshment menu served, the new Mr. and Mrs. Henke left by automobile for Mr. Henke's home in the Rio Grande valley, Texas, where he is a citrus grower, and where they will reside. The bride chose for traveling, a smart print three-piece suit, whose prevailing burnt orange tones were complemented by black accessories.

Mrs. Henke taught for four years in this city, and made a host of friends in school and social circles, whose good wishes will follow her into her new life. For the past year or two she has been a member of the staff of Muir Technical high school, Pasadena, and she and her mother have lived in that city.

The BLUE GINGHAM Cook in the BLUE GINGHAM Kitchen would have been proud of the LOAF in the BLUE GINGHAM Dress

JUST as she had reason to be mighty proud of the many, many good things her cooking art created. Blue gingham days are days of the past, but what, even today, could be a truer symbol of the freshness, the purity and genuine goodness of any good bread than dainty blue gingham! That's why we have put the becoming new gown of Gingham Blue on WEBER'S BREAD, believing that at last we have found a dress for the uniformly good loaf that will carry an unmistakable message of quality wherever and whenever it is seen.

WHOLE WHEAT IN GINGHAM BROWN

Weber's Whole Wheat has a new dress also. You find it on grocers' counters in the attractive gingham brown wrapper. Remember, Weber's White in gingham blue; Weber's Whole Wheat in gingham brown.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

The Greatest Industry

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, whose recent death lost to the cause of sanity in food laws this country's most noted advocate, said that "Eating is the greatest of all industries." But, in his opinion, to eat sanely and wisely was a horse of a different color and one the average person disliked to ride.

In a talk on "Longer Life" he made the statement that cereals must be eaten without the bran removed, potatoes without the skin removed, fruit without the peeling removed. This, so that all of the vital mineral elements and vitamins might be utilized.

On the other hand, some of the modern stomach specialists say it is injurious to stuff the digestive tract with roughage fit only for cows, and that much of their practice is derived from the victims of the "whole grain, fruit, vegetable" diet fad.

It is not for me to say which is right. I can only point out Dr. Wiley's advanced age—85 as proof of his opinions on the subject. I do know, however, that properly masticated food, raw or cooked, can be handled by any but the stomach weakened by disease.

Fletcherism is the extreme on one end, eating as the average persons knows it—gulping—is the other extreme. Strike a happy medium, follow Dr. Wiley's advice and live "on borrowed time," as Dr. Wiley did.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Sponge Layer Cake With Sour Cream Almond Filling

4 egg yolks creamed with
1 cup sugar
5½ tablespoons hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sifted pastry flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 egg whites beaten stiff

Break the egg yolks into a depression in the cup of sugar and whip to a smooth cream. Add the hot water, salt and vanilla, sift the flour with the baking powder and beat into the mixture. Last of all fold in the stiffly beaten whites and bake in 2 large layercake tins or 2 smaller tins.

Oven must not be hotter than 350 degrees F. to start, as soon as the cake begins to rise, reduce to 300 degrees and protect the cake with paper. This cake is best when eaten hot as it comes from the oven, so, while it is baking make the filling this way:

Run two-thirds of a pound of shelled, blanched almonds through the food grinder and put them with htree-fourths of a cup of the thickest sour cream you can get—soured whipping cream. Mix with as much powdered sugar as the mass will take up and yet be rather thin, add the juice of a lemon, and spread between and on top of the cake just before you serve it. It soaks up quickly, so do not use the filling until ready for dessert.

While we think of sponge cake we think of something so light that it could not possibly have food values and calories associated with it, but such is not the case here. The cake and its filling have the astounding calory total of 5165, mostly energy foods. The cake will serve ten.

Patriotic Group Has Enjoyable Party In Cowan Home

Daughters of Union Veterans shared a happy occasion yesterday afternoon when they were entertained in the hospitable home of their president, Miss Minnie Cowan, 214 South Sycamore street, by a hostess group including Miss Cowan, her sister, Miss Adda Cowan, Mrs. Fannie Nau, Mrs. Pearl Nelson and Mrs. Harriet Mitchell.

While much of the afternoon was devoted to needlework as members stitched on a quilt which is being pieced ready for quilting there was one unusually enjoyable interval given over to a guessing contest centered in the names of flowers. Mrs. Nellie Parker, guessing the greatest number of blossoms, was suitably rewarded with a fragrant cluster of richhued summer blooms.

As a finale to the hospitality, the hostess group served iced lemonade with home-made cake and ice cream.

Probably no one enjoyed the occasion more than did Mrs. Mary Anderson, aunt of the Misses Cowan, who shared the pleasure with Mesdames Jessie Breckenridge, Mary Finch, Maude Hendrie, Esther Gardner, Gladys Ward, Jessie Hoagland, Edith Moore, Edith Scott, Cora Hoffman, Margaret Church, Florence Perry, Carrie Smith, Bessie Haas, Cora Graham, Nellie Parker, Emma Chapman, and the latter's two young house-guests, the Misses Geraldine Webber of St. Paul, Minn. and Elaine Colwell of Lynwood.

Well Known Couple to Wed Here Tuesday

Of interest to a number of Santa Anans, is the announcement of the wedding of Mary B. Rogers, of 1330 West Second street, to E. C. Brewer of 105 North Bristol street, which will be a quiet event of Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Officiating at the marriage will be their friend, Justice K. E. Morrison, and the couple have requested an exceedingly simple ceremony.

Mrs. Rogers has lived here for the past few years, and in that time has made many friends. Mr. Brewer has made his residence here for a number of years, and is noted as one of Santa Anas most trustworthy of merchants, established in business at 105 North Bristol street. As duty keeps him confined to his store at present, and probably will for some time, the honeymoon has been deferred, and in the meantime Mrs. Rogers will reside with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wall, at 1330 West Second street, while her husband to-be will continue in the management of his store. The couple are planning to establish their home here in August, when they will move into a charmingly furnished apartment.

Christopher Latham Sholes is known as the inventor of the typewriter. His first "writing machine" was the end of a telegraph key with the letter "w" cut in brass.

POWELL SEEN AS CRIMINAL LAWYER

The new picture is "For The Defense" and shows Powell as a great New York criminal lawyer. His ability to free criminals regardless of their crimes and the amount of evidence against them is almost uncanny. He does it through resourceful application of legal technicalities.

But one day he is called on to defend the girl he loves for manslaughter. He knows she is not guilty, but the evidence is against her and there seems no way for him to save her. He tries the tricks that he has used before and fails. Then he turns criminal himself in order to win.

A smashing climax that will excite every person in the audience, drama and action that will be remembered here for a long time, and behind it all, a love that sacrifices all and a girl who does not forget, makes the picture one of the most interesting in which Powell has ever played.

Gay Francis has the chief feminine lead in the picture, while the court room scenes will live long in the memory of all who see the production.

B. F. Turner, county auditor of Lake county, of Lakeport, was a visitor in the office of County Auditor W. C. Jerome Saturday. ner is in Santa Ana for a few days with his family on his vacation.

The first commercial telephone switchboard was at New Haven, Conn., 52 years ago. Its capacity was eight subscribers' lines.

COMEDY SHOWN AT WALKER'S THEATER

A hard-hitting, refreshing, uproarious human comedy, in which the so-called dumb-bells prove themselves anything but dumb belles, was shown for the first time yesterday at Walker's State theater.

"Dumb-bells in Ermine" may be expressed in one word—glorious! Go to see "Dumb-bells in Ermine" and experience that grand and glorious feeling, that comes only once in a blue moon.

Much whole-hearted mirth is created by the ingratiatingly devilish grandmother of the girl and a crotchetty and amorous old gentleman who wants to be accepted as grandma's suitor.

The story is a gay, speedy one, and its splendid situations are heightened by James Gleason, the New York playwright, who not only does the hard-guy dialogue for "Dumb-bells in Ermine" but plays the part of the pugilist's over-zealous trainer.

The featured players, Robert Armstrong, and Barbara Kent, are captivating as the perturbed lovers. Beryl Mercer is the foxy grandma and Claude Gillingwater the grouchy uncle. Nothing further need be said as to the excellence of their performance. Hoyt as the reformer who comes to defeat is a scream.

ENTERTAINS COMMUNITY CLUB

FULLER PARK, July 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Rees Blythe entertained members of the Community club at their home on Carol Drive Friday evening after a short business meeting a social hour followed. A. L. Cook gave two vocal solos, "Asleep in the Deep" and "You." Betty Blythe sang and danced "Singing in the Bathtub" for an encore to a reading. Mrs. A. L. Cook was accompanist for the evening. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served. The next meeting will be a picnic dinner at Anaheim park.

'DANGEROUS NAN McGREW' IN S. A.

"Dangerous Nan McGrew," Paramount's all-talking comedy starring the original "boop-boopa-doop" girl, Helen Kane, and a half score of other Paramount comedians, comes to the Fox West Coast theater today for a three-day engagement, succeeding "Swing High," which closed there last night.

The story concerns a medicine show, traveling in the northwest, which gets mixed up with the Royal Northwest Mounted police and also with a bunch of wealthy city folks who are vacationing in the west country.

Stuart Irwin, who will be remembered here in "Sweetie," and also with Charles Rogers in "Young Eagles," has one of the leading comedy roles, while the romantic male part is played by James Hall, who will be remembered as the leading man opposite Clara Bow in "The Saturday Night Kid."

Victor Moore, veteran comedian of musical comedies on the New York stage for the past 10 years, and Louise Closser Hale, who will be remembered here with Irene Bordoni in "Paris," also have some of the best comedy lines in the production.

Miss Kane plays the part of the girl who operates the medicine show. Irwin is in love with her. There is comedy at every turn of events in the picture and the turns are so numerous that they can not be counted. "Dangerous Nan McGrew" will bring tears to the eyes from laughter, while its plot is both original and entertaining throughout.

No wonder Mrs. White threw away her washboard

"WHEN I think of how I used to scrub! Now I just make a tub of thick Rinso suds—soak—and rinse! That's all. No washboard. No boiler. It's easy the Rinso way, and clothes come much whiter.

"Rinso saves the clothes and spares my hands. It's a real economical soap, I use it for dishes, too."

Great in washers

Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—it's so compact. Rich, lasting suds, even in the hardest water. And it's all you need—no bar soaps, chips, powders, softeners.

The makers of 38 leading washers recommend Rinso. You can trust your finest cottons and linens to its creamy suds. Get the BIG package today.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

One sandwich was not quite enough and Clowny said, "Here's where I stuff. I've never tasted food like this. It's surely cooked up great. We've eaten every one that's done, but it will be a lot of fun to watch the man make more of them. Let's stand right here and wait."

The Travel Man then said, "Oh no! You see, the meat cooks rather slow. We'd all get tired out standing. Come, we'll all sit down instead." So, at the curb they all sat down and watched the meat cook nice and brown. And, while it sizzled o'er the fire, the man prepared some bread.

Soon Scouty said, "What kind of meat is that which makes so nice a treat? It's juicq and it's tender, like a meat croquet, well done." It's mutton," said the Travel Man. "They're ready now. Eat all you can." And soon the sandwich vender served the Tinies, one by one.

A flock of little Persian boys had gathered 'round amid much noise. They knew the Tinymites were from a country far away. They all spread friendly smiles, and then the Travel Man spoke up again. Said he, "They're nice young lads and I am sure they want to play.

So Clowny cried, "All right, let's go!" And they played an hour or so. The Tinies taught them tag and soon much laughter filled the air. Of course there wasn't any doubt that they would all soon grow tired out. Then Coppy said, "It's fun to play with them 'cause they play fair."

They shortly bid the lads goodbye. Then came another vendor's cry. "Oh, look! He's selling nice hot soup. I'll bet it tastes real good." The Travel man said, "Bless your soul! You all shall have a nice big bowl." And then the soup man served it to them quickly as he could.

(Clowny has a wild, scarey ride in the next story.))

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.
2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

DROP to DOWN—It shouldn't take you more than five strokes to DROP DOWN this letter links ladder.

Legion Caucus At San Clemente Scores Communism

200 DELEGATES ENDORSE FIGHT AGAINST 'REDS'

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21.—Opening a war on communism in the state and nation, over 200 delegates to the Fifth Area caucus of the American Legion, representing 60 posts in five Southern California counties, met at the San Clemente school Sunday afternoon and adopted a resolution urging the state department of the Legion to make one of its minor objectives in 1931 the fight against communism and red radicalism. The resolution will be presented to the state convention at Sacramento next month.

P. A. Thaanum, Post 25, El Centro, Imperial county, opened the discussion on communism by telling gthe delegates of the work in his county when 14 communistic organizers were seized in April and nine later sent to prison. "The way to kill the 'Red Plague' is to dynamite it out," he said. "That's what we did in Imperial county. The judge who tried the cases was a Legionnaire, 50 per cent of the jury were war veterans. What chance did the communists have. But it's not a county fight, it's a state and national one in which the Legion should lead."

Pass "Red" Resolution

Charles H. Harris, past county council commander of San Diego, told of the work his post, La Mesa, had done and read a resolution waging war against the "Red wave" which was adopted. The resolution urged action against communists and red radicals and all other enemies of the government.

Of the 12 resolutions the most important was one which urged the erection of a tuberculosis hospital in the arid regions of California. Other resolutions had to do with changes in the constitution and by-laws and with suggestions to the government as to aid for ailing veterans.

Welsh Presides

The session was held at 1 o'clock in the afternoon with R. J. Welsh jr., Riverside, fifth area commander in the chair. Dr. Ralph S. Roberts, Mountain Empire Post, San Diego county, was endorsed by the area as its new commander. He will be formally elected at the state convention.

Ed Bolt, managing editor of the state Legion paper, announced it now had a circulation of 28,500 copies and was paying its own way. Warren Atherton, Stockton, and B. W. Gearheart, Fresno, candidates for state commander, addressed the caucus.

In closing, Welsh thanked the posts for the co-operation they had given him and stated the San Clemente session a record caucus of the area. A vote of thanks was given the San Clemente post for its welcome and assistance in makin gthe caucus a success.

Women Meet

While the men were holding their caucus in the school house the women met in the afternoon at the Social club.

Gertrude Bailey, La Mesa, San Diego county, president of the Fifth Area auxiliary, called the meeting to order after a breakfast at the Social club and then turned the session over to Margaret Keadking, state president.

Marie Dunklee, Vallejo, was endorsed by the 150 delegates for president of the state organization, election to be held at the Sacramento convention.

Fullerton Scout Swimming Teacher At Camp Rokili

FULLERTON, July 21.—Fred Nunlist, Fullerton eagle scout, is in charge of swimming instruction at the Boy Scout camp RoKILi in the San Bernardino mountains, it was announced today with the departure of the fourth period group for the summer outing at the camp.

Scouts from this district included in the party going into camp are Elwood Choate and Nathan King of Troop 101 of Brea. Most of the boys in the party were from Santa Ana and Newport Beach. Norman Andrew, of Brea, who has just been in camp during the period just closed, is staying over for the present session, which will be the last regular outing of the summer season for the Scouts.

BALBOA STREET LIGHTS PROVE SATISFACTORY

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—The improved lighting system now in operation in the Balboa section of this city have proved so satisfactory thus far that a movement is now reported to be on foot to extend the new lights to other sections.

The new lights were turned on in time for the Fourth of July week end, and were among the "lights" causing favorable comment on the part of residents and visitors during the Tournament of Lights, July 12.

One of the new systems is on Central avenue between Alvarado and B streets, the 400-candlepower lantern-type lights being on the poles installed in connection with the recent street and P. E. track improvements there.

The other was put in by Harry M. House, lighting specialist, who was the lowest bidder of the work. It consists of new lights on A, Main, Washington, Palm, Bay avenue, Ocean Front and Bay Front. The posts are of marbelite centrifugally cast concrete type. The cost of this system was $11,363 and was paid for by an assessment district, as was the Central avenue system.

Chicago Man Buys Beach Investment

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—Miss Lois Avery has sold the vacant lot adjoining the Ocean Wave hotel to Clyde C. Carswell of Chicago. It is announced that Carswell plans to erect a building on the property as soon as negotiations now underway with a prospective tenant are completed. The purchase price was not made public.

Mr. Carswell has other realty holdings in California and with his Chicago associates is contemplating making other investments here and in other cities, it is stated. He is said to have made the investment here because of the extension of the municipal pier and because he feels that Huntington Beach has a bright future and is entering on a period of civic advancement and progress.

The sale here was made through the Patton Realty company.

ORANGE COUNTY TO BUILD ROAD TO NEW SCHOOL

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—Within the next week or 10 days work is expected to start on the new county highway to connect the Newport Harbor union high school, now under construction, with the Coast highway, so that it will be ready for traffic by September 15, the date set for the completion of the school.

The county has made an appropriation of $26,000 for the new road out of its share of the gas tax fund. The road will afford high school students from Corona del Mar, Balboaa Island and other sections in that part of the high school district short and direct access to the new school.

Goes Over Golf Course

The road will leave the Coast highway at a point about 75 yards west of the bridge over the upper bay and traverse the canyon and part of the public golf course, running into Fifteenth street at Irvine, which is the site of the school. The road will be macadamized to a width of 20 feet for the present.

Parts of Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets will also be macadamized to a width of 20 feet, thus providing access to the school from all directions. Students from Costa Mesa will go to the school via Seventeenth.

Will Provide Cutoff

This will also provide a cutoff for motorists traveling the Coast highway between Laguna and points southeast to Santa Ana and other inland cities, the work now about to start providing an improved Seventeenth street to Newport Boulevard.

This will eliminate some of the congestion at the intersection of the Coast highway and Newport boulevard on days of heavy traffic.

The new road from the highway to the high school will also necessitate some changes in the former Orange County golf course, now operated as a public course by Joe Szarfinski.

INSTALL MOORING CABLE AT HARBOR

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—The Newport Harbor Yacht club has put in a new mooring line, to take care of some of the rapidly increasing number of new craft coming to Newport Bay. This line will anchor 16 snowbirds and 12 motorboats.

IN CHARGE OF CLUB

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poteboeuf have been placed in charge of the San Clemente Beach club for the summer months, according to an announcement by Jimmy Bennett, supervisor of public works.

52 PER CENT OF VALENCIA CROP SHIPPED

FULLERTON, July 21.—Approximately 52 per cent of the year's valencia crop has been shipped with the past week's total, according to an announcement following a checkup of the packing houses of the district.

A total of 252 cars of citrus fruit were shipped during the past week. The Northern Orange County Citrus exchange shipped 145 cars of valencias and 26 cars of lemons. Placentia packing houses shipped 64 cars in all over the Santa Fe to eastern markets. The Eadington Fruit company sent out three cars during the week, making their totals about half of their estimated crop of 125 cars, while the American Fruit Growers shipped eight cars.

Prices Vary

The tendency of the market is slightly lower on the 150's and larger, but improved on the 200's and 344's, according to Dale R. King, manager of the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange. Advanced prices average from 5 to 10 cents a box.

The heat wave in the east causes the market demand to be extra heavy on both oranges and lemons, although no advance on the lemon prices has been quoted, it was said.

Starting in early April with shipments, approximately three and one-half months have been spent in picking and sending the fruit east and to foreign markets. In another three and one-half months, about November 1, nearly the entire season will have been closed for the season that has brought very good prices and good quality fruit, but not as large a crop as last year.

As far as can be determined, the "set" on the trees for next year will show a greater crop than this year, although the per cent increase cannot as yet be noticed, due to the "fruit drops" which is still occurring in some sections of the citrus belt.

City Council May Change Fireworks Rule At Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—A petition asking for an amendment to the anti-fireworks ordinance passed last year by the Newport Beach city council may be presented at the meeting of the city council this evening.

The ordinance prohibits the sale or shooting of fireworks, firecrackers or similar explosive substances within the city limits at any time. Both favorable and unfavorable comment was heard here during the July Fourth week-end.

The petition, it is said, will ask that sale of firecrackers be permitted, and that shooting of same be allowed July 3, 4 and 5.

Falls Asleep Car Wrecks Water Hydrant

BUENA PARK, July 21.—When H. E. Hicks, 19, of 341 East Truslow avenue, Fullerton, awoke from a short nap he was taking at the steering wheel of his car Saturday at 2 a.m., he found himself lying beside his overturned car with a river of water rushing down the street.

Upon investigation, he found his car had crashed into the fire plug at Commonwealth and Grand avenues, Buena Park, and overturned. The six-inch pipe leading to the fireplug was broken off three feet below the ground, and the water was rushing down Grand avenue for several blocks.

Hick's car was badly damaged, but he miraculously escaped uninjured. Hicks stated that this was the third accident he had encountered, without serious injury.

SEEK VETERANS ELIGIBLE FOR PENSION RATES

FULLERTON, July 21.—State officials of the American Legion are now engaged in getting names of all World war veterans eligible for pension benefits under the recently enacted pension law by the federal government, according to word received by Roy Black, adjutant of Fullerton post 142.

According to information received by Black from department of California officers, State Adjutant James Fisk is leading the campaign. Fisk has issued the following statement by way of explanation:

Provision of Pension

"This new law enacted by congress provides a pension for every veteran who served in the World war for 90 days or more and who is now permanently disabled to the extent of 25 per cent or more, according to veterans' bureau standards and whose disability is not the result of misconduct, regardless of whether the disability is service connected.

"The claim when allowed will date from the date of application.

"The bureau will accept a letter requesting a form for application as the date of application. The veteran should write at once for 'any and all benefits to which he may be entitled under the pension act passed July 3, 1930'—giving full name, rank, address, organization, serial number, date and place of enlistment, and discharge, and claim number, if any has been made previously.

"All claims that have been disallowed as not service connected will become claims under the new law. A new application must be filed at once."

Hotel Being Built For Midway City

MIDWAY CITY, July 21.—Walter J. Hill, owner of Midway City, has commenced operations at the corner of Huntington Beach and Bolsa boulevards where he is erecting a hotel, the materials all beings on the ground and foundation work started.

The hotel, which, it is understood, Mr. Hill intends as accommodation for industrial workers who may wish living quarters here when new business enterprises are opened in Midway City, is to be a two-story structure. The building is to be 60x60 feet in dimension, it is understood. Long Beach contractors who are erecting apartment houses for Mr. Hill at Naples, are also in charge of the building here.

The hotel will face northwest on a new extension of the Adams street which Mr. Hill is having cut through diagonally, the hotel building being erected on the south side of the street.

Beach Boy Scouts Plan Active Time

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—The Boy Scout troops of Huntington Beach are more active now than at any time in the history of the city, which is due in part to the interest shown by the city council in the Boy Scout movement. Howard Phillips, Eagle Scout, has been engaged to stay at the Scout cabin at Eleventh and Lake streets day and night. Under this plan there is always somebody in charge to direct the Scout activities and the Scouts can find plenty of entertainment at the Scout cabin.

Last week end, the Scout camp on the Santa Ana river east of the city was occupied from Saturday to Sunday night with a camping party of 10 Scouts under the charge of Howard Phillips. The boys had a great time. Phillips is also encouraging the Scouts to advance in scouting and to progress to the different classes of the organization.

OBJECTIONS TO CAMP GROUNDS VOICED TONIGHT

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—Differences of opinion in regard to the operation of the Newport Beach municipal auto camp may be froned out, for the remainder of this season at least, when a petition is scheduled to be presented to the city council this evening on the matter.

The petition, it is said, will ask that the rates formerly in effect at the camp ground be restored and the two-weeks' limit abolished. The petition has been circulated by Harry Cottle, Newport Beach merchant, and is said to be supported by many business men in the vicinity of the camp grounds.

Raise Rate Last Year

Last year the council raised the rate for visitors at the camp ground and established a limit of two weeks there. It was said that many persons, from both in and out of the city, rented their own homes for high summer prices and lived at the camp grounds for little more than a nominal rent, in some cases for all summer.

The old rate was 50 and 75 cents a day for each auto party, and it was changed to 75 cents and $1, the latter for bay front sites. Occupants of the camp bring their own tents, but are furnished city water and gas.

Camp Unique

The camp is probably unique, in that it is the only one fronting on a stillwater bay in Southern California. In fact many citizens here favor its removal from its present location. The bay front property is among the most valuable in the city, similar bay front lots selling from $5000 to $15,000 each.

Those who are opposed to cheaper rates at the camp declare that its maintenance where now located tends to discourage high-class development and building in that section of the city and attracts summer tent residents instead of persons who would build good homes and in some cases live here all the year.

Start Rolph Club In Newport Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—The Rolph-for-Governor campaign is becoming active in this district. Harry H. Williamson, former city councilman and prominent realtor, is heading the Rolph committee for the fifth supervisorial district. E. I. Moore, former president and present director of the chamber of commerce, is in charge of the Newport section of the city, while A. J. Garfield, city councilman, and W. L. Jordan, chamber director, are heading the movement in Balboa.

Bring First Load Of Material For Pier Improvement

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—The first load of material for the new municipal pier extension and the repair job moved to the pier late last week. It was a load of heavy lumber to be used in erecting the scaffolds for the workmen at the pier.

The contractors have 180 days to complete the work and the time limit for starting operations was July 23. It is expected that home labor will be given preference in employment by Merritt, Chapman and Scott, San Pedro and Los Angeles contractors, who were the successful bidders. The work will cost $116,360.

Probably between 50 and 100 men will be given employment on the job when it gets under full swing.

ABANDON WELL ON EAST SIDE OF BEACH SITE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—With the bit-coring oil sand at a depth of 6700 feet, the Newland-Borchard well on the East Side was abandoned Friday by the Barksdall Oil company. It is announced unofficially that Barnsdall will drill another well on the same lease and that the crooked hole at the well prevented further drilling.

Watchers at the well say that the tools went in and out without difficulty and that there was no need for abandonment on account of a crooked hole. It was also asserted that proper handling of the well should have made a producer out of it at the 5200 foot sand and again at the present sand at 6700 feet. Allowing 500 feet for crooked hole offset, the present depth would be 6200 feet.

The Superior Oil company is still negotiating for a refinery site near this city. The company wants five or 10 acres of land and will erect a modern refinery, it is stated if a suitable site is obtained. Superior has been working in close touch with Barnsdall here in taking leases on the East Side at times when the well looked good.

Camp Oil company has overcome the trouble at the W. T. Newland well No. 1, and with the use of Bowen jars pulled the stuck drill pipe, and today will take out the core barrel. Camp has a good showing of oil and gas sand in the well at 5200 feet and was still coring in the sand when the drill pipe stuck. This is the same sand that Barnsdall found at 5200 feet.

FINISH PLANS FOR NEW BEACH HOTEL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—Plans have been completed by the architect for the "19th Hole" building on the 25-foot lot adjoining the Golden Bear cafe and for the Golden Bear hotel to occupy a second story to be added to the Golden Bear cafe building. Harry Bakre, proprietor of the Golden Bear cafe, announced when the cafe building was erected a year ago that it was built with a view of adding a second story later to be used as a hotel.

Plan Lunch Room

The "19th Hole" is to be a lunch room and refreshment parlor for quick service to travelers on the Ocean highway and to the people of Huntington Beach. The new hotel will be of Spanish colonial type. The hotel will have a 75-foot second story frontage on Ocean avenue.

There will be four apartments in front with a patio. Everything is to be strictly modern with tile bath in connection with each suite and doom. At the front of the four apartments will be a six-foot veranda overlooking the ocean. The hotel will be the latest design and of very modern architecture.

It is expected that actual construction work on the new Harry Bakre projects will start in the early autumn and will be rushed to completion with all possible speed.

PURCHASES CAFE

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21.—The Blue Lantern Cafe, located on El Camino Real, a block south of Del Mar, has been purchased by Mrs. Luerle Shelton of Seattle. The Blue Lantern Cafe has been closed for some time but in the location Mrs. Shelton sees an opportunity to cater to a highway class of trade that favors home cooking.

LEGION POST IN BUENA PARK GIVEN CHARTER

BUENA PARK, July 21.—Presentation of a permanent charter to the Buena Park American Legion post was the outstanding feature of the regular meeting of the post held in the Jaynes building, Friday evening.

L. Burr Belden, state editor of the San Bernardino Sun, and commander of the twenty-first district of the American Legion, made the presentation speech. He stressed the work the Legion was doing for rehabilitation and the community service, and urged that a strong representation be sent to the state convention at Sacramento next month in the interests of hospitalization for war veterans in the large area of Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties.

Formal acceptance of the charter was made by I. D. Jaynes, commander of the Buena Park post. The meeting was preceded by a pot-luck dinner served by the members of the auxiliary, and routine business was taken up by both organizations following the program.

A report was made of $117 profit from the sale of fireworks, and $29.95 of this was turned over to the auxiliary.

J. F. Parker, M. R. Speaker and J. Cox were appointed delegates to the state convention, with H. F. Jones, Oscar West and L. A. Sopha as alternates. J. R. Thompson was appointed to represent the local post as delegate to the Fifth Area convention at San Clemente, July 20.

Plan Chess Match At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—One of the greatest meetings of chess experts ever assembled in Orange county will be held in the American Legion hall at Laguna Beach Saturday, Aug. 9, when the Pasadena Chess club will be matched against a team made up if Orange county players.

In the evening there will be exhibitions of blindfold and simultaneous games by experts. It is expected that clubs from Pasadena, Beverly Hills, Los Angeles, Riverside and Long Beach will be present with friends to the number of about 400. The Orange County club is to be captained by Piercy Dow. The committee on arrangements consists of R. A. Frost, jr., C. H. Whipple, M. C. Rolls and R. P. Dow.

ADD TWO RESIDENTS

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21.—Southern California climate and Ole Hanson's city building plan which gave the state a Spanish Village, added two Maine pioneers to the population, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beal, of Bangor. The Beals came to California on a visit, liked San Clemente, purchased a home here and now are on their way to their native state to clean up business matters and move back to California.

TWO DRIVERS HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Two men were arrested on charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, by state traffic officers near here yesterday. Both are in the county jail.

John Turner, 67, carpenter, of 324 North Balcora street, Fullerton, was arrested by George Stinson, state traffic officer and Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter in the Santa Ana Canyon yesterday afternoon. His car was said to have been weaving from one side of the road to the other.

The other man arrested was Roy Goodbar, 31, of 1142 Pacific avenue, Huntington Beach, who was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriffs Thornwaite and Whalen at 11 o'clock last night.

'BULLPEN' LIFE IS EASY IN BASEBALL

In the clubhouse after the game Henry came on the Yankee pitcher.

"That hand was a cinch, wasn't it? Where's the money? I must have come out ahead of the game."

"Oh, yeah? Well, you went down 80 points on that hand and you owe the pot three bucks," answered the Yankee.

And Henry hasn't been the same since then, either.

Bengough Has Pal

In Philadelphia there's a fellow who is a real pal to Benny Bengough, who always has a lot of fun with the people in the stands. This fellow buys Benny food—and on a regular schedule. The second inning is always hotdog time. Benny drinks the fellow's soda pop at the end of the game. And in between times, if the Mackmen stage a rally, the fellow comes through with ice cream and this advice. "Eat this and keep cool."

There have been some great bullpen workers. Remember what old Wilcy (Cy) Moore and Bengough did for the Yankees in 1927? Perkins and Grove are functioning efficiently in Philadelphia. Ferrell and Hartley teamed up for the Indians at least three or four times a week last year. Zack Taylor and Charlie Root swap stories regularly in the Cubs' bullpen.

"A job in the bullpen in a cinch," says Benny.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, July 21.—(UP)—Selling was resumed in the intial session of the week on the curb market otday and, with the popular trading favorites freely offered at concessions ranging from fractions to 3 points. The list worked lower in an irregular maner, spotted stregth being attributable to support in individual issues.

Public utility leaders encountered heavy realizing sales and losses ranging from a fraction to 3 points each took place in American Gas, American Superpower, Electric Bond and Share, Cities Service, St. Regis Paper, Niagara Hudson Power and United Light A.

Oils eased fractionally, but displayed considerable resistance ot selling, declines being held within a fractional range, while ivestment trusts weakened with Transamerica and United Founders off almost a point each. Goldman Sachs recovered slightly from an early setback of more than a point.

Support was afforded various individual issues in the industrial sectio, with Federal Screw and Pilot Tube advancing fractions. However, th emarket as a whole worked toward lower levels.

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, July 21.—(UP)—Irregular price movements and weakness in railroad securities featured trading on the bond market in a dull sesion otday.

Foreign obligations after a firm opening, drifted irregularly downward and losses ranging from ⅛ to 1 point were recorded in Belgium 7s, German annuity 5½s, Rhine west 6s and Serbia 7s. United States government loans continued quiet with prices irregular.

There was a noticeable absence of plus signs in the railroad division, as legal and second grade carriers continued to decline. Atchison 4½s were off more than a point.

Utilities and industrials moved lower under leadership of American Tel & Tel 4½s and Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s, both issues selling off nearly a point. Oils and Amusement bonds ruled fairly steady, with Warner Bros. 6s in the latter category, moving into slightly higher ground on ½ point advance.

CHICAGO BD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, July 21.—(UP)—Wheat closel sharply lower on the Board of Trade today, failing to recover from the early drop and easing farther when the hedging pressure increased heavily. There was a good rally from the low point late when September wheat went under 91c, the pressure lessening and houses with seaboard connections buying. The beneficial rains over the America Northwest and in Canada were the most depressing influences. Export sales were large⅞ 500,000 bu. of hard winters being reported worked. Corn was off sharply due to the weather and oats were down in sympathy with the other grains.

At the close wheat was 2⅜ to 2⅝c lower, corn was 1⅞ to 2¼c lower and oats were ⅞ to 1¼c lower. Provisions were weak.

A WORD ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION

The political campaign is on in Orange county in rather full swing. A few weeks more and the people will vote at the primaries for the candidates whom they desire to have fill the respective offices in the county.

In those cases where there are only two candidates for an office, the decision rendered by the people in the primary election will be decisive, as one or the other will have been elected, for on primary day any man who receives a majority of the votes cast for the candidates for the particular office is elected. This condition prevails in a number of offices. This is true of the office of auditor, of tax collector, of assessor, of surveyor, of county superintendent of public instruction and of supervisor in the second and fourth districts. In the fifth supervisorial district, for sheriff and for district attorney it is not likely that any candidate will receive a majority of all votes cast, because of the number of candidates who are in the running.

The candidates for every office should receive the attention of the voters, for they are all important. The contests for the offices of sheriff and district attorney are emphasizing in the county the most important problem which America has to face. That is the problem of the enforcement of law. The curse of this country is its disrespect for law. The will and the authority of the people, placed in the constitution and on the statute books is flaunted by law violators, and winked at if not connived at, by officers who have places of authority with the power to enforce the law.

The President recognizes this issue as being the prime one before the people. He has taken the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment from the treasury department and placed in the hands of the department of justice. There is an earnestness shown in this phase of our national life that has not characterized the department heretofore. The department of justice insists that the men who shall be given positions as law enforcement officers shall obey the law themselves; they shall be in harmony with its enforcement, and they shall be men who profoundly believe in it. This is the only hope that any one can have of success in the accomplishment of the purposes of the law and the constitution.

The leaders of the forces in Orange county desiring to prevent the landing of liquor on Orange county's coast, the transportation of liquor through the county, and bootlegging in the county, have made an effort to learn the attitude which the candidates for sheriff and district attorney will take on this all important question. In consequence of which, they have asked each candidate if he is a law observer himself; if he has violated the law within recent time; or, if an official, if he has countenanced the violation of the law by others without objection, and whether he can be counted upon to faithfully enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act. By so doing, they have emphasized the great issue of observance of law and its enforcement in Orange county. The voters have an opportunity to vote in harmony with whatever their views may be upon the question.

Several candidates have replied, and have placed themselves squarely in harmony with President Hoover, with the law enforcement program, and with our constitution and our law. The rest of them are silent and evasive. The voters can count upon it that not a solitary bootlegger will vote for the candidates who are fully determined to enforce the law, in fact, we believe that the selection of a man for sheriff and a man for district attorney can be made on the day of the primary, which will insure the moving from Orange county of some of the fraternity whose main income now is derived from the violation of the law. These men will not receive a solitary bootleggers' vote. They should receive the solid vote of those who desire to have our country fulfil its destiny, and law observance prevail as the natural condition in American life.

AN OLD ORDINANCE

Here is a reminder of the "dear old days." A city ordinance in Lowestoft, England, passed in 1854 provides that no male bather shall come within a hundred yards of women bathers. The ordinance came to light the other day when the councilmen of the town set about rescinding the ordinance. Today it would keep a man, in bathing, quite occupied keeping his distance from the ladies but in 1854 there were so few women in bathing and they were so easily distinguished from the men because of their fancy caps and pleated skirts, and little puffy sleeves that it wasn't so difficult observing the law.

Maybe the ordinance was passed against some of the naughty men who splashed the ladies and got them all wet.

MEMORIAL TO HANS ANDERSEN

July 11 the people of Odense, Denmark, celebrated the opening of a hall dedicated to the memory of Hans Andersen. Features of the celebration were a play based on one of Andersen's fairy tales "The Naughty Boy," one of Andersen's own plays and a ballet inspired by one of his fairy tales.

Sunday, July 13, the children of the town paraded through the streets and a people's festival took place in the park with fairy tale tableau on the lake and the river.

The celebration must have been very charming, as is anything which involves fairy-loving little children.

ONE VOICE CRIES OUT AGAINST CORRUPTION

The effort on the part of some people in Los Angeles to attempt to arouse the passions of the people against the Reverend Robert Shuler as a political power in that city and county has come to our notice.

They assert that the mayor is under Shuler's influence. We do not know, but we do know that the conditions in Los Angeles county and Los Angeles city are as corrupt from the standpoint of the law and of exploitation of the people as they can well get.

As far as we have observed, there is no strong and well-ordered effort to reach the actual conditions or to correct this terrible condition. Shuler has seen it, and has directed his efforts toward its exposure and correction. He may sometimes say too much, and go too far, but we have little patience with those who condemn him, and yet whose voices are never raised against the condition which has aroused Shuler's indignation.

A hundred million dollars in the Julian case was taken out of the pockets of 40,000 innocent purchasers of stock. Nearly all of those who were responsible for the conditions have gone scot-free. The slimy trail of bribery and corruption winds its way in and out of the whole affair. Only three men, as far as we recall, have been convicted, and one of these was the district attorney who was convicted of accepting a bribe in connection with the case.

Mr. Shuler has made some statements in respect to this condition. Some names have been used and connected with the wrong persons, who are undoubtedly guiltless, but the position which he has assumed as a citizen in exposing the condition in spite of these mistakes is infinitely finer, more laudable and more dependable, than those who are practically defending the condition by attacking Shuler at every opportunity. Shuler does not go after things and expose them as the other fellows would. The difficulty is the other fellows wouldn't and don't raise their voices against the condition in any manner. Too often if you locate the connection, you will find the critics are beneficiaries of the very condition which exists, and they want to keep the status quo.

When Dad Reads Aloud

Christian Science Monitor

A visitor to a farm home noticed a narrow indentation worn into the white surface of an old colonial mantlepiece. He had not thought to make it a subject of comment until his host stopped and ran his finger across the hollowed trail in the board.

"I suppose you're wondering about this long mark on my mantlepiece," said the farmer. "I'm very proud of it, for on top of this old mantlepiece in the evening my father used to place a flickering oil lamp when I was a boy, and then he backed up his chair on a slant against the woodwork and proceeded to read aloud to the entire family. He did it almost every night for years until the imprint of his chair left its trace. This mantlepiece always reminds me of my dad."

How many homes today contain memories of the pleasant custom of reading aloud from a choice book, once the chores were done and the shades drawn? What if the sonorous voice of Dad did send a tired boy after a while into sound slumber—with full orchestra accompaniment—or serve only as verbal background for junior at the table, busy with his arithmetic lesson? Here was an unbroken home circle, with Dad at the center of it reading a lively yarn designed to thrill the youthful imagination and start memories certain to linger to the sunset days. Many a boy of former generation has acquired his appreciation of good literature from just such reading aloud.

No wonder that marked mantlepiece meant so much to the farmer. Every household could well treasure some such heirloom as this, and seek to keep intact the comradeship of family life in a day when a thousand distractions tend to lure children away from the protective influence of home.

Silent Newsboys Are Sought By Omaha Mayor

San Bernardino Sun

Omaha, like New York, is getting tired of noise. And in one way it proposes to go further than New York. An ordinance introduced in the city council by Mayor Metcalf would forbid newsboys to call their papers on the street except in case of extras.

This would certainly put a premium on extras. The boys would clamor for them. And editors might force things just a little, you know, to oblige the boys.

In any community that becomes noise-conscious, here is a real problem. There is a great difference, vocal and temperamental, in newsboys. They vary individually, and their general procedure varies from city to city. In Chicago they have long been at their worst, fairly blasting the ears of passersby with their bellowing. American newsboys in general are said to be noisier than those of any other country.

What will the reform movement come to? In London, the newsboys, who are usually grown men, do not use their voices at all, but stand dumbly on the sidewalk with placards or canvas strips bearing the headlines of the day's big news. Will newsselling ever become so genteel over here?

The World Does Move

Riverside Daily Press

The late Senator "Bob" LaFollette used to remark humorously that most of the "ultra-radical" measures he sponsored were ultimately adopted by the conservatives who continued to look upon him as a dangerous theorist. What seems socialistic and subversive to one generation seems only common sense to the next. Human notions change rapidly.

All of this is called to mind by the fact that the conference of American governors at Salt Lake City the other day devoted a good share of its time to the discussion of old age and employment pensions.

A few years ago no one but a group of socialists would have talked of such measures seriously. But now the governors of the individual states—surely a conservative enough crowd, taken collectively—give these matters their attention, and no one gets in the least alarmed.

Our children, very likely, will be equally hospitable to some of the things that we today look on as revolutionary and dangerous. The world—though we don't always realize it—does move.

What We Suspect Will Happen When This Fellow Arrives at the Pearly Gates

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A KINDRED SPIRIT

Americans have not yet discovered that the charm of life consists in periods of leisure.—Andre Maurois.

The copy books I used to con
Decried the vice of shirking,
And urgently enlarged upon
The many joys of working,
So industry became my aim,
I made my efforts snappy
Until my back and arms were lame,
Yet rarely was I happy.

But when a fishing rod I took,
And fled my daily duties
To wade along a singing brook
In quest of speckled beauties,
And, to excuse my idleness,
A string of fibs invented,
Life seemed to me a grand success
And I was quite contented.

And now Monsieur Maurios declares,
That this hard working nation
Should sometimes lay aside its cares
And seek more recreation.
He intimates that labors cloy,
That we should find life brighter
And gain more time to spend in joy
If we would make them lighter.

His words my sentiments express;
I learned the road to Heaven
Ran down the vale of idleness
When I was six or seven.
Let pedagogues say "Pooh!" or "Bah!"
To this great truth, and flout it;
I'm satisfied Monsieur Maurios
And I are right about it.

Wasting Our Substance In Riotous Saving

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Large income receivers are trying, right now, to save more money than this country, as a whole, can possibly save to any advantage. For saved money is of no use to the country as a whole until it is invested. But it is useless to invest money in more mills, mines, and machines than the country can use; and right now the country has more than it can use.

Once any nation has piled up larger savings in the form of capital facilities than the nation can operate, there is virtually no way in which it can save anything more to advantage. It can merely accumulate more idle capital facilities—and more "NO MEN WANTED" signs.

The thrifty individual, to be sure, who saves five dollars instead of buying a pair of shoes, may be better off for his thrift. What are savings for an individual, however, are not necessarily savings for society. Every one who saves money at times like the present, when his abstinence helps to curtail production and throw men out of work, saves at the expense of other people.

For the individual, a penny saved is a penny earned; but for society, a penny saved is sometimes a penny lost.

This, then, is the Dilemma of Thrift: both producers and consumers MUST save; but there are times, such as the present, when they do not save without to some extent frustrating the social object of saving.

The country can use more invested savings—more instruments of production—only if consumers spend more money. But the fact that commodity prices have been falling off for a full year, while production and car-loadings have been falling off, too, shows that for a full year consumers have not been spending enough money to enable producers to keep their plants running. The monster penny-in-the-slot machine has not been clicking fast enough.

When, under this condition WEALTHY people SAVE more money, they are wasting the substance of the country in riotous saving.

Sattiday afternoon me and pop went to the Little Grand to see the new Kut Up Komedy, being funny as anything, and when he came home we was still laffing to think of it, ma saying, My goodness whats all the hilarious merriment about? Why dont you let somebody elts in on the joke? she sed.

Meening her, and I sed, Well G, ma, if you'd of saw the picture you'd be laffing without asking what for, wouldent she, pop?

She would indeed, ha ha, pop sed. Ha ha I thawt Id pass out when the prohibitionist was delivering his bum speetch and fell rite through the top of the barril into the beer, he sed.

I call that messy, not funny, ma sed, and pop sed, But he was a prohibitionist.

Then the more honor to him, ma sed, and I sed, Well G, ma, I bet you'd of laffed when the baker got pushed into his dough thing and when he came out all the colored people thawt he was a ghoast.

Yes, ha ha, that was another screem, pop sed, and ma sed, I cant see anything funny in the thawt of anybody all stuck up with dough. Much funnier things happen rite in your own reel life, in fact I thawt Id die laffing this afternoon at something Mrs. Hews told me that happened to her personly, hee hee, she sed.

G, what was it, ma? I sed, and pop sed, Yes, lets have it, and ma sed, Well, it seems Mrs. Hews came home all hot and tired, and she went up in her room and took most of her clothes off and was feeling comfortable for the ferst time that day, and low and behold the doorbell rang and she remembered the minister had sed he mite call, and she had to get all dressed again to go down and open the frunt door, and low and behold it was ony her husband, hee hee I thawt Id die.

And is that sippose to be funny? pop sed, and I sed, Ge wizz, ma, where does the joke come in?

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

CHOKING THE NATION WITH CREAM

A hundred years from now—unless by then we have outgrown the childish habit of degrees and decorations—serious-minded young men, working in the universities of the future for their Doctor of Philosophy degrees, will be put at the job of unravelling the tangled skein of American economic life in 1930.

By then, so many of the current economic traditions will be obsolete and forgotten that students will have difficulty in determining why the America of 1930 could possibly consider itself in other than a happy way economically.

There was no shortage of money.

There was no shortage of basic resources.

There was no lack of efficiency in production.

There was no lack of willing hands to work.

There was no plague-like adversity of wind or weather.

There was no insect-pest either nation-wide in its ravages or seriously out-of-hand.

On the contrary!

There was ample money supply.

There was a surplus of nearly all basic resources.

There were several millions of men and women waiting to be called to work.

The productive efficiency of the nation was such that with a shorter week and shorter days the needs of the nation could have been easily supplied.

"Here was a nation," students will say a hundred years from now, "grumbling in the midst of an unparalleled plenty!"

The fact is that today America is basically in the position towards which the dreams of prophets and seers have pointed through the centuries.

It has produced machines enough to emancipate its people from drudgery.

It has achieved a productive efficiency that makes it possible to produce everything the people of the nation need without slaving from dawn to dusk.

Leisure in which to laugh and love and adventure among things of the mind and the spirit is within the nation's grasp.

And yet, just when we have reached the point at which emancipation from drudgery, the capacity to produce the essentials of living without the slavery of inhuman hours, and the potential achievement of leisure for all, are within our grasp, we had ourselves confessing an economic depression.

At no moment in human history has a people had so nearly all of the essentials for a great and glowing civilization within its hands; if we submit to anything less, it must be that we simply are not equal to the management of a civilization.

If tomorrow every adult American realized fully the absurdity of depression when the stage is set for renaissance, that realization would generate a leadership that would set America a hundred years ahead in the march of civilization.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

CHANGE OF ENVIRONMENT

When a child has formed a poor habit and you have tried in vain to train him to put a good one in its stead, the very best thing to do next is to arrange for a change of environment.

You see when a child does something the action and everything associated with it is registered as memory. Next time he is faced with the same situation, the same people, the same place, the same impulses, he will follow the memory trace and repeat the action. Before long any one of the associated facts will be enough to call up the response. Soon the habit needs no stimulation. The response is immediate and habitual.

Talking and punishment and rewards have little chance now. As long as the associations are constant the response is certain. The only escape is by fay of new associations, a new environment. That is why a visit to a loved relative, a trip to distant places, a boarding school, a stay in the children's hospital, will work miracles in the habits of wayward children.

I knew a little girl who would not go to sleep until she had eaten a chocolate mouse placed under her pillow by a doting daddy. By and by the doctor said, "No mouse." The child said, "No mouse, no sleep." Nothing anybody could do or say helped in the least. "No mouse, no sleep," and there the matter rested until an old family friend carried her off to her distant home for a visit.

To the surprise of everybody the child went to bed with never a word about the mouse. There was nothing in the situation that called for the evening treat and it was not needed. After a months stay the child went home. Instead of the old room of familiar memory she was placed in one on the other side of the house. No mention of the mouse.

A long time afterward, as children reckon time, the child was playing about in the old bedroom of mouse-memory. "When I was a very little girl I used to find a chocolate mousie under my pillow in this bed," said she. "I guess there aren't any more. Anyway I'm too old for such things now."

Many a troublesome boy has gone away to a good school to return happily to his home at vacation times. Many a girl has been set right by a course in a fine school. Home is the best place for children only when they thrive there. If they are signs of trouble, if bad habits persist, if training seems in vain, try some other scheme.

Mothers need relief from trying children. Nobody knows what suffering lies in the day by day association with unruly, uncontrolled children. The mother breaks down and the children go from bad to worse. Save the mother by relieving both sides of the situation. Try a little healthy change. If the children cannot go from home let mother have time off instead. But the change is essential.

BATTLE OF BULL RUN

On July 21, 1861, the first Battle of Bull Run, the first important battle of the Civil War, was fought near a small stream of this name in northeast Virginia.

The Federal army, under General McDowell, and the Confederate army, under Generals Beauregard and Johnston, were both composed of green troops, poorly drilled and sadly lacking in experience.

The battle got under way at 10 a. m., when the Federals opened the attack, driving the Confederates before them until stopped while ascending a slope, by a fighting brigade under T. J. Jackson, who gained the sobriquet "Stonewall" as the result of this conflict.

The Federals gained ground after stubborn attacks until about 3 p. m., when the Confederates launched an attack that drove their foes in confusion from the field. The retreat became a rout and finaliy the Federals fled in wild disorder to Washington, but were not followed as the Confederates also were disorganized by the flurry of the victory.

About 40,000 men engaged in the fight, the Federals losing 2800 and the Confederates 2000.

Heat Records For Quarter Century Broken In Midwest

DEATH LIST FOR 2 DAYS ABOVE 100

BULLETIN

CHICAGO, July 21.—(UP)—Prayers for relief from the scarching heat and withering winds of the last four days were partly answered in the middle west today, but the rest of the nation sweltered in record-breaking temperatures.

The number of deaths during the heat wave shot upward to a total of 150 today as cooling north winds lowered the mercury in the near northwest and in the northern tier of northwest states.

By UNITED PRESS

PROMISES OF relief from a blistering heat wave brought faint cheers today to a nation from which was exacted a devastating toll of death and suffering over the week end.

Heat records of a quarter century were broken yesterday as hot winds and a searing sun ran up new high temperatures from the Atlantic seaboard to the Rockies. Temperatures of 100 were recorded in several states and readings of above 90 were common.

Death from heat prostrations and by drownings were expected to exceed 100. Livestock perished by the hundreds and crops throughout the midwest were scorched by the sun and withered from the lack of rain.

Relief Promised

Forecaster C. A. Connel of the Chicago district predicted a general drop in temperatures, accompanied by rain in many sections, for today, however, he said indications were that temperatures would recede from 20 to 30 degrees.

Among the new record heat marks established yesterday was that of Columbus, O., where the mercury mounted to 112—the highest reported reading in the nation. Washington, D. C., had a new record of 105.6.

Chicago, typical of a dozen other large cities throughout the nation, suffered Sunday for the second successive day under a temperature of 100 degrees. Nearly 1,000,000 persons were driven to Lake Michigan beaches, but they found scant relief on the hot sand or in the tepid water.

Heat Returns

Temperature drops of 30 degrees within a few hours made the heat even more unbearable. The heat wave had smothered the midwest Saturday, but cool breezes sent the mercury downward shortly after midnight Saturday. The heat returned with renewed vigor yesterday and reached its greatest intensity between noon and dusk.

Samples of the death toll taken were seen in Chicago, where one person died of the heat and seven others were drowned, and Milwaukee, Wis., where two persons fell dead under a temperature of 100 degrees. Scores of prostrations were reported in both cities.

Five men, almost driven insane by the heat, were removed from a raft on a lake near Lake Forrest, Ill. They had set out for a cruise, lost their oars and had drifted unprotected from the blazing sun for several hours.

Hundreds of Kansas residents gathered in churches throughout the state to pray for rain which would save their crops.

ENGINEERS START SURVEY IN COUNTY

The board of consulting engineers making special investigation of the flood control project in Orange county arrived here this morning and immediately went out into the field with Murray Thompson, local flood control engineer.

The board, composed of Prof. B. A. Etcheverry, Thomas Means and G. A. Elliott, probably will remain here all week making investigations.

It is not definitely known when the engineers will be in position to file a report of their findings with the board of supervisors.

TWO FLIERS ESCAPE DEATH IN LAGUNA AIRPLANE CRASH

Aviators on Way From Colton to San Diego When Accident Occurs

TWO MEN NARROWLY escaped death at 10 o'clock this morning when the biplane in which they were riding, went into a nose dive and crashed in a field near the Laguna Beach grammar school. The men were Edward Dutcher, well known Los Angeles pilot, and Edgar Kaiser, of Los Angeles, his passenger.

Both men were slightly cut and bruised but were able to return to Los Angeles after being given medical treatment at the home of a friend at Laguna.

The plane started from Colton on a trip to San Diego early this morning and Dutcher expected to stop at Laguna Beach to visit friends. He circled the plane over the Barnes private airport for several minutes, and apparently decided not to try to land there. Later he attempted to bring the ship down in the field near the school house.

Witnesses to the crash claimed that the landing was being made when the plane suddenly seemed to turn upside down in the air and then fall to the ground. The plane was badly damaged.

Information also received here was to the effect that Kaiser had chartered the plane from the Grand Central Airport at Los Angeles Sunday.

WESTOVER IN SPEECH SAYS SHULER HONEST

Says He Would Prefer Pastor for Political Boss Than Those of Past

DECLARING HE would rather have Bob Shuler for a political boss than any of those who have controlled Los Angeles in the last 20 years, Harry Westover, candidate for district attorney, spoke on law enforcement before the Community Bible class at Orange on Sunday morning.

"As far as years go I am a young man," said Westover. "I have not had as much experience as you have had. I am not as old as many of you. I have not seen as many changes take place. However, times have changed, and I have noted changes even during my short life.

"When I was a little chap I lived in Arizona. It seems to me that I can recall the discussion that took place when that state legislated women out of the saloons. In the olden days there were plenty of saloons in Arizona. I also remember the time when every community had its "red light" district. The women in the saloons, the "red light" district and the saloons all went. Who were responsible for their going? The saloon man? The gambler? The politician? No. The women and the church people. The politician, the gambler, the saloon keeper were never responsible for the curing of any social ills.

Lauds Shuler

"Last week in Los Angeles there occurred an incident which I believe is a commentary on changed conditions. You probably read in the papers the charge which was made to the effect that Bob Shuler was the political boss of Los Angeles. I don't know whether Bob Shuler is the political boss of Los Angeles or not, but I do say that if he is the political boss of Los Angeles that this is the first time in the history of our nation that a preacher was the political boss of a large city. We have had saloon men who were political bosses; we have had gangsters, racketeers and multimillionaires, but we have never before had a preacher. If I was a citizen of Los Angeles today, I would rather have Bob Shuler as political boss than any of the political bosses

Calvin Coolidge Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 21. — "The rapidity with which the old South is emerging is not generally appreciated. It has attracted new blood and new capital. From a region of plantations it is becoming also a region of industry and commerce. But its economic development is not so great as its change in thought. It is less local and more national.

There are three important influences that are removing its inertia of mind and body. The public schools have been much improved both in housing and courses of instruction. Their power has become very great. The radio has done for people of mature years what the school house has done for the youth in the way of lifting them out of themselves and giving them new ideas. This is changing the tone and the influence of the local press. And the system of good roads which is already extensive and rapidly increasing whereby the automobile has enlarged the circumference of mental vision ranks very high in the progress of the new South. It has made the country accessible not only to itself but to the outside world. We behold a people of high spirit and great natural endowments under the inspiration of a new hope coming into their own."

COUPLE STARTS NEW REFUELING PLANE FLIGHT

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 21.—(UP)—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, former holders of the refueling endurance record took off from Lambert St. Louis field in a Curtiss Robin monoplane at 7:11 a. m. (C.S.T.) today hopeful of staying in the air 30 days (720 hours) thus decisively beating the Hunter Brothers mark of 553 hours made in Chicago recently.

The plane the two went aloft in, "The Greater St. Louis" is similar to the St. Louis Robin in which they spent 420 consecutive hours in the air just a year ago, and was presented to them as a reward for that feat.

Such comforts as two air mattresses, an air cushion for the pilot, and a small radio were in the plane. The cabin is larger than that of the St. Louis "Robin" and "will give us more leg and elbow room," Jackson said.

The monoplane is powered by a six-cylinder Challenger motor and has dual carburetors and oil lines.

The flyers expected to fly at a cruising speed of around 65 miles an hour. The refueling plane is a ship of the same type, and P. V. Chaffee and William Brewster comprise its crew. Chaffee helped refuel last year but Brewster, a member of the Canadian flying force in the World war, takes the place of Major W. C. Wassell.

Jackson and O'Brine took only 50 gallons of gas in the 110 gallon capacity tank and a refueling contact was arranged for mid-afternoon.

A crowd of 500 cheered the flyers as they took off. Nearly 100 of the group had spent the night at the field.

O'Brine said that a month in the air was the goal, but if the motor still "sounded good then, we'll stay up a couple of weeks longer."

Just before entering the cockpit, the flyers kissed their wives good-bye, Jackson refusing to pose for the domestic incident before the camera.

DERBY FLIERS END SECOND LEG TODAY

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 21.—(UP)—The All American air derby completed the second leg of the flight shortly after 2:30 p. m. today. The first plane across the finish line was piloted by Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock, Ark.

Wreck Kills Five On Circus Train

MONCTON, N. B., July 21.—(UP)—A broken rail was believed today to have caused the deaths of five persons and injuries to 18 others when nine flat cars of the Al G. Barnes circus train were derailed near here yesterday.

Four of the dead were circus workers and the other a hobo who was thought to have "hooked" a ride from Newcastle to Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, where the show was scheduled to appear tonight.

Although the 29 car train was traveling 50 miles an hour and carried more than 700 persons, none of the performers were injured.

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—The California supreme court voted unanimously today to grant Warren K. Billings, convicted of complicity in the 1916 preparedness day bombing, a new hearing on his application for a pardon.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—Gov. C. C. Young declared today he was ready and anxious to see John MacDonald, recanting witness of the Tom Mooney-Warren Billings case.

MacDonald arrived here last night from Baltimore to reverse the testimony that sent two men to prison. Mooney and Billings, convicted largely on the statement of MacDonald, are now serving life terms in prison for the 1916 preparedness day bombing here that killed 10 men and wounded 40.

MacDonald, on the advice of his two attorneys, Hilary Gans and Charles Ruzicka, who arrived with him, refused to talk about his plans. The two lawyers, however, declared he was steadfast in his desire to "perjure himself" and was eagerly awaiting an interview with Governor Young.

The executive planned today to make a quick trip to Stockton but said he could see MacDonald immediately after his return, which probably will be Tuesday. It was thought that the meeting would take place tomorrow and at that time a date would be set for the official hearing of MacDonald's retraction.

It was not known whether the event, so eagerly awaited by followers of Mooney and Billings, would be held before the governor or the supreme court, which now is in receipt of a second pardon petition from Billings.

AIRPLANE CRASH KILLS SIX

LONDON, July 21.—(UP)—Six persons were reported killed today when an airplane crashed near Gravesend.

The scene of the disaster was Meopham Green, between Gravesend and Chatham on the Thames. The dead included the two pilots and four passengers of a Junkers type commercial taxi plane operating between Croydon and Letouquet, France.

Use Guns, Knives In Bloody Election

EL PASO, Tex., July 21.—(UP)—Andres Ortiz, national revolutionist, carried every precinct of Juarez for governor of the state of Chihuahua in the city's bloodiest election, Sunday, when two men were killed and 75 wounded.

Ortiz defeated Manuel Prieto, Socialist, whose supporters charged today that mounted police charged their adherents at the polls and slashed them with sabers, and fired on them. They also charged prisoners were released from the jail to join the political trickery.

Those killed in the election day violence were Juan Zaldiver, 38, who was shot to death and Encarnacion Ponce, 18, who died of stab wounds.

BASEBALL RESULTS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 21.—(UP)—Babe Ruth hit his 36th home run of the season in the third inning of today's game against the Cleveland Indians. The drive, over the right field screen, scored Lary and put the Yanks in the lead, 3 to 1. Walter Miller was pitching. The Babe is now 20 days and six home runs ahead of his record established in 1927.

MRS. JAS. M'FADDEN, PIONEER OF SANTA ANA, PASSES AWAY

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., Wednesday, at the funeral parlors of Ives and Warren company, 100 North Hill avenue, Pasadena. The services will be conducted by the Rev. G. E. Raitt, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at South Pasadena, and a cousin of Mrs. McFadden.

Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery, Santa Ana, the funeral cortege being scheduled to arrive at the cemetery at 12:15 p. m.

Mrs. McFadden was a pioneer of Santa Ana, but had been residing in Altadena for the past 14 years. She was the widow of James McFadden, political leader and big farm operator in Santa Ana and vicinity for many years prior to his death. Her husband was credited with promoting the political arrangement necessary for the creation of Orange county out of a portion of Los Angeles and he initiated many developments that are reflected in the growth of this community. He and his brothers organized the Newport Wharf and Lumber company which built the wharf at Newport Beach proper and the railroad line between Santa Ana and Newport Beach. The rail line was conspicuous in the southland by reason of the fact that it was known as the "Sunday observance railroad," the owners declining to operate trains on Sunday.

Following her marriage to Mr. McFadden in New York in 1872, Mrs. McFadden came to Santa Ana, and with Mr. McFadden located at what is now the corner of South Main street and McFadden street, living for many years in the adobe house that was razed only a few years ago to make way for progressive development of the old McFadden ranch property.

Mrs. McFadden is survived by one daughter, Miss Jennie McFadden, of the home, and numerous other relatives residing in this immediate vicinity.

LAST MAN'S CLUB HOLDS ITS FINAL REUNION WHEN LONE SURVIVOR TOASTS COMRADES

STILLWATER, Minn., July 21.—(UP)—The faint scent of garden flowers diffused from boquets at the backs of 33 crepe-draped chairs today as Charles Lockwood said goodbye to his companions of battle.

Lockwood kept a promise made 45 years ago. He sipped a toast of vinegar—once choice Burgundy—to the memory of his dead comrades.

A draped chair and a spray of flowers told of the 33 who had died.

"The camp fire smoulders—ashes fall;
"The clouds are black against the sky;
"No tap of drums, no bugle call;
"My comrades, all, goodbye."

While the lone survivor made his toast to the dead, talking picture cameras recorded for all time the termination of the only club of its kind in the world. Spectators crowded the hall just as they had that day in 1861 when Stillwater lads had marched gaily to battle after a farewell dance.

Recites Poem

Shortly after 11 a. m. Lockwood recited the poem to his comrades before a talking picture camera. His voice was steady and even as he called the rolls of 34 club members. He paused after each name except his own when he answered present.

The official banquet with the final closing of the last man's club was held at the Lowell inn this afternoon. It was on the site of Lowell inn, then the Sawyer House, that the young men had danced through to the early hours of Sunday morning, April 21, 1861.

They went to Fort Snelling in response to President Lincoln's call to save the union. There they formed Company B, First Minnesota Volunteer infantry.

The company went from battle to battle. Bull Run took its toll of lives. Gettysburg saw more die. The war ended with 89 living of the men who had marched away that Sunday morning.

Then came reunions and celebrations of victories won. On September 17, 1885, 34 veterans were still alive. That night they held a celebration. The party was breaking up. One lone bottle of the wine that Louis Hospes had presented for the reunion remained on the table.

SOMERSAULT SAVES LIFE OF ACROBAT

SAN JOSE, Calif., July 21.—(UP)—M. T. Moran, 62, who has made his living for many years on the stage by turning somersaults today owes his life to the same gyrations.

When his car was struck yesterday by the Southern Pacific Daylight Limited near here, Moran saved himself from almost certain death by somersaulting over the back of the car to safety.

FINAL VOTE TAKEN AFTER LONG DEBATE

VOTE IS 58 TO 9

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(UP)—The senate adjourned sine die at 5 p. m. today shortly after ratification of the London naval treaty.

Three nominations for the federal power commission went unconfirmed and must wait until the next session.

The nomination of William M. Jardine of Kansas to be minister to Egypt was confirmed.

The vote was 58 to 9.

Two-thirds were required for ratification.

The senate, weary and fretful with the intense tropical heat of Washington, rushed through the final stages.

Debate had dragged for days, but today the senate determined to end its agony.

First it adopted the Norris reservation stipulating that no secret understandings were to bind the United States. Then it mowed down within an hour a dozen other reservations opposed by the administration.

The roll call:

Senators voting against:

Republicans — Bingham, Connecticutt; Hale, Maine; Johnson, California; Moses, New Hampshire; Oddie, Nevada; Pine, Oklahoma; Robinson, Indiana.

Democrats — McKellar, Tennessee; Walsh, Massachusetts, 9.

MOTHER SLAYS SON, HUSBAND: THEN SUICIDES

GENEVA, Ill., July 21.—(UP)—Heat that drove the mercury above 100 drove Mrs. Charles S. Anderson to murder her husband and 18-year-old son with an ax, set fire to their heavily mortgaged farm home and then take her own life, Sheriff L. L. Urch said today as he reconstructed the rural tragedy.

John Larson, Mrs. Anderson's brother, who was routed from his bed in an upstairs room by the fire, discovered the three bodies early today.

Anderson's body, battered with an ax, was on the bed where he and his wife slept. The body of the son, Willis, was on a flaming bed in his room. He, too, had been battered with the ax and died a few minutes after being taken from the house.

Mrs. Anderson's body lay in the living room of the modest farm home three miles west of here, a knife at the side. Apparently she had slashed her own throat and wrists after wiping out the family.

Sheriff Urch, said after a preliminary examination of the home which was damaged only slightly by the fire, that he believed the Anderson's were hard pressed for money. The 40-acre farm was heavily mortgaged and the sheriff said he had called several times recently to collect old debts. He advanced the theory that worry coupled with the excessive heat of the last few days drove Mrs. Anderson insane.

Neighbors said the Andersons seldom took part in community affairs. They bought the farm in 1920 when land was on the boom.

Typhoon Cause Of Enormous Losses

LONDON, July 21.—(UP)—Original estimates of $10,000,000 damage done by a typhoon on Kysushu island may be exceeded when more complete details of the destruction are received, an exchange telegraph dispatch from Tokio said.

Heavy damage was done in the seaport of Nagasaki, while crops, which had promised unusual returns this season, sustained enormous losses.

Roof Collapses; 20 Boys Buried

RED WING, Minn., July 21.—Twenty boys of the Red Wing reformatory were buried when the roof of an old reservoir in which they were working collapsed late today, killing at least two of them.

Nearly all of the two crews of lads were bruised or injured.

The dead boys were:

William Passe, 16, International Falls, Minn.

Irving Dalby, 16, Minneapolis.

Deputy Warden Irving Martinson, who was supervising the crews, was injured seriously. He was rushed to the Red Wing hospital.

WESTOVER IN SPEECH SAYS SHULER HONEST

the city has had during the past 20 years. At least I know that Bob Shuler is honest and is not political boss because of the money that can be made out of the job.

"Church people and churches are becoming interested in politics. They are becoming interested in the running of our government and about the people who hold office. It is about time. The church people and the women can dictate politics in Orange county. They can say who shall hold offices and what policies shall be carried out. The church people are being aroused to present day conditions. They are awakening to the fact that they must take part in public affairs. No longer will they be content to sit back and allow a small group of so-called politicians run county affairs. They are realizing the danger of non-participating in general affairs and will play a bigger part in our coming election than ever before.

Law Enforcement

"The biggest question before the voters of the state and county today is the question of Law Enforcement. Not the enforcement of certain laws, but the enforcement of all laws which include the prohibition law. Office holders who are sympathetic with the liquor traffic; who drink liquor; who close their eyes to liquor violations will not enforce the liquor laws as well as those who are dry in acts as well as words. The dry voters of Orange county must see to it that actual drys are elected to office.

"A majority of the people of Orange County believe in Law Enforcement. Liquor laws should be enforced as well as any other law and it should not be enforced against the Mexicans while others are allowed to violate the law at will.

"If a change is to be made from present day conditions the change will be brought about because of the work of the Church People the women and such organizations as the W. C. T. U. and the Law Enforcement League of Orange county."

STUDY AIR BARRIER

LONDON, July 21.—A party of scientists is now enroute to Greenland from England to survey the enormous ice cap that covers Greenland. It is said that this cap influences flying conditions to such an extent that it makes impossible a regular air service between Europe and America. It is hoped that this obstacle can be overcome and that a regular airline will be established as a consequence.

(Political Advertisement.)

It would seem that I had lost faith in humanity if I felt it necessary to ask the support, at the coming election, of my friends and associates of the past ten years.

Feeling that I am well qualified to serve as Constable I have urged an earnest investigation of all candidates for public office for it is only by past performance that future possibilities are measured.

My hopes for the future is to be of Honorable service.

Yours Sincerely,
BERT E. DAWSON,
Candidate for Constable S. A. Township.

Asserted Check Artist In Jail

Wanted here on a charge of issuing several alleged forged checks, Forrest Conklin, 20, who claims his home is in Battle Creek, Mich., was returned to the county jail last night from Santa Barbara, where he was arrested on information furnished officers there by Sheriff Sam Jernigan.

The man is asserted to have passed eight checks here for small amounts. All were said to have been signed with the name of his former landlady here, Mrs. C. H. Walker, of 514 East Second street. Officers claim all of the signatures were forged.

Conklin resided here several weeks ago, at which time he was a boarder at the home of Mrs. Walker, it was reported.

The prisoner was lodged in the county jail last night by Sheriff Jernigan and Deputy Sheriff Jess Buckles, who returned him from Santa Barbara.

ENDURANCE CONTEST OPENS AT Y.M.C.A.

Among the endurance contests now being carried on all over the land, let there be included a really original one which is in progress at the Y. M. C. A.

This is a ping pong batting contest, and in the eyes of the boys, it has great advantages over tree-sitting and hobby horse riding.

"More action," they say. "There's nothing to this business of just sitting around to kill time. Watch us show skill and get exercise."

The idea struck them Saturday when Joe Ortega and Brooks Wright kept a ping pong ball in motion for four minutes, registering 212 hits. That record stood only a few minutes until Brooks Wright, with Harry Terwilliger as his partner, kept it up for 457 counts in seven minutes.

Later on a new team entered the lists, and Joe Ortega and "Mutt" Duffle set a mark of 650 in 10 minutes.

This morning, the partners shifted again, and "Mutt" and Brooks Wright took the lead with 881 in 11 minutes.

"When do we get our names in the paper?" asked Brooks Wright this morning. "We ought to get in along with these other guys that sit around in trees. And who is going to feed us while we bat the ball?"

Meantime, Ed Gaebe, assistant boys' work secretary, is promising a candy bar to the first team that puts the score over a thousand.

TWO INJURED WHEN MOTORCYCLE SKIDS

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bass, of 1111 South Gage street, Los Angeles, were badly shaken up and cut and bruised at 11 o'clock this morning near Orana, when the motorcycle on which both were riding skidded and overturned on the concrete pavement.

They were taken to the Orange county hospital, where medical aid was given. Neither was able to tell much about the accident and at first were unable to state whether they had been hit by an automobile or not. Later they stated that their motor had skidded.

Mystery Accident Is Investigated By Laguna Officers

An investigation was started by sheriff's officers and Laguna Beach police today, following a report to the effect that a man, severely burned about the legs, had been given medical treatment by a Laguna Beach doctor at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mystery enveloped the case when the man is said to have stated that he was accidentally burned by gasoline. A later report to the effect that the burns looked like powder burns was in the hands of police.

The injured man received medical treatment and disappeared before his name was learned. He was accompanied to the doctor's home by a woman and two other men, it was reported.

The four persons were riding in a car with a Nebraska license plate.

The idea was agreed. Lockwood, who was not at the reunion joined the group later in his pledge of fidelity.

The years passed. Only three comrades were living in 1927. They met in the Auditorium theater here. The seal on the bottle was broken. A toast from the trio to their comrades was drunk, they found the wine had turned to vinegar. The bottle was resealed and returned to its place in the First National bank vault.

Today Lockwood alone held the last meeting of the club. The records will be closed. Records and bottle will be turned over to the Stillwater library, where already the tattered company flag rests.

ATTORNEY ASKS JEWELRY OWNED BY ADELE POST

Declaring that as administrator of the estate of Adele Ritchie Post, prominent Laguna Beach resident, who shot and killed her friend, Doris Murray Palmer, then committed suicide, he suspected W. R. Coy of having concealed in his possession certain rings belonging to the deceased, Moresby White, Laguna Beach attorney today filed in superior court a complaint for a citation from the court requiring a person to be examined as to property under provisions of the code of civil procedure.

Two rings, a diamond set ring and a sapphire ring, "possibly both and perhaps other jewelry," are alleged to be in the possession of Coy, according to the complaint. White bases his allegation on certain papers in the writing of Mrs. Post indicating that Coy had the rings in his possession and also upon information he has received from other sources. He sets forth the fact that Coy has failed to answer letters relating to the matter and asks that he be cited to be examined under oath.

HIT, RUN DRIVER SOUGHT BY POLICE

Sheriff Sam Jernigan today started a search for a big black sedan driven by a man in a dark suit of clothes, which is alleged to have failed to stop, after running down P. C. Paulson, of 1346 East Forty-sixth street, Los Angeles, near San Clemente shortly after midnight.

Paulson was taken to the Orange County hospital, where it was reported that he was severely injured about the legs and ankles.

Paulson had stopped his machine at the side of the road to repair a puncture, when he was struck by the car. The machine did not slow down after the accident, according to reports.

Cupid Victor In Another Victory

D. Cupid wins again.

A volley of blows to the heart resulted in a victory today for that chubby fighter, who has won so many decisions in the past. Principals were Richard F. Burns, 24, native of Canada, clerk, and Florence L. Green, 18, Californian, also a clerk, of Long Beach.

They were issued a marriage license today through the office of County Clerk J. M. Backs, where attendants stated that there had been a veritable barrage of telephone calls from relatives of the girl who were seeking to bar the marriage. There were no objections offered, however, that were legal.

CROWD EXPECTED AT SESSION OF LODGE

Charter member night, to be celebrated tomorrow night by Santa Ana lodge, No. 794, B.P.O.E., is being anticipated by members old and new, as one of the high lights of the year in local Elkdom. All of the charter members of the lodge now residing in the Southland have been invited to dinner as guests of the secretary, E. R. Majors, preceding the regular lodge session beginning at 8 o'clock.

While the dinner party will be confined to charter members alone, the lodge session is expected to draw an unusually large number of members, who will have the pleasure of seeing the manner in which the "old timers" conduct the business, as chairs will be filled by those who held office in the past. Some unique vaudeville has been promised for the entertainment following the session, with refreshments to complete the evening.

The whole affair has been arranged in commemoration of the founding of the local lodge.

Bids On Willard Junior High Will Be Requested Soon

Plans and specifications for the new Frances Willard junior high school plant will not be ready for advertising for another week, it was learned today. The supervising architects, Allison and Allison, of Los Angeles, had previously announced that they expected to have them ready by the 21st. The date now set, according to Elizabeth Phillips, secretary of the Santa Ana board of education, is July 29.

Bids for new work and changes at the Julia Lathrop junior high school, which includes a new cafeteria, new class room unit and remodeling the present cafeteria to provide a music room, are scheduled to be opened by the board at its meeting tomorrow night.

Suit Against Oil Firm Scheduled to Open Tomorrow

The trial of a long list of Costa Mesa property owners who are seeking quiet title to property that had been leased to the Interstate Oil company, and which was scheduled to be heard in superior court today, will be tried before Judge James L. Allen tomorrow. it was announced today by Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel.

Judge Scovel disqualified himself as trial judge for the case, as his office had handled some proceedings in connection with the matter before he was appointed to the bench. The land was leased to the oil company by the property owners for an oil development, and the plaintiffs now claim that provisions of the lease have not been fulfilled.

DRIVE AGAINST AGE LIMIT FOR JOBS LAUNCHED

CHICAGO, July 21.—(INS)—The disquieting tendency recently evident in certain industrial fields to junk the man of forty on the theory that he is ready for the scrapheap was sharply rebuked by business and professional men in a canvass of opinions here.

They denied unanimously that man should be considered fossilized at 40, or as one writer put it "that some magic power converts one on the fortieth birthday into a doddering, antiquated, irascible biped ready for the junk pile."

H. A. Wagner of Chicago, president of the American Association of Enigneers, said:

The professional man and the engineer feel fit as a fiddle at 40. Physically he is healthy and strong, his training has been tested, his education broadened, his judgment improved, his vision enlarged. Such a person has a right to believe he is at the threshold of real accomplishment."

Available facts, however, vouch for a far less encouraging view. They show that among many leading industrial and business men of the country, the man of forty is not considered adaptable, amiable, even-tempered or progressive. His request for a job will be met with cold stares.

Statistics on the subject bring these facts to the forefront:

Out of 5800 persons above 35 who applied for work within eighteen months in a New York employment office only 200 were employed.

Age, not ability, determined hiring and firing in numerous cases.

Fire at 40 but do not hire is the increasing slogan of big business.

America is the only country which makes age discrimination.

Firing rate is greater than the hiring rate.

Chronological age is an inadequate measure of ability.

Wage gain in the last two years is counteracted by unemployment increase.

Mergers and machinery are reducing professional, executive, clerical and industrial workers.

Group insurance and pensions militate against the older worker.

Commenting on the above facts, Mr. Wagner said that the employer who holds that young employes are most stylish also knows they are cheaper.

"But he might add," he asserted, "that they are also inexperienced and immature, undisciplined, changeable and impatient. Young employes are frequently conceited, prejudiced, indifferent, unreasonable, tactless and wasteful."

It was argued that if persons at 40 are not amiable, adaptable and the like, then all diplomats in history should have been young men. The public, according to opinions, relies on age for the fulfillment of weightier tasks, and certainly in many of the professions, such as law, medicine, construction projects and others.

"If this vicious practice is not stopped," it was stated, "and the work span is to be shortened, why spend good billions to increase the life span? If a man cannot get or hold a job after he is forty, why should scientists seek to prolong life? The reverse would be more humane if the last half of life is to be spent in uselessness, idleness and often penury."

Meanwhile, a movement has been put afoot here to put an old-age pension law on the statute books of the state. Efforts are being made to interest the American Federation of Labor in the project.

140,000 ACRES IN LIMAS THIS YEAR

Four out of the five most important varieties of California beans show lighter than average July stocks, according to a bulletin of the California department of agriculture. The bulletin contains also the July crop reports for California beans issued by the California Co-operative Crop Reporting service, as follows:

"The estimated area planted to lima beans this year is about 140,000 acres, of which 95,000 acres are large limas and 45,000 small or baby limas. There is no change in the acreage of large limas from last year, but a 10,000 acre increase in the acreage of baby limas. The condition of all limas at the present time is 81 per cent of normal, the same as one year ago, while the 10-year average is 84.9.

"The area planted to beans other than limas is about 224,000 acres, or 10 per cent greater than the average harvested last year. It is impossible to give an estimate of the area planted to the varieties of beans other than limas, but it appears as though there is a larger acreage of blackeyes and pinks than last year with the acreage of small whites about the same. The condition of beans other than limas was 84 per cent of normal compared with the 10-year average of 84.4."

$43,300 BEING EXPENDED FOR PHONE SERVICE

The Southern California Telephone company is expending approximately $43,300 in adding new switchboard equipment to the Santa Ana office to care for the transfer of the Tustin telephones to the Santa Ana exchange on August 1, and to provide for telephone growth in the exchange for the next 18 months, according to E. S. Morrow, district manager.

The company already has completed at a cost of $25,300 a portion of the project, providing facilities for 1150 additional telephones.

Pointing out that the local switchboard had a capacity of 7050 telephones, Morrow said that the completed equipment makes it possible to care for 8200 phones.

"The Tustin exchange has 384 connections and when the transfer is made on the first of the month subscribers there will be given local service at the regular Santa Ana exchange service rates," Morrow said.

"Plans are now being completed by the telephone company for the installation of another section of switchboard in the Santa Ana office, work on which will commence during the late summer. This equipment will provide facilities for 500 telephones and will be installed at another estimated expenditure of $18,000. It is planned to have the switchboard in service about April 1, 1931.

"Another Orange county telephone project now under way is at Dana Point. Dial equipment which will provide facilities for 125 additional telephones will be installed in the central office there during the late fall. The present Dana Point office has a capacity of 115 telephones and when the new equipment is placed in service the office will be able to care for 240 telephones. The exchange now has more than 56 telephones and the additional equipment will meet the demands of telephone growth for approximately three years."

Council Expected To Order Sign On Boulevard Tonight

It is expected the city council tonight will direct installation at the north end of Santa Ana boulevard of a large sign to identify the new entrance from the north.

The members have been divided to some extent in opinion as to whether a large sign should be strung across the street or a small marker placed on one side of the highway.

Discussions at the last meeting of the city body indicated that a majority of the council would favor the larger sign, and it is anticipated that action tonight will be favorable to the latter.

An arch is not contemplated, it is understood. Investigations since last Monday have revealed that it will be possible to extend lamp standards at each side of the entrance to sufficient height to make it possible for a suspended sign to be placed at the entrance. This will not cost as much as the arch type, the cost for the latter being estimated at approximately $1500.

Search Under Way For Missing Girl

Sheriff Sam Jernigan today started a search for Jeanette Piepenbrink, of 510 South Ross street, Anaheim, who according to a report filed at the sheriff's office, disappeared from her home Saturday afternoon.

Search for the girl was started by members of the family but she was not located and officers were notified yesterday.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

The youth envisions a career for which his schooling is preparing him. The value and significance of much that he has he does his best with it since to study is obscure to him, but his education and experience in the early and middle years determine his fitness for the great tasks ahead. In this sense the school days are a part of the career he dreams of.

The days of a soul on earth are the kindergarten of his life. They are important as fitting him for his later career and as the preliminary part of it.

The great mission you are to fulfill in the larger life is not yet revealed, but you want to be ready for the glorious tasks ahead. Make the most of each day, learning from its sorrow as well as from its joy.

NIEVES—In Santa Ana, July 20, 1930, Enclon Nieves, age 56 years. Funeral services were held at 9 o'clock today at the Guadalupe Catholic church, under the direction of Harrell & Brown. Interment was in Santa Ana cemetery.

CAR OPERATED BY POMONA MAN HITS BICYCLE

Jess Truesheim, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Truesheim, of Laguna avenue, near Nineteenth street, Costa Mesa, was almost instantly killed at 9:35 p. m. Sunday, when he was knocked from the bicycle he was riding by an automobile driven by W. E. Davis of Pomona.

The accident occurred on Newport boulevard near the Harbor Poultry store. The youth suffered a fractured skull and died before he could be taken to the Newport Beach hospital.

According to witnesses, the accident was unavoidable. They reported that young Truesheim was riding along the outer edge of the highway when his bicycle was seen to suddenly turn in towards the traffic and dart in front of the Davis machine. David stopped as soon as possible and rendered aid.

Young Truesheim was on his way home at the time of the accident, riding his bicycle from Newport Beach, where he had been in swimming.

The body was taken to the Grooms and Riesenberg funeral parlors at Costa Mesa, where Coroner Charles D. Brown has called an inquest for 10 a. m. tomorrow. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BOARD TO HEAR LAST PROTESTS ON TAXES TODAY

The activities of the county board of equalization, which is composed of the members of the board of supervisors, comes to a close today. The board has been in session for the past two weeks, meeting daily, as required by law, to hear the protests of any citizens of the county who feel that their tax assessment valuations have not been fair and equitable.

Action is scheduled to be taken by the board before it adjourns this afternoon on the petitions that have been filed during the past two weeks by various taxpayers who feel that the assessments placed on their property should, for one reason or another, be less than the amount set through the office of Assessor James Sleeper. Some 24 petitions had been filed with the board as it undertook its last day's duties.

The number of complaints is regarded by county officials as about the same as in former years. The board does not contemplate any action with reference to Chairman Willard Smith, who stated that such a move would have to be inaugurated by the board in its supervisorial capacity.

Among those who filed petitions with the board were Mrs. F. J. Hawthorn, Costa Mesa; John C. Miles and Lewis B. Joralmon, G. B. Darnell; Consolidated Trading company, limited, owners of Lido isle; Daniel P. Jackson, E. F. Wickersheim, Santa Ana Gardens; John J. Shirley, Fullerton, and Wintersburg Methodist church.

The board also received several matters from Tax Collector J. C. Lamb, concerning properties that had been delinquent for five years and were subject to sale or deed to the state and properties on which penalties had been applied for various reasons not the fault of the taxpayer.

The board is expected to approve the tax assessment roll with but few changes.

R. C. Best Seriously Injured as Machine Hits Phone Pole

Ralph C. Best, Garden Grove man, was seriously injured at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, when the automobile he was driving ran off the road and crashed into a telephone pole near Fifth street and Buaro road.

He was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where it was said today that his condition was serious, but that he would live. Best was riding alone and details of the crash have not been learned. He has been unconscious since the crash.

Best suffered a similar accident several months ago in San Bernardino. His car ran off the road at that time and crashed into a tree.

He was in a San Bernardino hospital for several weeks.

SCOUTS MEET

PLACENTIA, July 21. — Boy Scouts of Troop No. 100 met Friday for the first time since April. Clarence Bradley and Dickey Cox, the latter one of the patrol leaders, have moved away, it was reported. Roy Hill and Albert Queyrel went to Camp Rokili.

The boys were taken by Scoutmaster Claude Glenn to the Anaheim city park where they watched the ball game. Eight boys were present.

BERLIN, July 18.—The German Federal Railway is known as the world's biggest innkeeper. It controls more than 3000 station restaurants, and rules the prices, the types of service and quality of the food.

JUST POLITICS

(Brea Progress)

If the present political campaign accomplishes nothing else, it will still have afforded some of the puerile daily newspapers of Northern Orange county an opportunity to take an occasional broadside at the Santa Ana Register. The Progress holds no brief for the Register, nor do we agree with the Register in many things, but honesty compels us to admit that as a newspaper, the Register is in a class by itself so far as Orange county is concerned and carries more prestige than all other Orange County Dailies combined. In their zeal to provide the smaller communities with a newspaper and overshadow their smaller weekly contemporaries, these dailies that do so much complaining about the Register, have neglected their opportunities at home and have registered a loss of prestige because of the outstanding superiority of the only real Orange County daily.

Some day these skeleton dailies will awaken to the fact that in their endeavor to put the weekly papers of Orange county out of business they are playing directly into the hands of the Register and permitting it to invade their local territory to the extent that there is really little use for the existence of such papers as some of the woozy, wobbly dailies than to print the three-line personals from the smaller cities out in the sticks, as it were.

LAW REVISION DECLARED NEED BY CANDIDATE

Pointing out that he is a graduate of a medical school and that he has been a resident of this vicinity for 37 years, Dr. J. G. Berneike today made his first newspaper announcement of his candidacy for nomination for the office of coroner and public administrator of Orange county at the August primaries.

Dr. Berneike came to Santa Ana in 1893 and practiced for 13 years, when he took up agriculture as a grower of apricots on a ranch at Tustin. In 1917 he moved to a 10-acre ranch located between Garden Grove and Anaheim, where he set out an orange orchard and engaged also in the commercial poultry business. His higher education was obtained at Vermont and Long Island college hospital, Brooklyn.

The candidate commented on the point that in the larger cities men with medical knowledge are chosen for coroner.

Dr. Berneike declares that if he is elected he will work for revision of laws which he believes unjust to heirs.

Pointing out that he at one time served Santa Ana for two years as health officer, and that by reason of his direction of health matters saved the city considerable money in the operation of smallpox camps, the candidate said that old timers would recall that he started and led a campaign for the lowering of high electric and gas rates in this city. He said one company owned both utilities, charging 12 cents per kilowatt hour for electricity and $2.00 per 1000 cubic feet for gas. As a result of the campaign the electric rate was cut to 8 cents, with a promise by the company that it would build a new and modern gas plant and reduce the price to $1.25 per cubic feet, with a further reduction later to $1.00. The gas plant on East First street is the outgrowth of the campaign, he asserted.

"Public office for public service, not for private graft," is the slogan of this candidate.

With six girls and five boys bunched at the top in the Santa Ana Register-Fox West Coast theaters popularity contest, the battle for votes goes into its fourth week today.

The biggest gain since the last counting of votes was made by Miss Corinne Pennington, who jumped from fourth place in the girls' list to second place, just a few votes behind the leader. Miss Pennington now has a total of 341,400, almost double the vote she had at the mid-week count.

In the boys' division, Mario Mercurio continues to lead with the largest number of votes in the contest. Norman Paul continues to run second, making a big gain since the last count, while Everett Conkright made the biggest improvement, moving into third place. Robert Naylon and Ted Newcomb also are very much in the race.

With the anouncement made Saturday that extra votes would be given for the sale of scrip books by the Fox theaters, a $10 book bringing the contestants 25,000 votes and a $5 book a total of 10,000 votes, spirited voting was expected this week and from now until the end of the contest on August 24.

Contestants can procure votes by selling tickets to the theater in the form of scrip and the scrip can be counted again when it is presented as tickets at the door of the theater.

A $10 book will sell for $9.50 and a $5 book will sell for $4.50, Norman Sprowl, Fox theaters manager said.

MYSTERY BLAZE DESTROYS LACY ST. APARTMENTS

A mysterious fire completely destroyed the four-apartment dwelling at 801 Lacy street at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The property is owned by William E. Murphy, of Artesia, according to firemen.

The fire started in the south front room on the lower floor and quickly spread to all parts of the house. When firemen arrived the blaze was completely out of control, and by the time several streams of water had been thrown on it and the fire checked, the apartment house was a mass of ruins.

There were no families living in any of the apartments and firemen therefore are anxious to know how the fire started.

The apartment house had been condemned for the past 30 days, it was reported. The health department closed the building, forcing one family to leave it and it has not been occupied since that time, according to Boyd Sleeper, fire marshal. The health department condemned the building because of sanitary conditions, Sleeper said.

The total loss will not exceed $3000, according to Sleeper.

The apartment house is the same one which caught fire five years ago and was almost destroyed. At that time police and firemen found 26 sticks of dynamite, several guns and cartridges in one of the apartments and at that time there was some mystery regarding the origin of the blaze. As in the fire of yesterday morning, the blaze started in an unoccupied apartment. The dynamite was confiscated by officers but no one ever called for it.

Asserted Threats Result In Arrest Of Riverside Man

Elbert Hennessee, 34, a soldier from March field, Riverside, was arrested by Officers Perry and Dean yesterday and is being held in the county jail on suspicion of a felony.

Officers said that the man threatened some of his relatives after an argument at their house yesterday. He was lodged in the jail at 6:45 p. m.

Police News

One man was charged with possession of liquor and another with being drunk, following their arrest at La Habra yesterday by Constable William Tremaine. C. Ramériz, of La Habra, had a small amount of liquor on his person, it was reported, and Ben Luma, also of La Habra, was drunk. Both were brought to the county jail here.

Manuel Avalos, 29, of El Modena, was arrested by George Bartley, Orange constable, yesterday. The prisoner was lodged in the county jail on a drunk charge.

An automobile, owned by J. R. Stitchman, of 415 South Lemon street, Anaheim, was reported stolen from an Anaheim street early last night.

Police were called to the home of F. R. Jordan, 1620 West Third street, last night to search for a prowler, reported seen in the neighborhood. The man was not found.

Police made a search in the vicinity of 1106 Fruit street last night for an automobile, reported to contain three Mexicans, who were asserted to have bothered two Santa Ana girls. The car was not found.

Expecting to find a battle in progress at Lincoln avenue and Washington avenues at 6:20 o'clock last night, following a riot call, police officers found the intersection deserted. They learned, however that several Mexicans were at the place earlier and that one of them had flourished a pistol.

T. Kodana, 51, of 293 Sullivan street, Santa Ana, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter near Talbert last night on a drunk charge. Carter reported that he found Kodana asleep in a field.

Three men were arrested at 7 o'clock this morning on drunk charges. William Boldt, 21, Fred Robinson, 21 and Harry Willer, 21, all of Long Beach, were those arrested. They were found in a machine at Seventeenth and Flower streets by City Motorcycle Officer Ed Lentz.

HOLD INQUEST FOR DROWNING VICTIM

An inquest will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Grooms and Riesenberg chapel for Fred W. Schultz, who was drowned early Friday morning in Newport harbor, where he was employed as a dredger.

Schultz is believed to have been the victim of an epileptic fit and an autopsy held Saturday revealed that death was caused by drowning. Schultz had lived on a fishing boat in Newport for the past several months and his body was recovered two hours from the time he was missed from his place on the dredger.

The dredger was owned by the Newport Beach Boat Builders and was operated by A. R. Sparks and R. W. McClellan.

Funeral arrangements will be made on the arrival of the dead man's brother, who resides in South Dakota.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, July 21.—England's smokiest city is said to be Newcastle-on-Tyne. More than 900 tons of dust, ash and tar settle on a square mile of this city every year. Burnley and Rochdale rank second and third, while the big city of London ranks fourth.

his Doctor's Verdict...at 40

"You have an 'after 40' ailment that 6 out of 10 are afflicted with. Too bad you must leave business just as success comes to you. But you must...forget work for a year."

THE peak of success in business begins at 40, with the average man. So too comes the turning point in health, the age when wear and tear of life begins to take its toll. Over half of men equipped to reach the top, fail because of breakdown in health, statistics show.

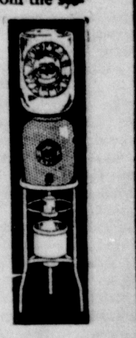
Doctors now trace the cause, in many cases, to kidney breakdown. Over half of men and women are affected. Many without knowledge, for there are no warning symptoms.

The cause they give is this: 75% of poisonous waste from the system is excreted by kidneys, much in too concentrated form. Overburdened, delicate kidney cells break down. Congestion occurs, throwing poisons back into the system...the beginning of many serious ills.

Doctors now prescribe 6 glasses daily of Puritas distilled drinking water (mineral-free) to flush kidneys in the most efficient way. Puritas dilutes and carries off concentrated waste matter, without leaving congestion-forming mineral deposits.

Puritas is scientifically distilled and aerated, water in its purest state. Though its taste seems different at first, each drink you'll increasingly enjoy.

Guard against the prevalent after 40 health breakdown. Drink Puritas each day.



Phone Santa Ana 1898 and Puritas will be delivered to your home anywhere in Southern California. A Puritas iceless cooler furnished free.

TILDEN TO PLAY AGAINST FRANCE

Stars Meet Fullerton, Anaheim This Week

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Charley Whiteside, Harvard's rowing coach, says all this talk about the stroke winning races is the bunk. . . . The only winning stroke or system in crew racing, says Charley, is the crew. . . . Victorio Campolo wants to fight Jack Sharkey in Boston in September. . . . Trees grow in some of the bunkers at Pebble Beach. . . Walter Hagen is near the bottom of the starting sheets in the National Open. The witties of the golfing legion are said to be Jock Hutchinson and Alec Campbell. George Von Elm is one of the richest of the amateur golfers. . . . Among the pros, Leo Diegel and Harry Cooper are the fastest walkers. . . . Clarence De Mar, the Boston marathoner, has covered 2323 miles in his 179 races. . . . And he aims to run that many more.

HURRAH! I WAS RIGHT!

I was all wrong about Whichone being the horse that would beat Gallant Fox, and I erred just a trifle in expressing publicly the belief that Jack Sharkey would beat Max Schmeling very quickly. But I was right about the New York Yankees and that's something.

Last spring I gained the impression at St. Petersburg that the Yanks had changed for the better, somehow, and would be a fighting ball club. They did take their baseball a bit laconically last year, if you remember. The daily workouts in the spring suggested that the boys had just begun to find out they were being beaten and were going to do something about it. The something they were going to do was fight.

They have justified that opinion. Every game they play these days is a battle. They are positively hostile.

THE GREAT MAN

The Babe is leading the attack. Up to the day when he tore off his fingernail in trying to snag a drive out of the stands, he played the game as he never played before. He already has earned his $80,000 for this year, I think, in the quality of aggressiveness he has helped to build up in the team.

The day after his injury, he went right back in there again. You can't scoff at this as an effort to do a Frank Merriwell. When the Babe is sincere he is simply great.

And he demonstrated his sincerity a day or so later when his injury kept him on the bench. For the first time since 1923 when he cast aspersions into Tommy Connolly's ears and dirt into the umpire's eyes, the Babe broke loose with a tirade at an umpire. Fiercely he objected to Brick Owens' judgment of balls and strikes. The Brick had to order him to scram from the premises to save his eardrums. A 3-day suspension was meted out as punishment.

THANKS FOR THE LIFT

It was called a punishment but in reality it was a reward. Those Yankees are fighting mad now and deadly dangerous. The Babe's suspension didn't mean a great deal as a penalty to Ruth because he would have been out anyway with that torn finger. But it did mean a great deal in that it aroused the Yankees to a fury.

Washington may win the American league pennant this year, as the Senators appear right now to be a better ball club than the Athletics. But both of those teams are going to have to fight right down the home stretch. The power in the Yankee bats has been augmented by what the college yell leaders call "fight, fight, fight!"

Washington or Philadelphia may win the American league pennant. But not without some unpleasantness, my dear people, not without a brawl.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

SALVESON CLUB TO TRAVEL FOR BOTH CONTESTS

One of the irritating things about being ahead of anything, whether the bill collector or merely an opponent in baseball, is the necessity of staying that way and for that reason the Santa Ana Stars were still troubled today, despite their full two-game lead in the National Night league.

Herb Salveson's curfew buddies cavort on foreign fields twice this week and one of their assignments sends them against the Valencias of Anaheim, a chief championship contender and the keenest rival in the Stars' firmament.

Santa Ana goes to the Anaheim playground Friday night for what will just about bring the second half title here if the Stars win.

Sometimes Dangerous

This might be considered a "touch" were it not for an annoying habit of "Bus" Callan's cohorts in playing inspired baseball every so often, and fairly breaking the hearts of near-champions.

That is just what Fullerton did against Whittier.

The Nite Hawks actually beat the first half titleholders the opening night of the second round. Last Friday, Callan's gang played their heads off against Whittier again but a home run in the eighth inning by Pitcher Lloyd Johnson nosed them out, 1 to 0.

Santa Ana knows the Anaheim scuffle will be tough. It fears the Fullerton fracas will be that way, too.

Price May Pitch

Salveson probably will use his slow ball wizard, Ray Price, against Fullerton in order to give the iron man of his staff, Joe Cornelius, a week's rest before the Anaheim brush. If Price gets the nod it will be his first start since the Long Beach game of June 13. Price opposed Fullerton once this season and had an easy time breezing through to victory as his mates pounded out a lot of runs for him in the early innings.

There will be a lot of shooting all over the Peterkin chain this week.

Poets Play Acorns

La Habra, the other contender, should have no trouble with Huntington Beach.

La Habra and Whittier, old rivals, clash Friday night. This is a toss-up but local fandom will be pulling for a Whittier victory. Other games Friday are Garden Grove at Olive; Long Beach at Fullerton; Huntington Beach at Orange.

SANTA ANA "BEES" TO PLAY THREE TIMES

Kenneth Sturzenger's Santa Ana Shell Bees will play three games this week and what happens in two of them will decide the championship status in the Orange County "B" league, now rapidly drawing to a close.

The Shells go to Olive tonight, with Gene Hitt scheduled to take the firing line. Olive gave the Santa Anans a terrific battle the last time the teams met. Orange and Westminster meet at Westminster in another "B" league tussle.

Friday they meet Newport Harbor here.

The following Friday Santa Ana meets Westminster in the Bowl.

RACING DOGS USED

"Scotty" Allen's famous team of Alaskan huskies, dogs that won the difficult Nome sweepstakes two years in succession, are being used by Paramount in "The Spoilers."

City League Tied Champs Plan Playoff

A three-game series between the two teams that tied for first place will determine the disputed championship of the first half of the Santa Ana City Night Baseball league, President Kenneth Morrison announced today.

Carlyle Dennis, skipper of the Dennis Printers, and Franklin Nickey, leader of the Orange County Builders' exchange, have agreed to play their first game as the second half of a double-header Thursday, July 31.

The second set-to will be played a week later, Thursday, August 7, also the second game.

If a third contest is necessary to decide the title it will be conducted Thursday, August 14.

The Printers and Builders completed the first half of their schedule with seven victories as against two defeats.

CHAVEZ, REESE PAIRED TO BOX HERE THURSDAY

Zenaydo Chavez and "Fighting Joe" Reese, rivol Santa Ana Mexican welterweights, signed articles to box a 10-round main event at the Orange County Athletic club Thursday night, according to announcement by Promoter-Matchmaker H. T. Foust.

District fistic followers have long wanted the youngsters paired and since both have large and loyal followings about the city their first meeting promises to do a land office business.

Chavez is in fine condition again after an extended layoff because of eye trouble. He fought a special event at the Olympic Tuesday night and the fight stole the whole show which featured Les Kennedy and Max Baer.

Reese has just returned home here from Las Vegas, Nev., where he beat Indian Johnny Smith in a main event Wednesday, one night after winning a bout at San Bernardino. Reese motored all night to keep the Las Vegas appointment.

Frankie Bolt and Urban Hernandez will appear in chief support of the Santa Ana main-eventers. They are lightweights. Hennandez is a Placentia Mexican of more than ordinary ability. In Boldt he is facing a cagy veteran, one of the front flight Southern California 135-pounders. Boldt and Hernandez will travel six rounds.

"Spike" Harvey and Mickey Thomas, welters, clash in the special event, another six-rounder. Thomas, a Seal Beach boy, was pulled off last week's card at the last minute.

Curtis Williams New Junior Champ

Williams played a uniform game throughout, having a score of 76 for each of the 18 holes, while Sangster, the medalist, cracked badly in the second 18.

BROOKLYN, CUBS BOTH LOSE; A'S INCREASE AMERICAN LEAD

NEW YORK, July 21.—The New York Giants have narrowed the gap between their third place position in the National league and the leading Brooklyn Robins and the Chicago Cubs. The Giants beat the Cubs yesterday but the Robins also lost, dropping a sloppy game to the St. Louis Cards.

The Cubs, although losing, more than kept pace with the Robins, for Chicago is now three percentage points back of Brooklyn. The Cubs were four points behind after Saturday's games.

The Giants turned in a 13-5 victory over Chicago, collecting 17 hits off Bush, Shealy, Nelson and Moss.

Brooklyn's Robins fell under a 15-6 score in their game with the Cards. St. Louis scored seven runs in the second. It was the second successive on which the Robins lost before a home crowd.

Philadelphia's Athletics improved their hold on first place in the American league, winning over Detroit, 5-3.

The other American leaders, Washington and New York, were defeated. The Cleveland Indians topped the Yanks by 9-8, while the seventh place St. Louis Browns won by a 8-6 over the Senators.

Three New York homers, two by Lou Gehrig, and one by Babe Ruth, were wasted.

The Chicago White Sox soared upwards by winning twice over Boston. The first game was easy and the score was 16-4. The second game score was 5-4.

DON'T PITY THE GUYS IN THE 'BULLPEN'

"Bullpen" life isn't as monotonous for the reserve catcher as you may think. Chances are the fans who watch the games from grandstand seats never give them a thought, except possibly to catch the name of the pitcher warming up to relieve Whoozis, who has been bombarded all over the lot. You'd be surprised what goes on there. Read Claire Burcky's story below.

BY CLAIRE BURCKY
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

"Didja ever hear the one about the farmer's daughter at the band concert? You haven't? Well, you see this gal——."

Maybe you'd like to hear the story. If you would, I suggest that you get Benny Bengough or Grover Hartley or Roger Bresnahan or Cy Perkins to tell you. Any of those fellows now doing duty in the major league "bullpens" can tell it. They know a lot more good ones, too. They've got a better line of stories than the traveling salesman who used to make Springfield and stop at the Empire the first of every month.

The everyday life of a catcher who stands 'way out there in a corner of the field and lets pitcher after pitcher throw baseballs at him for half the afternoon seems to us like the most monotonous kind of toil.

Place For Rest, Meditation

You'd be surprised if you knew what goes on out there. Yes sir, the bullpen in a major league park is a most interesting spot. As Benny Bengough remarks, "It's a fine place for rest and meditation."

Rest and meditation aren't the only things the boys find in the "bullpen." Stories, laughs, ice cream, pop, card games and, in some instances sleep, keeps their minds off the ball game more than you'd suspect. They hear little and care less for the excitement, the howling and the cheers as the baseball bugs in the stands go nutty over this home run or that shoestring catch.

Bresnahan Smokes Cigars

Roger Bresnahan, the former Giant star and now "bullpen" catcher for Detroit, sits in a rocking chair in the Tigers' bullpen. He always takes a cigar out there with him and lights it up to smoke in contentment through the first inning or two. If it looks like a nice quiet game, he takes a nap.

Only a few days ago in Yankee stadium, Roger's little nap caused quite a furor in the Tiger dugout. "Bucky" Harris swore with emphasis for several minutes.

As it happened Roger began his nap after noting that all seemed well and quiet. Shortly things began to happen. Yankee hits exploded all over the pasture. The ringing of the "bullpen" telephone continued merrily. Finally the receiver came down.

Also Takes Naps

"Say, whatinell's the matter out there, Raj? Why don't you answer the phone?" came Harris' irate voice from the other end.

"I ain't Raj, I'm Benny," answered Bengough meekly.

"Well, where'd Raj go?"

"He's taking a nap. Shall I wake him?"

Bucky Harris hasn't cooled off yet.

"Dutch Henry, the White Sox pitcher, is a hound for pinochle and takes his pinochle deck to the "bullpen" with him every time. This was at the stadium, too.

An SOS from the Sox dugout came just as Ditch had made a 350 bid, melded his hand and started to play for the points needed.

Yank Pitcher Finishes Hand

QUALIFYING IN WESTERN GOLF TOURNEY BEGUN

CHICAGO, July 21.—The greatest field of golfing stars the event ever has drawn teed off today in the Western amateur tournament, seeking to wrest from Don Moe the championship which the Portland, Ore., youth won last year.

The field included all of America's leading "non profit" players and two of England's best, besides a horde of dark horses and near stars who brought the number of players to 200.

Although there wasn't an outstanding favorite on the course, there were half a dozen names prominently mentioned.

Among these were the two Englishmen, Cyril Tolley and T. Philip Perkins, each of whom has won the amateur championship of his own country. Perkins also was once runner up to Bobby Jones in this country.

Moe, by virtue of his holding the title, is not required to qualify and will not play until he and 31 others, the qualifiers, tee off Wednesday morning.

Today and tomorrow will be devoted to qualifying rounds, 18 holes being played each day. The lowest 31 and Moe then will begin the match play, which will end next Saturday.

ENCINITAS IN DECISIVE WIN OVER ANAPAUMA

Shelling the offerings of Danny Velasquez and Al Encinas hither and yon in the Orange County Fair grounds baseball orchard, Encinitas, champion of the Inter-County league, scored a decisive 13 to 1 victory over Anapauma Rancho yesterday.

The visitors knocked Velasquez out of the box in the sixth and greeted Encinas most cordially, Gabranski propelling one of his first curves over the fence.

While the Anapauma pitchers were proving ineffective, Pierson, Encinitas' ace gunner, was holding D. Eyman Huff's crowd to five hits.

SHAMROCK V BEGINS LONG TRIP TO U. S.

The racing yacht was in tow of the sea magnate's steam yacht Erin.

Unfavorable winds and threats of a gale last week caused Captain Ned Heard, skipper of the Shamrock V, to half the trip until conditions were more favorable. He declared he would not attempt to make a hurried trip, preferring to cross the ocean in comfortable time.

The trim little craft will unfurl her own sails as soon as the open ocean is reached, but the Erin will remain alongside during the entire trip. She expects to arrive at Newport fully a month before the races begin.

Alexander Is Released By Dallas Club

DALLAS, Tex., July 21.—The unconditional release of Grover Cleveland Alexander, pitcher, was announced today by Vice President Bob Tarleton of the Dallas Texas league club.

Alexander wrenched his knee in the game with Wichita Falls Sunday and will be incapacitated for several weeks.

Tarleton announced that "places on the club roster are too valuable to be taken up by players who are unable to help the team."

Previously Alexander had been given a temporary suspension for breaking training rules.

TWIN BILL ON CITY LEAGUE'S SKED TONIGHT

Three baseball clubs which survived all whole the first week of the second half of their split schedule will see action in a Santa Ana City league double-header at the Bowl tonight.

The first half of the twin bill, beginning at 6:45, pairs the Peek market with the Auto Club of Orange County. Although they finished in the second division of the first half race, the Butchers looked impressive mowing down the Builders' exchange last week. The Clubmen lost a close opener to the Richfield Oil company Wednesday.

Both organizations are considerably improved for the second half chase. Frank ("Red") Angell will pitch for the Butchers. Ed Perry or Everett Berry will get the call for the Auto Club.

Richfield Oil and the Excelsior Creamery company, both undefeated, collide in the afterpiece which gets under way at 8:15. Fred Miller is scheduled to hurl for the Oilers, "Tex" Bergman for the Excelsiors.

Other games this week follow:

Wednesday—Courthouse vs. Pacific Telephone company, 6:45 p. m.; American Legion vs. Dennis Printers, 8:15 p. m.

Thursday—Eastern Oil vs. Orange County Builders' exchange.

WEST'S PRIZE DOGS WIN NEW VICTORIES

District Attorney Z. B. West's collection of Scotch terriers triumphed again over the dogs benched by other breeders of the species in the big dog show held at Santa Barbara Saturday and Sunday.

Blue ribbons taken by the West dogs were:

First in American bred dogs, Peterkin of Malibu; first open dogs, Heather Ambassador; best dog, Heather Ambassador; first open bitches, Miracle of Malibu; best bitch, Miracle of Malibu; best terrier, Miracle of Malibu. The latter dog also placed as best Scotch terrier in the show and as second best dog in show.

The best brace of dogs was also won by West with Miracle and Champion Lady Bug of Malibu, and the best terrier team ribbon was carried off by his team of Miracle, Lady Bug, Heather Ambassador and Peterkin. The latter team also took a special prize as the best team in the show.

Keen competition in the terrier show was put up against West by Mrs. S. H. Amigo of Berkeley, who has been one of the most serious contenders for honors in many previous shows.

Berry, Carter Tie At S. A. Sweet Club

Mel Morga, with 22, was second. Other scores were Charles Jackson, 21; Theo. Reuter, 20; Allen Mandy, 18; Carl Baker, 10, and Max Fulton, 16.

VETERAN WILL TAKE PLACE ON U. S. NET TEAM

BY L. S. CAMERON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 21.—Big Bill Tilden, whose cannon-ball service made its entry into Davis cup competition in 1920, will take his place among the United States' entries this week-end in the challenge round against France.

Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the Davis cup committee announced last night at Philadelphia, that Tilden had been released from his contact with two news syndicates which called for him to write current articles of the challenge round play and that he would play on the United States team.

Thus the long arm of the veteran Davis cup player has again been made available for competition which is hoped to bring the historic cup back from France. A tennis rule forbids a player to write "spot" news stories of a competition in which he is taking part, and it was this rule which had threatened to keep the lanky Philadelphian from this year's competition.

Wear said that at no time did the committee consider waiving the player-writer rule. However, the committee did waive another rule which will permit Tilden to write of the practice periods of the United States players.

U. S. CAPTAIN DECLINES TILDEN COMMENT

PARIS, July 21.—Fitz-Eugene Dixon, non-playing captain of the United States Davis cup team, declined to comment today on reports from the United States that William Tilden would play in the challenge round between France and the United States.

"You'll have to wait until 5:30 p. m. today when the draw will be made," Dixon said.

LOTT WINS BUT ALLISON LOSES TO ITALY

ani of Italy, and Baron Humpert De Morpurgo of Italy won over Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., in singles matches of the interzone Davis cup finals here Sunday.

The matches had no bearing on the outcome of the final which had been won Saturday with two singles and one double victory.

Lott won his match by 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, in the most one-sided contest of the finals. De Morpurgo won by 7-5, 6-2, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4.

The United States will play France in the challenge round this week.

Fathers and Sons Vie In Semi-Finals

Semi-final matches will be played at the Santa Ana Country club this week in the Father-and-Sons' golf tournament in which quarter-finals were completed yesterday.

Walter Vandermast and son, Newell, who defeated Norman Hoyle and son, Winton, will play L. R. Kennedy and Donald, who beat E. K. Gerhardt and Carl. In the other bracket, B. V. and Elmer Curry will meet J. L. Ainsworth and Milo. The Currys defeated W. F. and William Kistinger while the Ainsworths eliminated T. B. and Tim Talbert.

Medal play results yesterday follows: Class A—B. Z. Kinney, 75-10-65; E. T. Mateer, 85-12-73; C. R. Furr, 87-14-73. Class B—A. G. Flagg, 90-22-68; B. J. MacMullen, 88-18-70; M. B. Wellington, 91-20-71; Dr. E. H. Rowland, 94-22-72; Milburn Harvey, 92-20-72.

Match play results of Saturday follow: Class A—M. M. Thompson and C. R. Furr, one down; Jack Meiss, F. E. Farnsworth and G. B. Shattuck, two down. Class B—J. L. Wehrly, one down; Franklin G. West, A. G. Flagg and G. A. Oliver, two down.

Costa Mesa Land Changes Owners

COSTA MESA, July 21.—Robert Martin, a former resident of New Mexico, has purchased the F. O. Ross building on Newport boulevard through S. B. Vinson of North Costa Mesa.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson of Santa Monica bought three lots on El Modino avenue and Fourteenth street through Mrs. Belle Greschner of the Russell Realty firm. This property is near the new high school under construction. The Johnson's plan to build a little later.

Mrs. Greschner rented the Henry N. Miner property on Victoria street to Mr. and Mrs. Wickner of Santa Monica for a few months, while Mr. and Mrs. Minor and daughters accompanied by Alfred Minor, wife and family of Fullerton, tour the states of California, Oregon, Washington and possibly southern Canada.

The L. L. Elliott house and chicken ranch with all its equipment on Irvine street, has been rented by Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe of Balboa. Mr. and Mrs. H. Crandall of Newport Beach rented a house on Laguna street.

FARM BUREAU SPEECH GIVEN THIS EVENING

Another farm bureau talk will be delivered over KREG tonight at 7 o'clock. The weekly speeches have been very popular with listeners.

From 4 to 5 o'clock today Inez Moore will conduct the children's hour. The Shoppers' guide, with music, will follow at 5 o'clock, lasting until 5:45 o'clock.

Alan Revill, well known Santa Ana musician, will present an organ recital by remote control from the First Congregational church. This feature will be on the air from 6 to 6:30 o'clock.

Following the organ recital Margaret Vanderwolf, Santa Ana vocalist, will sing. The farm bureau talk will follow from 7 to 7:15 o'clock. Gene Thiele, banjo artist, will be on the air from 7:15 to 7:30 o'clock, with Elwood Bear's pupils in a program from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Margaret J. Buttree's studio talent will be on the air from 8 to 8:30 o'clock, with Harry Jensen, tenor, from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. The Union Mutual Life Insurance company program is booked for 9 o'clock. Those three boys will be on the air from 9:15 to 10 o'clock.

NEW RADIOS ARRIVE HERE

Four New Features of Philco Radio Win Public Favor

The eagerly awaited new Philco radios havs arrived in the Southland. Four brand new features, tone control, station recording dial, automatic volume control and screen grid plus, bring radio enthusiasts an entirely new thrill in radio performance. Philco radios are distributed in Santa Ana by the Luther Radio company at 323 West Fourth street.

After carefully inspecting these latest radio models, the public will enthusiastically agree, radio values are higher than at any other time in the history of the industry—more new desirable features at new greatly lowered prices.

Tone control, acclaimed radio's newest miracle by radio engineers, enables the operator to use his own personal touch to secure the finest reception from each radio program. Now through Philco's tone control, four positions of tone quality, brilliant, bright, mellow, deep, enable the user to instantly change the tonal pitch of the program to suit his individual taste and mood. Also stations which come in harshly in poor locations, or are marred by "interference," may be thoroughly enjoyed by simply turning the tone control to mellow or deep. Thus many additional fine programs are made available.

Philco's new illuminated station recording dial is designed so that favorite stations may be permanently logged and tuned in quickly and easily.

'BROKEN BOXES' DISCUSSED BY PASTOR SUNDAY

Kindness and good deeds were emphasized in the sermon, "Broken Boxes," preached by the Rev. R. W. Harlow, pastor of the First United Brethren church, yesterday. The sermon was based on the incident in the life of Christ when He was annointed with the contents of the alabaster box, broken by Mary.

"As Jesus was making His last journey to Jerusalem," the pastor said, "He stopped at the house of Simon, the leper, in Bethany. His ministry of service and sacrifice was fast drawing to a close and the shadow of the cross darkened His path.

"As He sat at meat in the house of Simon for the last time there came one to Him with a box of very costly ointment and poured it upon His head. The room was filled with perfume. Mary's alabaster box was in a very beautiful and wonderful way a box of kindness. There are many reasons why this is so. Was not Mary showing a great kindness when she poured the ointment on the Saviour's head? Did He not look upon the deed of that loving soul as an act of kindness? Did not the Savious say 'She hath wrought a good work on Me? She hath done this for My burial.' Selfishness in the disciples said, 'Why this waste? For this ointment might have been sold for much and given to the poor.' But Jesus answered and said, 'Ye have the poor with you always; but Me ye have not always.'

"Selfishness always questions any worthwhile thing done for the Master. Let us break our alabaster boxes of deeds of kindness everywhere we go. President McKinley was a man who used his box of kindness in this way. During one of his congressional campaigns he was followed from place to place by an unfriendly newspaper reporter. One night he took a closed cab to a nearby town where he was to speak. While passing along he heard a cough that betrayed ill health and at once guessed that the reporter was riding wit hthe driver. He ordered the carriage stopped, got out and ordered the reporter to get down. Thinking that the day of vengence had come, the unfriendly scribe alighted, but he was somewhat surprised to hear Mr. McKinley say, as he took off his overcoat, 'Here, put this on and get into the carriage.' 'But,' protested the reporter, 'I guess you don't know who I am. I have been with you in this whole campaign, giving it to you every time you spoke, and I am going over tonight to rip you to pieces if I can.' 'I know,' said Mr. McKinley, 'but you put on this coat and get inside and get warm and you can do a better job.' It is doubtful if he did as good a job that night. Kind words and deeds never die.

"We should not wait for people to die before we pour our perfume of kindness on their heads. Flowers of kindness upon the casket are nice, but deeds of kindness count for much more."

HAVE RIFLE PRACTICE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—The Long Beach rifle company of the National Guard spent Saturday and Sunday at Huntington Beach, pitching camp at the municipal baseball park Saturday night. Rifle practice was enjoyed at a point on the Santa Ana river where a high bluff served as a natural block for the target range.

Hymn Service Is Staged By Church Group On Sunday

A departure from the usual church service featured the evening worship at the First Methodist church last evening. Instead of a sermon the congregation participated in the hour with a hymn service, Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor, told the stories of the hymns and the members of the congregation sang. The service was greatly enjoyed.

Baptismal service and reception of new members into the church constituted the program during the morning worship hour, with Dr. Warmer in charge.

FIVE DIVORCE PLEAS GRANTED IN COURT HERE

A man and four women were awarded interlocutory decrees of divorce Friday afternoon in superiro court after Judge James L. Allen had heard the stories of the plaintiffs in the five cases. Defendants in each instance failed to appear.

Desertion was the basis on which George M. Brown secured his decree from Elizabeth H. Brown. They had lived together almost four years before his wife deserted him in April, 1929, he said.

Marian Hackney told the court that Cameron Hackney, whom she married in May, 1929, failed to provide for her and that she was forced to live on the charity of friends and relatives. They separated some seven months after their marriage, she said. She was given a decree.

Desertion and cruelty were charges made by Noemie Romero in securing her decree from Sylvester Romero. They had been married six years when they separated in 1929.

Blanche McDonald, who married Frank R. McDonald on April 9, 1929, and separated from him on May 22, 1929, charged her mate with cruel and inhuman treatment, and was given a divorce.

After a marriage in September, 1902, Clara L. Crow was deserted by Bertram Crow in June, 1927, she told Judge Allen in placing evidence on the record that resulted in getting a divorce.

JONES SENTENCED ON THEFT CHARGE

Finding E. L. Jones, of Anaheim, guilty on a charge of petty theft and obtaining money under false pretenses, Judge Frank Tausch, of Anaheim, sentenced Jones to six months in the county jail yesterday.

Mrs. Hattie E. T. Warner, 506 East Broadway, Anaheim, who is an invalid, testified that Jones came to her home and sold her a lot in Lynwood for C. W. Rice. She stated that she was unable to make $200 in payments and that Jones took her note. Jones later discount the note at the Interstate Finance company in Santa Ana, telling George F. Munro, manager, that he got it as a real estate commission, according to the testimony.

Deputy District Attorney Leo J. Friis represented the people and pointed out the alleged discrepancies of Jones' story. After Judge Tausch found the defendant guilty, Jones waived time for pronouncement of sentence.

HAMMER IN GERMANY

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21. — Captain Haakon Hammer and his wife Adelheid are at present in Germany, according to word received in the Spanish village. Captain Hammer, called to Denmark to settle up his father's estate, went to Germany to attend a meeting of the Olympic committee as he is trying to land teams for the South Coast communities as training sites for the Los Angeles contest in 1932.

ACTIVITIES OF OFFICE TOLD IN CLASS ADDRESS

Speaking on the work of the district attorney's office and the difficulties that are encountered, Sam L. Collins, deputy district attorney spoke yesterday morning before the Men's Community Bible class at the Fox-West Coast theater. Collins was introduced to the members of the class by Col. M. B. Wellington, prominent Santa Ana attorney, who told of Collins' service during the World war, and of his interest in boys' work and veterans' welfare work.

Collins pointed out some matters of jurisprudence and procedure that he felt should be changed, and commented on some interesting cases that had come to his attention in the office. He said that under the law a person who has been damaged by another person can get damages totaling an amount that would literally confiscate the property of the person responsible for the injury with only a nine to three jury vote, but that to secure a conviction for speeding there must be a unanimous vote of all 12 jurors. He declared that the law should be changed to provide a majority vote binding in criminal cases and referred to the time an attempt was made in an election to have this change made, but it was defeated. Collins also asserted that under rules of procedure the district attorney is not permitted to tell a jury during a trial of the prior conviction of the man under trial.

"The prosecution of cases constitutes only about one-fourth of the activities of the district attorney's office," the deputy said. "He is also corporation attorney for the $19,000,000 corporation of Orange county. It is also his duty to act as attorney for all public corporations in the county, such as school and sanitary districts. He is also counsel for all public officials of the county and sits with the board of supervisors and board of equalization to see that their acts are in accordance with the law.

"Some attorneys stress the fact of the high percentage of convictions secured by a district attorney as being of first importance. This is very important, but I believe that office should be more concerned with a high percentage of justice. There are cases under the law, where a person in California as accessory is held equally guilty with the principal in a crime and where he could probably get a conviction but where in some cases it might result in an innocent man going to prison. The office has one investigator whose duty it is to secure information to aid the office in handling cases after they are started.

"There are many interesting cases that come before the office that require a large amount of work and there are many that reveal the grief of life. There is a large number of complaints resulting from domestic trouble. There are many things that can be done in the office of the district attorney that make it desirable for a young attorney to have. It provides experience that will aid him in law practice later.

"The men in the office do not get to do much work outside, but I have been out two nights at the beach watching to see if liquor was being brought into the county, but had only disappointment for a reward."

Music yesterday was furnished by S. L. Harrell and his daughter, LaVerne Harrell Milbrat, who sang a number of gospel duets that were warmly applauded by the class members.

W. B. Martin, class president, announced that the class was not in politics and would endorse no candidate, but that he was sure no candidate for office would receive the support of the class who does not stand for the enforcement of law and particularly of the 18th amendment. There were 130 present yesterday.

HERE FOR SUMMER

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21. — Mrs. Roy Strang and daughters, Edith, Eleanor, Geraldine, Marian and Barbara Lee have taken up their residence in the Spanish Village for the summer.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Understanding is a wellspring of life unto him that hath it." These words from Proverbs constituted the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Life" Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Bible texts, referring to Christ Jesus, stated: "And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on. The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment."

A correlative pasage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, presented this statement: "When understanding changes the standpoints of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of Life, the control of Soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle."

BEACH SERVICE STATION HELD UP BY BANDIT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21. —The Shell service station at Seventh and Ocean streets was held up by a lone, unmasked bandit at 10 o'clock Sunday night. About $10 was obtained by the bandit, a man 24 years old, five feet, six inches tall, wearing a tan suit and white cap, with white and black shoes. The bandit had a blue automatic pistol.

The youthful thief walked into the service station while traffic on the Coast highway, which is Ocean avenue in Huntington Beach, passed at the rate of a car a second. He pointed his pistol at George T. Ballard, service station attendant. He ordered Ballard into the rest room, and forced him to surrender the keys. Then the bandit locked the door of the rest room and took charge of the service station. He helped himself to the cash and Ballard a few seconds after being locked in the rest room, heard a car start up on Seventh street near the service station and speed away.

Door Not Locked

Ballard suspicioned the bandit was gone and prepared to crash the door of the rest room. The door was not locked, however. Ballard rushed out and called the police. The police officers searched the city but with no description of the car available, they were handicapped and the youthful bandit made his escape successfully.

This is the second time the Shell service station has been robbed this year. The former occasion resulted in the arrest and conviction of the bandit and he was sent to the penitentiary.

IMPROVE CHURCH GROUNDS

GARDEN GROVE, July 21.—Extensive improvements are being made at the Baptist church premises this week. The parsonage, three Sunday school buildings and garage are being improved by new coats of paint, new curbings have been added to the property, and the streets around the church put in good condition, new cement steps have replaced the old steps of the church and other inside improvements will be completed soon.

THESIS WALK

FORT WORTH, July 18.—To collect data for her master's thesis, Kathryn Williams of this city has set out on a 3000-mile journey to various parts of the country. She is a graduate student of Texas Christian University.

ALL LABORERS SERMON TOPIC OF REV. SEWELL

The Rev. James H. Sewell, pastor of the Broadway and Walnut Street Church of Christ, took for his text yesterday morning, I Corinthians 3:9: "For we are laborers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building." He said in part:

"We are laborers together with God. Everthing that is done must have a measure of labor connected with it, and in the work of the church we are co-laborers with God. We have our part to do; God has his part to do. We are laborers with Him, only when we are working in harmony with His will. He will not be a partner in any enterprise if which He does not approve.

"Paul tells us we are God's husbandry—that is, His crop. That being so, we should submit to God's will. If you should plant a crop of corn and, when it was grown, you should try to pass through the field and, if such a thing were possible, the stalks of corn should reach out and try to bar your way, you would think Satan had got into that crop. But we God's husbandry, often resist Him, by keeping our minds so filled with the things of this life that He cannot come into our hearts and influence our lives.

"We are also called God's building. Every studding in a building should be a support to the roof. We would not have much confidence in the strength of this building if some one should convince us that the roof is supported by only four small pillars. Every member in the church should be a supporting pillar—should be doing full duty, giving financial, moral and spiritual support to every work of the church. Otherwise, that church can never be a strong church, can never be what God wants it to be."

Men Injured As Truck Overturns

Two men were seriously hurt Friday night at 12 o'clock when a Weber Bread company truck ran off the road and overturned at the intersection of Placentia avenue and Anaheim road.

Armand Overlin, 20, of 944 West Camille street, Santa Ana, suffered severe lacerations about the head and cuts about the body, while Joseph Hale, of 1702 South Grand avenue, Los Angeles, was badly cut and bruised on the back. The two injured men were taken to the Orange County hospital, where their condition was reported satisfactory.

'WATCH, PRAY' SUNDAY TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

"Watch and Pray" was the subject of the sermon of J. W. Saunders, evangelist, at the Southside Church of Christ yesterday morning. The theme of the sermon was drawn from the words of Jesus to His disciples when they were with Him in the garden at Gethsemane. The Rev. Mr. Saunders began his sermon with the admonition of the Master to His friends, "Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak."

"These words of Jesus," the Rev. Mr. Saunders said, "were spoken to His disciples when they had fallen asleep during His hour of agony in the garden.

"We notice the eternal conflict between the flesh and the spirit. This conflict was experienced by the Apostle Paul and is the experience of all men. It is the battle between all that is noble in man and all that is base. Every man has his hour of temptation and emerges either victorious or defeated. Jesus recognized this. The fact that He did is a manifestation of His sympathy for the human race.

"We notice the conditions of victory. The first is watchfulness. We are tempted to sin with the tongue, with the eyes, with the thoughts; therefore, we must watch what we say, watch what we see, watch what we think. Anything said, thought or seen that will have a tendency to destroy us must be shunned. The second is prayer. The greatest men of all nations have not been ashamed to pray in an hour of crisis. We would do well to imitate them. 'More things are wrought by prayer, than this world dreams of.' 'Prayer without ceasing.' This is the way to victory over our bases self."

Special Services Start At Gospel Assembly Sunday

A two weeks program of special services was inaugurated yesterday at the Full Gospel assembly, located at the corner of Forest and Third streets, by Evangelist E. E. Fullerton, of Wilmington. The subject of the sermon yesterday morning was "God's Foundation." The text was "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." "Everyone is constructing a life and must have the building started on a good foundation. Those building properly according to the gospel on the foundation of Christ will bring forth the fruit of it, which is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, faith and temperance."

The evening sermon was based on the text "Let us make man in our image," from Genesis 1:26.

The services will continue throughout the week, commencing at 7:30 o'clock each evening. The subject tonight is "Baptism of the Holy Spirit." There will be special music, consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers.

OBEDIENCE OF ABRAHAM TOLD BY MINISTER

The pulpit at the Church of the Nazarene was filled yesterday during the absence of Rev. U. E. Harding, who is attending a camp meeting in Oregon, by the Rev. L. Milton Williams, of Ventura. His subject at the morning service was "Walking With God," and his text was Genesis 17:1, "'I am the almighty God. Walk before me and be thou perfect."

In the development of this theme the Rev. Mr. Williams showed the faith, obedience and trust of Abraham, who he said was known as the friend of God. In everyday life, he pointed out, we have a very few real friends we may trust absolutely, and it is even so with God.

At the evening service he preached on "God's Greatest Good and Men's Greatest Need." Special music at the service last night was provided by J. Ralph Hurst, of Oklahoma City, who sang "I Know a Name," and by Matt Carey, of Long Beach, who played a trombone solo, "The Holy City."

W. H. M. S. Convention Just Concluded in Los Angeles

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, the annual Woman's Home Missionary convention of the Southern California conference, was held in the beautiful new First Methodist church of Hollywood. Representatives were present from every Methodist Home Missionary society in Southern California and Arizona. The meeting was a source of great inspiration to every member, present.

Election of officers for the coming year, placed Mrs. Margaret Locke Coates once more in the president's chair. Reports of the work, in all its branches, were given during the session among them being Spanish work, Japanese work, Yuma Indian Mission, Esther Hall, Robincroft, Deaconess, David and Margaret home, Wesleyan Service guild, junior work, Mite box, literature, and supplies.

A reception in honor of the Jubilee anniversary of the founding of the society in the Methodist Episcopal denomination, was held Wednesday evening in the church parlors. Mrs. George Pierson led in the old time songs, after which light refreshments were served.

Thursday evening, an inspiring play was given, "A Daughter of Zion," portraying the conversion of a Jewish family.

Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mrs. W. C. Baker, Mrs. Sarah Hutchins, and Miss Marjorie Lusk were Santa Anans present for the entire session, while Miss Irma De Barr, Mrs. George Warmer, Mrs. J. C. Gardiner, and A. H. Theal were there Friday.

Post-Nuptial Shower Was Compliment to Mrs. Catherina

Coming as the delightful sequel to an evening of bridge, was the shower of miscellaneous gifts with which Mrs. Joseph Catherina (Myrtle Meyer) was complimented last Friday evening, at a pleasant party given in Rose Arbor inn on North Main street.

The affair had been planned by Mrs. Catherina's associates on the feminine staff of the Orange County Title company, all of whom joined with enthusiasm in presenting this pleasant courtesy in honor of her early July marriage.

A color harmony of yellow and orchid had been adopted and was unusually effective at the late supper hour following the bridge session. Especially attractive were the unique favors of wee French bouquets each centered with a diminutive bride.

In the bridge prize bestowal, Mrs. Lorene Hansen took first honors, with consolation awarded Mrs. Adelaide Cochran. At this time the guests took the opportunity to present their carefully selected gifts to Mrs. Catherina, who had the pleasure of unwrapping a bewildering array of orchid and yellow tied packages.

Sharing the enjoyable evening with the honor guest, were Mrs. Irene Tibbs, Mrs. Jennivieve B. Eckley, Mrs. Alice Board, Mrs. Dorothy Fink, Mrs. Calla Nevius, Mrs. Phyllis Welsh, Mrs. Elvera Todd, Mrs. Lucille Frazer, Mrs. Lorene Hansen, Mrs. Blanche Holloway, Mrs. Gladys Wahl, Mrs. Gertrude Green, Mrs. Milly Galbreth, Mrs. Phoebe Simpson, Mrs. Adelaide Cochran, Mrs. Minnie Harris, Mrs. Hannah Douglas, Miss Dorothy Beckman, Miss Marie Rudolph, Miss Sophie Ehlen, Miss Louise Bryant, Miss Vena Belle Bryant, Miss Mabel Witmer, Miss Hattie Whidden, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, Miss Amanda Thee, Miss Rue Suman, Miss Grace Puterbaugh and Miss Margaret Young.

Rainbow Luncheon Has Shower of Lingerie As Its Sequel

Among the summer bevy of brides, one of particular interest to Santa Ana friends of Dr. and Mrs. John Oliver, formerly of this city where Dr. Oliver was pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, is their charming young daughter, Miss Mary Oliver, whose engagement to Frank Nickel of Pasadena, was announced in June at a pretty luncheon given by Mrs. Oliver at the Breakers hotel, Long Beach.

Complimenting Miss Oliver, was one of last week's most attractively appointed parties, a rainbow luncheon and shower presented Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Carl Wiesseman in her home on West Seventeenth street. Mrs. Wiesseman, who is to serve as matron of honor at the wedding of Miss Oliver and Mr. Nickel on August 5, assembled 16 of the prospective bride's closest friends for the luncheon. Many of the guests were sorority sisters of hostess and honoree at University of Southern California.

Each table expressed some one of the chosen tints of orchid, rose, yellow and blue, in tarleton cover and rainbow hued flowers arranged in quaint Italian pottery bowls. The luncheon service of rose tinted glass completed an unusually lovely effect.

Bridge followed, with Mrs. Ralph De Lancy Matthews of Pasadena, scoring high, and Miss Arline Ellis of Whittier, second high. Each was attractively rewarded for her skill. The enjoyable afternoon reached its climax when tiny Jeanne Wiesseman, daughter of the home, appeared as a cunning Cupid drawing a small wagon laden with gaily wrapped and tied packages. She stopped before Miss Oliver who speedily discovered that each package held a dainty piece of lingerie for her trousseau.

Church Class Picnics At Irvine Park

The Young Married People's class of Spurgeon Memorial church had a most enjoyable time Thursday evening, when they met in Irvine park for a sumptuous pot-luck dinner, followed by interesting games and contests.

Those present were Messrs and Mesdames C. Clark, J. D. Mathews, A. L. Honer, Norman Herzeg, L. Elliott, Carl Du Rall, Thomas Oglesby, T. Kennedy, M. W. Travis, Jasper Farney, R. A. Schostag, H. Patterson, Elmer Everett, O. A. Sanders, and Miss Mirth Barnett.

GARDEN CEREMONY UNITES TWO POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE

One of the most charming settings that could be devised, was that given the marriage on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, of Miss Virginia Lowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jo. Lowell, and DeRoy Dickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dickson. For a garden ceremony was chosen, and the colorful flowers a-bloom in the spacious gardens of the home at 924 Lowell street, the romantic quality of the twilight hour, and the charming girls in their flower-tinted costumes, who assisted in countless ways, all added to the rarely beautiful effect.

Preceding the ceremony was a brief program of bridal airs played by Miss Georgia Belle Walton, violinist, with Miss Veda Mitchell at the piano. Miss Walton was gowned in apple-green taffeta and Miss Mitchell in ivory satin. Such numbers as "I Love You Truly," (Bond) and "Songs My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak) were played preliminary to the rhythms of Lohengrin's Wedding March.

Bridal Group Enters

At the appointed hour, the wedding party entered the candle-lighted garden from the court, passing down an aisle formed by a length of velvet carpet and outlined with tall standards of flowers in the chosen hues of pink, yellow, orchid and pink, to the big outdoor fireplace, which, banked with greenery and blossoms, had as its scenic background, the beds of orchid asters and bright-hued zinnias, growing in rich profusion.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Martha Adams, of Anaheim and Miss Lorene Porter of Los Angeles, entered first, gowned in frocks of airy net over satin foundations, quaintly charming with their extremely long, full skirts. Garden party hats of horsehair braid matched the gowns in color, and each attendant carried a flat sheaf of soft hued gladioluses tied with tulle to match her frock. Miss Adams was in orchid and Miss Porter in peach net.

Lovely Young Bride

Mr. Dickson was accompanied by his brother, James Dickson as best man, and as his bride joined him at the altar, they spoke their wedding vows before the Rev. F. T. Porter, former pastor of the First Christian church here, but now of Los Angeles.

At the reception which followed, Mrs. Lowell, wearing beige lace over orchid, with the latter color repeated in her smart hat, was assisted by a little group of close friends, Mrs. James Dickson, very charming in pale blue georgette; Mrs. Louise Ellsworth of Hollywood, wearing blue taffeta; and Mrs. Evan Nash of Hanford, in white and green silk. Mrs. Nash is the mother of Donald Nash, so soon to wed Miss Lorene Porter. Mrs. George Dickson, mother of the bridegroom wore orchid chiffon.

For the reception, the lights were turned on and the garden illuminated by countless bright Japanese lanterns, adding to the color and charm of the scene. All decorative details of the affair had been planned by Mrs. James Dickson, young sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Serving of the dainty refreshment course was accomplished by a group of charmingly gowned young girls, the Misses Elma McBride, Barbara Rurup, Louise Rurup and Marcile Dickson of this city, Mrs. Baxter Lowe of Hanford and Miss Caryl Ellsworth of Hollywood.

Bride's Bouquet

Before departing on the honeymoon trip to Lake Arrowhead, the new Mrs. Dickson tossed her bridal bouquet from an upper window into the patio, where fate ordained that Miss Lorene Porter should catch it. As her wedding to Mr. Nash is to be an early August event, this was considered most appropriate. The gardenias from the lovely cluster were retained as a corsage for the pretty yellow silk ensemble suit in which Mrs. Dickson traveled, and which was completed with hat and purse to match, with gloves and shoes in blonde kid.

Both young people are graduates of Santa Ana high school, each later attending Oregon State college where Mrs. Dickson, an alumna, was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Upon returning from Arrowhead they will make their home in this city where Mr. Dickson is with the Southern California Edison company.

The Walter Vieiras Return From An Eastern Trip

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Vieira, 324 East Bishop street, are glad to welcome them back from a six weeks' tour of the eastern states. Mr. and Mrs. Vieira returned to their home this week, reporting an enjoyable trip in every particular. Their chief destination was Jacksonville, Ill., their former home town, where they spent a large part of their time, visiting relatives and friends. A feature of the visit there, was the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Day, parents of Mrs. Vieira, at which time the Santa Anans had opportunity to see many more friends and relatives.

Although they made Jacksonville their destination, the couple motored on to Indianapolis, Ind., where they visited Mrs. P. R. Vass, a sister of Mrs. Vieira. Preceding their trip there, they had stopped at such points of interest as the Grand Canyon, Colorado Springs, and Pikes Peak.

The return trip was made by way of the Black Hills, where they stopped for a short time. The Big Horn mountains were also visited, while three days were spent enjoying those beauties that only Yellowstone park offers. They reported extremely cold nights in the Yellowstone, in contrast to their next stopping place, Salt Lake City, where they visited the Morman temple and other places of interest. The rest of the trip was made by the Southern route, where the warmest of weather was encountered.

Quiet Home Ceremony Unites Miss Eddy And Ray Peters

Choosing the home of an intimate friend, Mrs. George Crawford, at 1130 West Pine street, as the setting for her wedding, Miss Maxine Eddy, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ingraham of this city, was married Saturday morning at a quiet ceremony to Ray Peters of Fallbrook. The Rev. R. W. Harlow was the officiating minister.

In harmony with the charming simplicity of the service, were the floral decorations of pink roses from the home gardens, arranged throughout the rooms. The bride, who is a charming brunette, wore a graceful gown of blue chiffon, fashioned on long lines. There were no attendants, and only a few guests were present. They were Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham, Mrs. W. L. Getty, Miss Vera Getty, Mrs. Crawford, and her two daughters, the Misses Lorraine and Iris Crawford.

Immediately following the morning ceremony, the happy couple left for Fallbrook, where Mr. Peters has a new home all in readiness for his bride. It is located at a charming spot in the country, where the bridegroom will continue in his ranching duties. For the past year Mrs. Peters has lived near the little town, but previous to that was a resident of this city, having made her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ingraham, 1128 West Pine street, for about ten years.

During this time, Mrs. Peters has made many friends here, two of whom, Mrs. Ross McNeill and Mrs. Curtis Vaught, were hostesses at a delightful pre-nuptial courtesy for her Friday afternoon, when they entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham with a miscelloneous shower. The bride received many lovely gifts, and dish towels hemmed and embroidered by the guests during the afternoon. Delicious refreshments completed the pleasant occasion.

Those present other than the honoree, were Mrs. Harry Getty, of Seattle, Mrs. W. L. Getty, Mrs. Oscar Ingraham, Mrs. George Crawford and daughters, Lorraine and Iris, Miss Alice Brown, Miss Vera Getty, and the hostesses, Mrs. Curtis Vaught and Mrs. Ross McNeill.

Santa Anans Enjoy Tour of East

Having completed an extensive tour of 26 of the United States, and three different provinces, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Calhoun have returned to their home at 3105 West Fifth street, and are greeting their many friends who are eager to hear of their interesting experiences.

One of their most enjoyable visits was made in Boston, their former home, where they renewed many acquaintances. From there they went through the state of Maine, and on into Canada where Mr. Calhoun especially enjoyed the trout fishing in the mountains. That the scenery along the St. Johns river was the most beautiful of any encountered during their entire trip, was the firm belief of travelers. Tours along the St. Lawrence river and the Great Lakes also proved delightful.

Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun covered 9,000 miles while they were touring the country.

A warm interest has been expressed by friends of Miss Myrtle Stein, former member of Polytechnic high school staff but now of Pasadena, in the marriage ceremony which on Saturday night, July 19, united her in marriage to Nelson Franklin Henke of Texas.

Several from this city motored over for the ceremony, held at 7:30 o'clock in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale, among them being Miss Ruth Rowland, closely associated with Miss Stein during her time in this city, and to whom was entrusted all details of the charming ceremony and the reception which followed.

Dr. James Leichmann, assistant pastor of Pasadena First Presbyterian church, and acting pastor during the absence of Dr. Robert Freeman, read the rites in the lovely setting afforded by this picturesque little chapel.

Mrs. William Ewing, sister of the bride, served as honor matron, and was gowned in delicate orchid chiffon with which her arm cluster of pale pink roses and orchid sweet peas harmonized beautifully. Her small daughter, little Miss Susan Ewing, made an adorable flower girl in bouffant pink organdy with flaring tulle bows in pale blue to continue the pastel color motif of the nuptials.

Mr. Henke was assisted by Harold Edwards as best man, while ushers were William Ewing and Victor McCullough. A program of organ music was a feature of the ceremony.

The bride's home on Herkimer street, Pasadena, was decked with flowers for the reception which followed, the prevailing color effect being maintained with quantities of asters, larkspur and dahlias. In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Henke were the latter's mother, Mrs. Stein; brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Ewing of Blue Island, Ill., who had come to California especially for the wedding, and Miss Ruth Rowland of this city. Miss Rowland wore a graceful frock of organdy in a delicate tone of blue.

After friends had been greeted and the dainty refreshment menu served, the new Mr. and Mrs. Henke left by automobile for Mr. Henke's home in the Rio Grande valley, Texas, where he is a citrus grower, and where they will reside. The bride chose for traveling, a smart print three-piece suit, whose prevailing burnt orange tones were complemented by black accessories.

Mrs. Henke taught for four years in this city, and made a host of friends in school and social circles, whose good wishes will follow her into her new life. For the past year or two she has been a member of the staff of Muir Technical high school, Pasadena, and she and her mother have lived in that city.

The BLUE GINGHAM Cook in the BLUE GINGHAM Kitchen would have been proud of the LOAF in the BLUE GINGHAM Dress

JUST as she had reason to be mighty proud of the many, many good things her cooking art created. Blue gingham days are days of the past, but what, even today, could be a truer symbol of the freshness, the purity and genuine goodness of any good bread than dainty blue gingham! That's why we have put the becoming new gown of Gingham Blue on WEBER'S BREAD, believing that at last we have found a dress for the uniformly good loaf that will carry an unmistakable message of quality wherever and whenever it is seen.

WHOLE WHEAT IN GINGHAM BROWN

Weber's Whole Wheat has a new dress also. You find it on grocers' counters in the attractive gingham brown wrapper. Remember, Weber's White in gingham blue; Weber's Whole Wheat in gingham brown.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

The Greatest Industry

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, whose recent death lost to the cause of sanity in food laws this country's most noted advocate, said that "Eating is the greatest of all industries." But, in his opinion, to eat sanely and wisely was a horse of a different color and one the average person disliked to ride.

In a talk on "Longer Life" he made the statement that cereals must be eaten without the bran removed, potatoes without the skin removed, fruit without the peeling removed. This, so that all of the vital mineral elements and vitamins might be utilized.

On the other hand, some of the modern stomach specialists say it is injurious to stuff the digestive tract with roughage fit only for cows, and that much of their practice is derived from the victims of the "whole grain, fruit, vegetable" diet fad.

It is not for me to say which is right. I can only point out Dr. Wiley's advanced age—85 as proof of his opinions on the subject. I do know, however, that properly masticated food, raw or cooked, can be handled by any but the stomach weakened by disease.

Fletcherism is the extreme on one end, eating as the average persons knows it—gulping—is the other extreme. Strike a happy medium, follow Dr. Wiley's advice and live "on borrowed time," as Dr. Wiley did.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Sponge Layer Cake With Sour Cream Almond Filling

4 egg yolks creamed with
1 cup sugar
5½ tablespoons hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sifted pastry flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 egg whites beaten stiff

Break the egg yolks into a depression in the cup of sugar and whip to a smooth cream. Add the hot water, salt and vanilla, sift the flour with the baking powder and beat into the mixture. Last of all fold in the stiffly beaten whites and bake in 2 large layercake tins or 2 smaller tins.

Oven must not be hotter than 350 degrees F. to start, as soon as the cake begins to rise, reduce to 300 degrees and protect the cake with paper. This cake is best when eaten hot as it comes from the oven, so, while it is baking make the filling this way:

Run two-thirds of a pound of shelled, blanched almonds through the food grinder and put them with htree-fourths of a cup of the thickest sour cream you can get—soured whipping cream. Mix with as much powdered sugar as the mass will take up and yet be rather thin, add the juice of a lemon, and spread between and on top of the cake just before you serve it. It soaks up quickly, so do not use the filling until ready for dessert.

While we think of sponge cake we think of something so light that it could not possibly have food values and calories associated with it, but such is not the case here. The cake and its filling have the astounding calory total of 5165, mostly energy foods. The cake will serve ten.

Patriotic Group Has Enjoyable Party In Cowan Home

Daughters of Union Veterans shared a happy occasion yesterday afternoon when they were entertained in the hospitable home of their president, Miss Minnie Cowan, 214 South Sycamore street, by a hostess group including Miss Cowan, her sister, Miss Adda Cowan, Mrs. Fannie Nau, Mrs. Pearl Nelson and Mrs. Harriet Mitchell.

While much of the afternoon was devoted to needlework as members stitched on a quilt which is being pieced ready for quilting there was one unusually enjoyable interval given over to a guessing contest centered in the names of flowers. Mrs. Nellie Parker, guessing the greatest number of blossoms, was suitably rewarded with a fragrant cluster of richhued summer blooms.

As a finale to the hospitality, the hostess group served iced lemonade with home-made cake and ice cream.

Probably no one enjoyed the occasion more than did Mrs. Mary Anderson, aunt of the Misses Cowan, who shared the pleasure with Mesdames Jessie Breckenridge, Mary Finch, Maude Hendrie, Esther Gardner, Gladys Ward, Jessie Hoagland, Edith Moore, Edith Scott, Cora Hoffman, Margaret Church, Florence Perry, Carrie Smith, Bessie Haas, Cora Graham, Nellie Parker, Emma Chapman, and the latter's two young house-guests, the Misses Geraldine Webber of St. Paul, Minn. and Elaine Colwell of Lynwood.

Well Known Couple to Wed Here Tuesday

Of interest to a number of Santa Anans, is the announcement of the wedding of Mary B. Rogers, of 1330 West Second street, to E. C. Brewer of 105 North Bristol street, which will be a quiet event of Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Officiating at the marriage will be their friend, Justice K. E. Morrison, and the couple have requested an exceedingly simple ceremony.

Mrs. Rogers has lived here for the past few years, and in that time has made many friends. Mr. Brewer has made his residence here for a number of years, and is noted as one of Santa Anas most trustworthy of merchants, established in business at 105 North Bristol street. As duty keeps him confined to his store at present, and probably will for some time, the honeymoon has been deferred, and in the meantime Mrs. Rogers will reside with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wall, at 1330 West Second street, while her husband to-be will continue in the management of his store. The couple are planning to establish their home here in August, when they will move into a charmingly furnished apartment.

Christopher Latham Sholes is known as the inventor of the typewriter. His first "writing machine" was the end of a telegraph key with the letter "w" cut in brass.

POWELL SEEN AS CRIMINAL LAWYER

The new picture is "For The Defense" and shows Powell as a great New York criminal lawyer. His ability to free criminals regardless of their crimes and the amount of evidence against them is almost uncanny. He does it through resourceful application of legal technicalities.

But one day he is called on to defend the girl he loves for manslaughter. He knows she is not guilty, but the evidence is against her and there seems no way for him to save her. He tries the tricks that he has used before and fails. Then he turns criminal himself in order to win.

A smashing climax that will excite every person in the audience, drama and action that will be remembered here for a long time, and behind it all, a love that sacrifices all and a girl who does not forget, makes the picture one of the most interesting in which Powell has ever played.

Gay Francis has the chief feminine lead in the picture, while the court room scenes will live long in the memory of all who see the production.

COMEDY SHOWN AT WALKER'S THEATER

A hard-hitting, refreshing, uproarious human comedy, in which the so-called dumb-bells prove themselves anything but dumb belles, was shown for the first time yesterday at Walker's State theater.

"Dumb-bells in Ermine" may be expressed in one word—glorious! Go to see "Dumb-bells in Ermine" and experience that grand and glorious feeling, that comes only once in a blue moon.

Much whole-hearted mirth is created by the ingratiatingly devilish grandmother of the girl and a crotchetty and amorous old gentleman who wants to be accepted as grandma's suitor.

The story is a gay, speedy one, and its splendid situations are heightened by James Gleason, the New York playwright, who not only does the hard-guy dialogue for "Dumb-bells in Ermine" but plays the part of the pugilist's over-zealous trainer.

The featured players, Robert Armstrong, and Barbara Kent, are captivating as the perturbed lovers. Beryl Mercer is the foxy grandma and Claude Gillingwater the grouchy uncle. Nothing further need be said as to the excellence of their performance. Hoyt as the reformer who comes to defeat is a scream.

ENTERTAINS COMMUNITY CLUB

FULLER PARK, July 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Rees Blythe entertained members of the Community club at their home on Carol Drive Friday evening after a short business meeting a social hour followed. A. L. Cook gave two vocal solos, "Asleep in the Deep" and "You." Betty Blythe sang and danced "Singing in the Bathtub" for an encore to a reading. Mrs. A. L. Cook was accompanist for the evening. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served. The next meeting will be a picnic dinner at Anaheim park.

'DANGEROUS NAN McGREW' IN S. A.

"Dangerous Nan McGrew," Paramount's all-talking comedy starring the original "boop-boop-a-doop" girl, Helen Kane, and a half score of other Paramount comedians, comes to the Fox West Coast theater today for a three-day engagement, succeeding "Swing High," which closed there last night.

The story concerns a medicine show, traveling in the northwest, which gets mixed up with the Royal Northwest Mounted police and also with a bunch of wealthy city folks who are vacationing in the west country.

Stuart Irwin, who will be remembered here in "Sweetie," and also with Charles Rogers in "Young Eagles," has one of the leading comedy roles, while the romantic male part is played by James Hall, who will be remembered as the leading man opposite Clara Bow in "The Saturday Night Kid."

Victor Moore, veteran comedian of musical comedies on the New York stage for the past 10 years, and Louise Closser Hale, who will be remembered here with Irene Bordoni in "Paris," also have some of the best comedy lines in the production.

Miss Kane plays the part of the girl who operates the medicine show. Irwin is in love with her. There is comedy at every turn of events in the picture and the turns are so numerous that they can not be counted. "Dangerous Nan McGrew" will bring tears to the eyes from laughter, while its plot is both original and entertaining throughout.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

One sandwich was not quite enough and Clowny said, "Here's where I stuff. I've never tasted food like this. It's surely cooked up great. We've eaten every one that's done, but it will be a lot of fun to watch the man make more of them. Let's stand right here and wait."

The Travel Man then said, "Oh no! You see, the meat cooks rather slow. We'd all get tired out standing. Come, we'll all sit down instead." So, at the curb they all sat down and watched the meat cook nice and brown. And, while it sizzled o'er the fire, the man prepared some bread.

Soon Scouty said, "What kind of meat is that which makes so nice a treat? It's juicy and it's tender, like a meat croquet, well done." It's mutton," said the Travel Man. "They're ready now. Eat all you can." And soon the sandwich vender served the Tinies, one by one.

A flock of little Persian boys had gathered 'round amid much noise. They knew the Tinymites were from a country far away. They all spread friendly smiles, and then the Travel Man spoke up again. Said he, "They're nice young lads and I am sure they want to play.

So Clowny cried, "All right, let's go!" And they played an hour or so. The Tinies taught them tag and soon much laughter filled the air. Of course there wasn't any doubt that they would all soon grow tired out. Then Coppy said, "It's fun to play with them 'cause they play fair."

They shortly bid the lads goodbye. Then came another vendor's cry. "Oh, look! He's selling nice hot soup. I'll bet it tastes real good." The Travel man said, "Bless your soul! You all shall have a nice big bowl." And then the soup man served it to them quickly as he could.

(Clowny has a wild, scarey ride in the next story.))

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.
2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

DROP to DOWN—It shouldn't take you more than five strokes to DROP DOWN this letter links ladder.

Legion Caucus At San Clemente Scores Communism

200 DELEGATES ENDORSE FIGHT AGAINST 'REDS'

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21.—Opening a war on communism in the state and nation, over 200 delegates to the Fifth Area caucus of the American Legion, representing 60 posts in five Southern California counties, met at the San Clemente school Sunday afternoon and adopted a resolution urging the state department of the Legion to make one of its minor objectives in 1931 the fight against communism and red radicalism. The resolution will be presented to the state convention at Sacramento next month.

P. A. Thaanum, Post 25, El Centro, Imperial county, opened the discussion on communism by telling the delegates of the work in his county when 14 communistic organizers were seized in April and nine later sent to prison. "The way to kill the 'Red Plague' is to dynamite it out," he said. "That's what we did in Imperial county. The judge who tried the cases was a Legionnaire, 50 per cent of the jury were war veterans. What chance did the communists have. But it's not a county fight, it's a state and national one in which the Legion should lead."

Pass "Red" Resolution

Charles H. Harris, past county council commander of San Diego, told of the work his post, La Mesa, had done and read a resolution waging war against the "Red wave" which was adopted. The resolution urged action against communists and red radicals and all other enemies of the government.

Of the 12 resolutions the most important was one which urged the erection of a tuberculosis hospital in the arid regions of California. Other resolutions had to do with changes in the constitution and by-laws and with suggestions to the government as to aid for ailing veterans.

Welsh Presides

The session was held at 1 o'clock in the afternoon with R. J. Welsh jr., Riverside, fifth area commander in the chair. Dr. Ralph S. Roberts, Mountain Empire Post, San Diego county, was endorsed by the area as its new commander. He will be formally elected at the state convention.

Ed Bolt, managing editor of the state Legion paper, announced it now had a circulation of 28,500 copies and was paying its own way. Warren Atherton, Stockton, and B. W. Gearheart, Fresno, candidates for state commander, addressed the caucus.

In closing, Welsh thanked the posts for the co-operation they had given him and stated the San Clemente session a record caucus of the area. A vote of thanks was given the San Clemente post for its welcome and assistance in makin gthe caucus a success.

Women Meet

While the men were holding their caucus in the school house the women met in the afternoon at the Social club.

Gertrude Bailey, La Mesa, San Diego county, president of the Fifth Area auxiliary, called the meeting to order after a breakfast at the Social club and then turned the session over to Margaret Keadking, state president.

Marie Dunklee, Vallejo, was endorsed by the 150 delegates for president of the state organization, election to be held at the Sacramento convention.

Fullerton Scout Swimming Teacher At Camp Rokili

FULLERTON, July 21.—Fred Nunlist, Fullerton eagle scout, is in charge of swimming instruction at the Boy Scout camp RoKILi in the San Bernardino mountains, it was announced today with the departure of the fourth period group for the summer outing at the camp.

Scouts from this district included in the party going into camp are Elwood Choate and Nathan King of Troop 101 of Brea. Most of the boys in the party were from Santa Ana and Newport Beach. Norman Andrew, of Brea, who has just been in camp during the period just closed, is staying over for the present session, which will be the last regular outing of the summer season for the Scouts.

BALBOA STREET LIGHTS PROVE SATISFACTORY

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—The improved lighting system now in operation in the Balboa section of this city have proved so satisfactory thus far that a movement is now reported to be on foot to extend the new lights to other sections.

The new lights were turned on in time for the Fourth of July week end, and were among the "lights" causing favorable comment on the part of residents and visitors during the Tournament of Lights, July 12.

One of the new systems is on Central avenue between Alvarado and B streets, the 400-candlepower lantern-type lights being on the poles installed in connection with the recent street and P. E. track improvements there.

The other was put in by Harry M. House, lighting specialist, who was the lowest bidder of the work. It consists of new lights on A, Main, Washington, Palm, Bay avenue, Ocean Front and Bay Front. The posts are of marbelite centrifugally cast concrete type. The cost of this system was $11,363 and was paid for by an assessment district, as was the Central avenue system.

Chicago Man Buys Beach Investment

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—Miss Lois Avery has sold the vacant lot adjoining the Ocean Wave hotel to Clyde C. Carswell of Chicago. It is announced that Carswell plans to erect a building on the property as soon as negotiations now underway with a prospective tenant are completed. The purchase price was not made public.

Mr. Carswell has other realty holdings in California and with his Chicago associates is contemplating making other investments here and in other cities, it is stated. He is said to have made the investment here because of the extension of the municipal pier and because he feels that Huntington Beach has a bright future and is entering on a period of civic advancement and progress.

The sale here was made through the Patton Realty company.

ORANGE COUNTY TO BUILD ROAD TO NEW SCHOOL

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—Within the next week or 10 days work is expected to start on the new county highway to connect the Newport Harbor union high school, now under construction, with the Coast highway, so that it will be ready for traffic by September 15, the date set for the completion of the school.

The county has made an appropriation of $26,000 for the new road out of its share of the gas tax fund. The road will afford high school students from Corona del Mar, Balboaa Island and other sections in that part of the high school district short and direct access to the new school.

Goes Over Golf Course

The road will leave the Coast highway at a point about 75 yards west of the bridge over the upper bay and traverse the canyon and part of the public golf course, running into Fifteenth street at Irvine, which is the site of the school. The road will be macadamized to a width of 20 feet for the present.

Parts of Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets will also be macadamized to a width of 20 feet, thus providing access to the school from all directions. Students from Costa Mesa will go to the school via Seventeenth.

Will Provide Cutoff

This will also provide a cutoff for motorists traveling the Coast highway between Laguna and points southeast to Santa Ana and other inland cities, the work now about to start providing an improved Seventeenth street to Newport Boulevard.

This will eliminate some of the congestion at the intersection of the Coast highway and Newport boulevard on days of heavy traffic.

The new road from the highway to the high school will also necessitate some changes in the former Orange County golf course, now operated as a public course by Joe Szarfinski.

INSTALL MOORING CABLE AT HARBOR

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—The Newport Harbor Yacht club has put in a new mooring line, to take care of some of the rapidly increasing number of new craft coming to Newport Bay. This line will anchor 16 snowbirds and 12 motorboats.

IN CHARGE OF CLUB

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poteboeuf have been placed in charge of the San Clemente Beach club for the summer months, according to an announcement by Jimmy Bennett, supervisor of public works.

52 PER CENT OF VALENCIA CROP SHIPPED

FULLERTON, July 21.—Approximately 52 per cent of the year's valencia crop has been shipped with the past week's total, according to an announcement following a checkup of the packing houses of the district.

A total of 252 cars of citrus fruit were shipped during the past week. The Northern Orange County Citrus exchange shipped 145 cars of valencias and 26 cars of lemons. Placentia packing houses shipped 64 cars in all over the Santa Fe to eastern markets. The Eadington Fruit company sent out three cars during the week, making their totals about half of their estimated crop of 125 cars, while the American Fruit Growers shipped eight cars.

Prices Vary

The tendency of the market is slightly lower on the 159's and larger, but improved on the 200's and 344's, according to Dale R. King, manager of the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange. Advanced prices average from 5 to 10 cents a box.

The heat wave in the east causes the market demand to be extra heavy on both oranges and lemons, although no advance on the lemon prices has been quoted, it was said.

Starting in early April with shipments, approximately three and one-half months have been spent in picking and sending the fruit east and to foreign markets. In another three and one-half months, about November 1, nearly the entire season will have been closed for the season that has brought very good prices and good quality fruit, but not as large a crop as last year.

As far as can be determined, the "set" on the trees for next year will show a greater crop than this year, although the per cent increase cannot as yet be noticed, due to the "fruit drops" which is still occurring in some sections of the citrus belt.

City Council May Change Fireworks Rule At Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—A petition asking for an amendment to the anti-fireworks ordinance passed last year by the Newport Beach city council may be presented at the meeting of the city council this evening.

The ordinance prohibits the sale or shooting of fireworks, firecrackers or similar explosive substances within the city limits at any time. Both favorable and unfavorable comment was heard here during the July Fourth week-end.

The petition, it is said, will ask that sale of firecrackers be permitted, and that shooting of same be allowed July 3, 4 and 5.

Falls Asleep Car Wrecks Water Hydrant

BUENA PARK, July 21.—When H. E. Hicks, 19, of 341 East Truslow avenue, Fullerton, awoke from a short nap he was taking at the steering wheel of his car Saturday at 2 a.m., he found himself lying beside his overturned car with a river of water rushing down the street.

Upon investigation, he found his car had crashed into the fire plug at Commonwealth and Grand avenues, Buena Park, and overturned. The six-inch pipe leading to the fireplug was broken off three feet below the ground, and the water was rushing down Grand avenue for several blocks.

Hick's car was badly damaged, but he miraculously escaped uninjured. Hicks stated that this was the third accident he had encountered, without serious injury.

SEEK VETERANS ELIGIBLE FOR PENSION RATES

FULLERTON, July 21.—State officials of the American Legion are now engaged in getting names of all World war veterans eligible for pension benefits under the recently enacted pension law by the federal government, according to word received by Roy Black, adjutant of Fullerton post 142.

According to information received by Black from department of California officers, State Adjutant James Fisk is leading the campaign. Fisk has issued the following statement by way of explanation:

Provision of Pension

"This new law enacted by congress provides a pension for every veteran who served in the World war for 90 days or more and who is now permanently disabled to the extent of 25 per cent or more, according to veterans' bureau standards and whose disability is not the result of misconduct, regardless of whether the disability is service connected.

"The claim when allowed will date from the date of application.

"The bureau will accept a letter requesting a form for application as the date of application. The veteran should write at once for 'any and all benefits to which he may be entitled under the pension act passed July 3, 1930'—giving full name, rank, address, organization, aerial number, date and place of enlistment, and discharge, and claim number, if any has been made previously.

"All claims that have been disallowed as not service connected will become claims under the new law. A new application must be filed at once."

Hotel Being Built For Midway City

MIDWAY CITY, July 21.—Walter J. Hill, owner of Midway City, has commenced operations at the corner of Huntington Beach and Bolsa boulevards where he is erecting a hotel, the materials all beings on the ground and foundation work started.

The hotel, which, it is understood, Mr. Hill intends as accommodation for industrial workers who may wish living quarters here when new business enterprises are opened in Midway City, is to be a two-story structure. The building is to be 60x60 feet in dimension, it is understood. Long Beach contractors who are erecting apartment houses for Mr. Hill at Naples, are also in charge of the building here.

The hotel will face northwest on a new extension of the Adams street which Mr. Hill is having cut through diagonally, the hotel building being erected on the south side of the street.

Beach Boy Scouts Plan Active Time

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—The Boy Scout troops of Huntington Beach are more active now than at any time in the history of the city, which is due in part to the interest shown by the city council in the Boy Scout movement. Howard Phillips, Eagle Scout, has been engaged to stay at the Scout cabin at Eleventh and Lake streets day and night. Under this plan there is always somebody in charge to direct the Scout activities and the Scouts can find plenty of entertainment at the Scout cabin.

Last week end, the Scout camp on the Santa Ana river east of the city was occupied from Saturday to Sunday night with a camping party of 10 Scouts under the charge of Howard Phillips. The boys had a great time. Phillips is also encouraging the Scouts to advance in scouting and to progress to the different classes of the organization.

OBJECTIONS TO CAMP GROUNDS VOICED TONIGHT

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—Differences of opinion in regard to the operation of the Newport Beach municipal auto camp may be ironed out, for the remainder of this season at least, when a petition is scheduled to be presented to the city council this evening on the matter.

The petition, it is said, will ask that the rates formerly in effect at the camp ground be restored and the two-weeks' limit abolished. The petition has been circulated by Harry Cottle, Newport Beach merchant, and is said to be supported by many business men in the vicinity of the camp grounds.

Raise Rate Last Year

Last year the council raised the rate for visitors at the camp ground and established a limit of two weeks there. It was said that many persons, from both in and out of the city, rented their own homes for high summer prices and lived at the camp grounds for little more than a nominal rent, in some cases for all summer.

The old rate was 50 and 75 cents a day for each auto party, and it was changed to 75 cents and $1, the latter for bay front sites. Occupants of the camp bring their own tents, but are furnished city water and gas.

Camp Unique

The camp is probably unique, in that it is the only one fronting on a stillwater bay in Southern California. In fact many citizens here favor its removal from its present location. The bay front property is among the most valuable in the city, similar bay front lots selling from $5000 to $15,000 each.

Those who are opposed to cheaper rates at the camp declare that its maintenance where now located tends to discourage high-class development and building in that section of the city and attracts summer tent residents instead of persons who would build good homes and in some cases live here all the year.

Start Rolph Club In Newport Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—The Rolph-for-Governor campaign is becoming active in this district. Harry H. Williamson, former city councilman and prominent realtor, is heading the Rolph committee for the fifth supervisorial district. E. I. Moore, former president and present director of the chamber of commerce, is in charge of the Newport section of the city, while A. J. Garfield, city councilman, and W. L. Jordan, chamber director, are heading the movement in Balboa.

Bring First Load Of Material For Pier Improvement

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—The first load of material for the new municipal pier extension and the repair job moved to the pier late last week. It was a load of heavy lumber to be used in erecting the scaffolds for the workmen at the pier.

The contractors have 180 days to complete the work and the time limit for starting operations was July 23. It is expected that home labor will be given preference in employment by Merritt, Chapman and Scott, San Pedro and Los Angeles contractors, who were the successful bidders. The work will cost $116,360.

Probably between 50 and 100 men will be given employment on the job when it gets under full swing.

ABANDON WELL ON EAST SIDE OF BEACH SITE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—With the bit-coring oil sand at a depth of 6700 feet, the Newland-Borchard well on the East Side was abandoned Friday by the Barksdall Oil company. It is announced unofficially that Barnsdall will drill another well on the same lease and that the crooked hole at the well prevented further drilling.

Watchers at the well say that the tools went in and out without difficulty and that there was no need for abandonment on account of a crooked hole. It was also asserted that proper handling of the well should have made a producer out of it at the 5200 foot sand and again at the present sand at 6700 feet. Allowing 500 feet for crooked hole offset, the present depth would be 6200 feet.

The Superior Oil company is still negotiating for a refinery site near this city. The company wants five or 10 acres of land and will erect a modern refinery, it is stated if a suitable site is obtained. Superior has been working in close touch with Barnsdall here in taking leases on the East Side at times when the well looked good.

Camp Oil company has overcome the trouble at the W. T. Newland well No. 1, and with the use of Bowen jars pulled the stuck drill pipe, and today will take out the core barrel. Camp has a good showing of oil and gas sand in the well at 5200 feet and was still coring in the sand when the drill pipe stuck. This is the same sand that Barnsdall found at 5200 feet.

FINISH PLANS FOR NEW BEACH HOTEL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—Plans have been completed by the architect for the "19th Hole" building on the 25-foot lot adjoining the Golden Bear cafe and for the Golden Bear hotel to occupy a second story to be added to the Golden Bear cafe building. Harry Bakre, proprietor of the Golden Bear cafe, announced when the cafe building was erected a year ago that it was built with a view of adding a second story later to be used as a hotel.

Plan Lunch Room

The "19th Hole" is to be a lunch room and refreshment parlor for quick service to travelers on the Ocean highway and to the people of Huntington Beach. The new hotel will be of Spanish colonial type. The hotel will have a 75-foot second story frontage on Ocean avenue.

There will be four apartments in front with a patio. Everything is to be strictly modern with tile bath in connection with each suite and doom. At the front of the four apartments will be a six-foot veranda overlooking the ocean. The hotel will be the latest design and of very modern architecture.

It is expected that actual construction work on the new Harry Bakre projects will start in the early autumn and will be rushed to completion with all possible speed.

PURCHASES CAFE

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21.—The Blue Lantern Cafe, located on El Camino Real, a block south of Del Mar, has been purchased by Mrs. Luerle Shelton of Seattle. The Blue Lantern Cafe has been closed for some time but in the location Mrs. Shelton sees an opportunity to cater to a highway class of trade that favors home cooking.

LEGION POST IN BUENA PARK GIVEN CHARTER

BUENA PARK, July 21.—Presentation of a permanent charter to the Buena Park American Legion post was the outstanding feature of the regular meeting of the post held in the Jaynes building, Friday evening.

L. Burr Belden, state editor of the San Bernardino Sun, and commander of the twenty-first district of the American Legion, made the presentation speech. He stressed the work the Legion was doing for rehabilitation and the community service, and urged that a strong representation be sent to the state convention at Sacramento next month in the interests of hospitalization for war veterans in the large area of Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties.

Formal acceptance of the charter was made by I. D. Jaynes, commander of the Buena Park post. The meeting was preceded by a pot-luck dinner served by the members of the auxiliary, and routine business was taken up by both organizations following the program.

A report was made of $117 profit from the sale of fireworks, and $29.95 of this was turned over to the auxiliary.

J. F. Parker, M. R. Speaker and J. Cox were appointed delegates to the state convention, with H. F. Jones, Oscar West and L. A. Sopha as alternates. J. R. Thompson was appointed to represent the local post as delegate to the Fifth Area convention at San Clemente, July 20.

Plan Chess Match At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—One of the greatest meetings of chess experts ever assembled in Orange county will be held in the American Legion hall at Laguna Beach Saturday, Aug. 9, when the Pasadena Chess club will be matched against a team made up if Orange county players.

In the evening there will be exhibitions of blindfold and simultaneous games by experts. It is expected that clubs from Pasadena, Beverly Hills, Los Angeles, Riverside and Long Beach will be present with friends to the number of about 400. The Orange County club is to be captained by Piercy Dow. The committee on arrangements consists of R. A. Frost, jr., C. H. Whipple, M. C. Rolls and R. P. Dow.

ADD TWO RESIDENTS

SAN CLEMENTE, July 21.—Southern California climate and Ole Hanson's city building plan which gave the state a Spanish Village, added two Maine pioneers to the population, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beal, of Bangor. The Beals came to California on a visit, liked San Clemente, purchased a home here and now are on their way to their native state to clean up business matters and move back to California.

TWO DRIVERS HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Two men were arrested on charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, by state traffic officers near here yesterday. Both are in the county jail.

John Turner, 67, carpenter, of 324 North Balcora street, Fullerton, was arrested by George Stinson, state traffic officer and Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter in the Santa Ana Canyon yesterday afternoon. His car was said to have been weaving from one side of the road to the other.

The other man arrested was Roy Goodbar, 31, of 1142 Pacific avenue, Huntington Beach, who was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriffs Thornwaite and Whalen at 11 o'clock last night.

'BULLPEN' LIFE IS EASY IN BASEBALL

In the clubhouse after the game Henry came on the Yankee pitcher.

"That hand was a cinch, wasn't it? Where's the money? I must have come out ahead of the game."

"Oh, yeah? Well, you went down 80 points on that hand and you owe the pot three bucks," answered the Yankee.

And Henry hasn't been the same since then, either.

Bengough Has Pal

In Philadelphia there's a fellow who is a real pal to Benny Bengough, who always has a lot of fun with the people in the stands. This fellow buys Benny food—and on a regular schedule. The second inning is always hotdog time. Benny drinks the fellow's soda pop at the end of the game. And in between times, if the Mackmen stage a rally, the fellow comes through with ice cream and this advice. "Eat this and keep cool."

There have been some great bullpen workers. Remember what old Wilcy (Cy) Moore and Bengough did for the Yankees in 1927? Perkins and Grove are functioning efficiently in Philadelphia. Ferrell and Hartley teamed up for the Indians at least three or four times a week last year. Zack Taylor and Charlie Root swap stories regularly in the Cubs' bullpen.

"A job in the bullpen in a cinch," says Benny.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, July 21.—(UP)—Selling was resumed in the intial session of the week on the curb market otday and, with the popular trading favorites freely offered at concessions ranging from fractions to 3 points. The list worked lower in an irregular maner, spotted stregth being attributable to support in individual issues.

Public utility leaders encountered heavy realizing sales and losses ranging from a fraction to 3 points each took place in American Gas, American Superpower, Electric Bond and Share, Cities Service, St. Regis Paper, Niagara Hudson Power and United Light A.

Oils eased fractionally, but displayed considerable resistance ot selling, declines being held within a fractional range, while ivestment trusts weakened, with Transamerica and United Founders off almost a point each. Goldman Sachs recovered slightly from an early setback of more than a point.

Support was afforded various individual issues in the industrial sectio, with Federal Screw and Pilot Tube advancing fractions. However, th emarket as a whole worked toward lower levels.

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, July 21.—(UP)—Irregular price movements and weakness in railroad securities featured trading on the bond market in a dull sesion otday.

Foreign obligations after a firm opening, drifted irregularly downward and losses ranging from ⅛ to 1 point were recorded in Belgium 7s, German annuity 5½s, Rhine west 6s and Serbia 7s. United States government loans continued quiet with prices irregular.

There was a noticeable absence of plus signs in the railroad division, as legal and second grade carriers continued to decline. Atchison 4½s were off more than a point.

Utilities and industrials moved lower under leadership of American Tel & Tel 4½s and Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s, both issues selling off nearly a point. Oils and Amusement bonds ruled fairly steady, with Warner Bros. 6s in the latter category, moving into slightly higher ground on ½ point advance.

CHICAGO BD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, July 21.—(UP)—Wheat closel sharply lower on the Board of Trade today, failing to recover from the early drop and easing farther when the hedging pressure increased heavily. There was a good rally from the low point late when September wheat went under 91c, the pressure lesening and houses with seaboard connections buying. The beneficial rains over the America Northwest and in Canada were the most depressing influences. Export sales were large⅞ 500,000 bu. of hard winters being reported worked. Corn was off sharply due to the weather and oats were down in sympathy with the other grains.

At the close wheat was 2⅜ to 2⅝c lower, corn was 1⅞ to 2¼c lower and oats were ⅞ to 1¼c lower. Provisions were weak.

EVENING SALUTATION

A WORD ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION

The political campaign is on in Orange county in rather full swing. A few weeks more and the people will vote at the primaries for the candidates whom they desire to have fill the respective offices in the county.

In those cases where there are only two candidates for an office, the decision rendered by the people in the primary election will be decisive, as one or the other will have been elected, for on primary day any man who receives a majority of the votes cast for the candidates for the particular office is elected. This condition prevails in a number of offices. This is true of the office of auditor, of tax collector, of assessor, of surveyor, of county superintendent of public instruction and of supervisor in the second and fourth districts. In the fifth supervisorial district, for sheriff and for district attorney it is not likely that any candidate will receive a majority of all votes cast, because of the number of candidates who are in the running.

The candidates for every office should receive the attention of the voters, for they are all important. The contests for the offices of sheriff and district attorney are emphasizing in the county the most important problem which America has to face. That is the problem of the enforcement of law. The curse of this country is its disrespect for law. The will and the authority of the people, placed in the constitution and on the statute books is flaunted by law violators, and winked at if not connived at, by officers who have places of authority with the power to enforce the law.

The President recognizes this issue as being the prime one before the people. He has taken the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment from the treasury department and placed in the hands of the department of justice. There is an earnestness shown in this phase of our national life that has not characterized the department heretofore. The department of justice insists that the men who shall be given positions as law enforcement officers shall obey the law themselves; they shall be in harmony with its enforcement, and they shall be men who profoundly believe in it. This is the only hope that any one can have of success in the accomplishment of the purposes of the law and the constitution.

The leaders of the forces in Orange county desiring to prevent the landing of liquor on Orange county's coast, the transportation of liquor through the county, and bootlegging in the county, have made an effort to learn the attitude which the candidates for sheriff and district attorney will take on this all important question. In consequence of which, they have asked each candidate if he is a law observer himself; if he has violated the law within recent time; or, if an official, if he has countenanced the violation of the law by others without objection, and whether he can be counted upon to faithfully enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act. By so doing, they have emphasized the great issue of observance of law and its enforcement in Orange county. The voters have an opportunity to vote in harmony with whatever their views may be upon the question.

Several candidates have replied, and have placed themselves squarely in harmony with President Hoover, with the law enforcement program, and with our constitution and our law. The rest of them are silent and evasive. The voters can count upon it that not a solitary bootlegger will vote for the candidates who are fully determined to enforce the law, in fact, we believe that the selection of a man for sheriff and a man for district attorney can be made on the day of the primary, which will insure the moving from Orange county of some of the fraternity whose main income now is derived from the violation of the law. These men will not receive a solitary bootleggers' vote. They should receive the solid vote of those who desire to have our country fulfil its destiny, and law observance prevail as the natural condition in American life.

AN OLD ORDINANCE

Here is a reminder of the "dear old days." A city ordinance in Lowestoft, England, passed in 1854 provides that no male bather shall come within a hundred yards of women bathers. The ordinance came to light the other day when the councilmen of the town set about rescinding the ordinance. Today it would keep a man, in bathing, quite occupied keeping his distance from the ladies but in 1854 there were so few women in bathing and they were so easily distinguished from the men because of their fancy caps and pleated skirts, and little puffy sleeves that it wasn't so difficult observing the law.

Maybe the ordinance was passed against some of the naughty men who splashed the ladies and got them all wet.

MEMORIAL TO HANS ANDERSEN

July 11 the people of Odense, Denmark, celebrated the opening of a hall dedicated to the memory of Hans Andersen. Features of the celebration were a play based on one of Andersen's fairy tales "The Naughty Boy," one of Andersen's own plays and a ballet inspired by one of his fairy tales.

Sunday, July 13, the children of the town paraded through the streets and a people's festival took place in the park with fairy tale tableau on the lake and the river.

The celebration must have been very charming, as is anything which involves fairy-loving little children.

ONE VOICE CRIES OUT AGAINST CORRUPTION

The effort on the part of some people in Los Angeles to attempt to arouse the passions of the people against the Reverend Robert Shuler as a political power in that city and county has come to our notice.

They assert that the mayor is under Shuler's influence. We do not know, but we do know that the conditions in Los Angeles county and Los Angeles city are as corrupt from the standpoint of the law and of exploitation of the people as they can well get.

As far as we have observed, there is no strong and well-ordered effort to reach the actual conditions or to correct this terrible condition. Shuler has seen it, and has directed his efforts toward its exposure and correction. He may sometimes say too much, and go too far, but we have little patience with those who condemn him, and yet whose voices are never raised against the condition which has aroused Shuler's indignation.

A hundred million dollars in the Julian case was taken out of the pockets of 40,000 innocent purchasers of stock. Nearly all of those who were responsible for the conditions have gone scot-free. The slimy trail of bribery and corruption winds its way in and out of the whole affair. Only three men, as far as we recall, have been convicted, and one of these was the district attorney who was convicted of accepting a bribe in connection with the case.

Mr. Shuler has made some statements in respect to this condition. Some names have been used and connected with the wrong persons, who are undoubtedly guiltless, but the position which he has assumed as a citizen in exposing the condition in spite of these mistakes is infinitely finer, more laudable and more dependable, than those who are practically defending the condition by attacking Shuler at every opportunity. Shuler does not go after things and expose them as the other fellows would. The difficulty is the other fellows wouldn't and don't raise their voices against the condition in any manner. Too often if you locate the connection, you will find the critics are beneficiaries of the very condition which exists, and they want to keep the status quo.

When Dad Reads Aloud

Christian Science Monitor

A visitor to a farm home noticed a narrow indentation worn into the white surface of an old colonial mantlepiece. He had not thought to make it a subject of comment until his host stopped and ran his finger across the hollowed trail in the board.

"I suppose you're wondering about this long mark on my mantlepiece," said the farmer. "I'm very proud of it, for on top of this old mantlepiece in the evening my father used to place a flickering oil lamp when I was a boy, and then he backed up his chair on a slant against the woodwork and proceeded to read aloud to the entire family. He did it almost every night for years until the imprint of his chair left its trace. This mantlepiece always reminds me of my dad."

How many homes today contain memories of the pleasant custom of reading aloud from a choice book, once the chores were done and the shades drawn? What if the sonorous voice of Dad did send a tired boy after a while into sound slumber—with full orchestra accompaniment—or serve only as verbal background for junior at the table, busy with his arithmetic lesson? Here was an unbroken home circle, with Dad at the center of it reading a lively yarn designed to thrill the youthful imagination and start memories certain to linger to the sunset days. Many a boy of former generation has acquired his appreciation of good literature from just such reading aloud.

No wonder that marked mantlepiece meant so much to the farmer. Every household could well treasure some such heirloom as this, and seek to keep intact the comradeship of family life in a day when a thousand distractions tend to lure children away from the protective influence of home.

Silent Newsboys Are Sought By Omaha Mayor

San Bernardino Sun

Omaha, like New York, is getting tired of noise. And in one way it proposes to go further than New York. An ordinance introduced in the city council by Mayor Metcalf would forbid newsboys to call their papers on the street except in case of extras.

This would certainly put a premium on extras. The boys would clamor for them. And editors might force things just a little, you know, to oblige the boys.

In any community that becomes noise-conscious, here is a real problem. There is a great difference, vocal and temperamental, in newsboys. They vary individually, and their general procedure varies from city to city. In Chicago they have long been at their worst, fairly blasting the ears of passersby with their bellowing. American newsboys in general are said to be noisier than those of any other country.

What will the reform movement come to? In London, the newsboys, who are usually grown men, do not use their voices at all, but stand dumbly on the sidewalk with placards or canvas strips bearing the headlines of the day's big news. Will newsselling ever become so genteel over here?

The World Does Move

Riverside Daily Press

The late Senator "Bob" LaFollette used to remark humorously that most of the "ultra-radical" measures he sponsored were ultimately adopted by the conservatives who continued to look upon him as a dangerous theorist. What seems socialistic and subversive to one generation seems only common sense to the next. Human notions change rapidly.

All of this is called to mind by the fact that the conference of American governors at Salt Lake City the other day devoted a good share of its time to the discussion of old age and employment pensions.

A few years ago no one but a group of socialists would have talked of such measures seriously. But now the governors of the individual states—surely a conservative enough crowd, taken collectively—give these matters their attention, and no one gets in the least alarmed.

Our children, very likely, will be equally hospitable to some of the things that we today look on as revolutionary and dangerous. The world—though we don't always realize it—does move.

What We Suspect Will Happen When This Fellow Arrives at the Pearly Gates

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A KINDRED SPIRIT

Americans have not yet discovered that the charm of life consists in periods of leisure.—Andre Maurois.

The copy books I used to con
Decried the vice of shirking,
And urgently enlarged upon
The many joys of working,
So industry became my aim,
I made my efforts snappy
Until my back and arms were lame,
Yet rarely was I happy.

But when a fishing rod I took,
And fled my daily duties
To wade along a singing brook
In quest of speckled beauties,
And, to excuse my idleness,
A string of fibs invented,
Life seemed to me a grand success
And I was quite contented.

And now Monsieur Maurios declares,
That this hard working nation
Should sometimes lay aside its cares
And seek more recreation.
He intimates that labors cloy,
That we should find life brighter
And gain more time to spend in joy
If we would make them lighter.

His words my sentiments express;
I learned the road to Heaven
Ran down the vale of idleness
When I was six or seven.
Let pedagogues say "Pooh!" or "Bah!"
To this great truth, and flout it;
I'm satisfied Monsieur Maurios
And I are right about it.

Wasting Our Substance In Riotous Saving

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Large income receivers are trying, right now, to save more money than this country, as a whole, can possibly save to any advantage. For saved money is of no use to the country as a whole until it is invested. But it is useless to invest money in more mills, mines, and machines than the country can use; and right now the country has more than it can use.

Once any nation has piled up larger savings in the form of capital facilities than the nation can operate, there is virtually no way in which it can save anything more to advantage. It can merely accumulate more idle capital facilities—and more "NO MEN WANTED" signs.

The thrifty individual, to be sure, who saves five dollars instead of buying a pair of shoes, may be better off for his thrift. What are savings for an individual, however, are not necessarily savings for society. Every one who saves money at times like the present, when his abstinence helps to curtail production and throw men out of work, saves at the expense of other people.

For the individual, a penny saved is a penny earned; but for society, a penny saved is sometimes a penny lost.

This, then, is the Dilemma of Thrift: both producers and consumers MUST save; but there are times, such as the present, when they do not save without to some extent frustrating the social object of saving.

The country can use more invested savings—more instruments of production—only if consumers spend more money. But the fact that commodity prices have been falling off for a full year, while production and car-loadings have been falling off, too, shows that for a full year consumers have not been spending enough money to enable producers to keep their plants running. The monster penny-in-the-slot machine has not been clicking fast enough.

When, under this condition WEALTHY people SAVE more money, they are wasting the substance of the country in riotous saving.

Sattiday afternoon me and pop went to the Little Grand to see the new Kut Up Komedy, being funny as anything, and when he came home we was still laffing to think of it, ma saying, My goodness whats all the hilarious merriment about? Why dont you let somebody elts in on the joke? she sed.

Meening her, and I sed, Well G, ma, if you'd of saw the picture you'd be laffing without asking what for, wouldent she, pop?

She would indeed, ha ha, pop sed. Ha ha I thawt Id pass out when the prohibitionist was delivering his bum speetch and fell rite through the top of the barril into the beer, he sed.

I call that messy, not funny, ma sed, and pop sed, But he was a prohibitionist.

Then the more honor to him, ma sed, and I sed, Well G, ma, I bet you'd of laffed when the baker got pushed into his dough thing and when he came out all the colored people thawt he was a ghoast.

Yes, ha ha, that was another screem, pop sed, and ma sed, I cant see anything funny in the thawt of anybody all stuck up with dough. Much funnier things happen rite in your own reel life, in fact I thawt Id die laffing this afternoon at something Mrs. Hews told me that happened to her personly, hee hee, she sed.

G, what was it, ma? I sed, and pop sed, Yes, lets have it, and ma sed, Well, it seems Mrs. Hews came home all hot and tired, and she went up in her room and took most of her clothes off and was feeling comfortable for the ferst time that day, and low and behold the doorbell rang and she remembered the minister had sed he mite call, and she had to get all dressed again to go down and open the frunt door, and low and behold it was ony her husband, hee hee I thawt Id die.

And is that sippose to be funny? pop sed, and I sed, Ge wizz, ma, where does the joke come in?

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

CHOKING THE NATION WITH CREAM

A hundred years from now—unless by then we have outgrown the childish habit of degrees and decorations—serious-minded young men, working in the universities of the future for their Doctor of Philosophy degrees, will be put at the job of unravelling the tangled skein of American economic life in 1930.

By then, so many of the current economic traditions will be obsolete and forgotten that students will have difficulty in determining why the America of 1930 could possibly consider itself in other than a happy way economically.

There was no shortage of money.

There was no shortage of basic resources.

There was no lack of efficiency in production.

There was no lack of willing hands to work.

There was no plague-like adversity of wind or weather.

There was no insect-pest either nation-wide in its ravages or seriously out-of-hand.

On the contrary!

There was ample money supply.

There was a surplus of nearly all basic resources.

There were several millions of men and women waiting to be called to work.

The productive efficiency of the nation was such that with a shorter week and shorter days the needs of the nation could have been easily supplied.

"Here was a nation," students will say a hundred years from now, "grumbling in the midst of an unparalleled plenty!"

The fact is that today America is basically in the position towards which the dreams of prophets and seers have pointed through the centuries.

It has produced machines enough to emancipate its people from drudgery.

It has achieved a productive efficiency that makes it possible to produce everything the people of the nation need without slaving from dawn to dusk.

Leisure in which to laugh and love and adventure among things of the mind and the spirit is within the nation's grasp.

And yet, just when we have reached the point at which emancipation from drudgery, the capacity to produce the essentials of living without the slavery of inhuman hours, and the potential achievement of leisure for all, are within our grasp, we had ourselves confessing an economic depression.

At no moment in human history has a people had so nearly all of the essentials for a great and glowing civilization within its hands; if we submit to anything less, it must be that we simply are not equal to the management of a civilization.

If tomorrow every adult American realized fully the absurdity of depression when the stage is set for renaissance, that realization would generate a leadership that would set America a hundred years ahead in the march of civilization.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

CHANGE OF ENVIRONMENT

When a child has formed a poor habit and you have tried in vain to train him to put a good one in its stead, the very best thing to do next is to arrange for a change of environment.

You see when a child does something the action and everything associated with it is registered as memory. Next time he is faced with the same situation, the same people, the same place, the same impulses, he will follow the memory trace and repeat the action. Before long any one of the associated facts will be enough to call up the response. Soon the habit needs no stimulation. The response is immediate and habitual.

Talking and punishment and rewards have little chance now. As long as the associations are constant the response is certain. The only escape is by fay of new associations, a new environment. That is why a visit to a loved relative, a trip to distant places, a boarding school, a stay in the children's hospital, will work miracles in the habits of wayward children.

I knew a little girl who would not go to sleep until she had eaten a chocolate mouse placed under her pillow by a doting daddy. By and by the doctor said, "No mouse." The child said, "No mouse, no sleep." Nothing anybody could do or say helped in the least. "No mouse, no sleep," and there the matter rested until an old family friend carried her off to her distant home for a visit.

To the surprise of everybody the child went to bed with never a word about the mouse. There was nothing in the situation that called for the evening treat and it was not needed. After a months stay the child went home. Instead of the old room of familiar memory she was placed in one on the other side of the house. No mention of the mouse.

A long time afterward, as children reckon time, the child was playing about in the old bedroom of mouse-memory. "When I was a very little girl I used to find a chocolate mousie under my pillow in this bed," said she. "I guess there aren't any more. Anyway I'm too old for such things now."

Many a troublesome boy has gone away to a good school to return happily to his home at vacation times. Many a girl has been set right by a course in a fine school. Home is the best place for children only when they thrive there. If they are signs of trouble, if bad habits persist, if training seems in vain, try some other scheme.

Mothers need relief from trying children. Nobody knows what suffering lies in the day by day association with unruly, uncontrolled children. The mother breaks down and the children go from bad to worse. Save the mother by relieving both sides of the situation. Try a little healthy change. If the children cannot go from home let mother have time off instead. But the change is essential.

BATTLE OF BULL RUN

On July 21, 1861, the first Battle of Bull Run, the first important battle of the Civil War, was fought near a small stream of this name in northeast Virginia.

The Federal army, under General McDowell, and the Confederate army, under Generals Beauregard and Johnston, were both composed of green troops, poorly drilled and sadly lacking in experience.

The battle got under way at 10 a. m., when the Federals opened the attack, driving the Confederates before them until stopped while ascending a slope, by a fighting brigade under T. J. Jackson, who gained the sobriquet "Stonewall" as the result of this conflict.

The Federals gained ground after stubborn attacks until about 3 p. m., when the Confederates launched an attack that drove their foes in confusion from the field. The retreat became a rout and finally the Federals fled in wild disorder to Washington, but were not followed as the Confederates also were disorganized by the flurry of the victory.

About 40,000 men engaged in the fight, the Federals losing 2800 and the Confederates 2000.
